FARMER A VICTIM, SAYS "JIM" HILL.

President of Great Northern Reveals Some Railroad and Elevator Tricks in Handling Grain.

SEES DEFECTS IN LAW.

Declares Men Who Haul the Grain Should Be Compelled to Do All Terminal Work.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 21.—[Special.]—Proof that the farmer gets the worst of it in marketing his grain was offered by James J. Hill, president of the Great Northern railroad, to the interstate commerce commission. Mr. Hill said the farmer is the victim not only of grain speculators, of the railroads, of the elevator men but of the laws.

To show the extent of the injury to the farmers the veteran railroad man pointed to the terminal charges. He said that at Buffalo the terminal elevators charged 1½ cents a bushel for unloading and shoveling grain. He put up an elevator and reduced the charge to ½ cent a bushel, saving the farmers who shipped over his road and steamers $1,000,000 a year.

In a similar way his terminal elevators at Duluth saved the farmer ½ cent a bushel until the Wisconsin legislature passed a law prohibiting his railroad from operating the elevator. The Wisconsin law, he said, also legalizes the mixing of grain.

Is a Willing Witness.

President Hill was a willing witness. He was the first witness to take the stand today, when Commissioners Lane and Prouty, of the Interstate Commerce commission began their inquiry in Minneapolis into the relations which exist between the railroad companies and the grain companies in the west.

Mr. Hill told of the tremendous grain traffic on his road, equaling each year twice as much as the grain hauled into Chicago in a year by all roads running into that city. He said that the Great Northern in 1879 hauled 2,870,000 bushels, while in 1906 this had increased to probably 115,000,000 bushels.

Explains Freight Congestion.

"Is it the policy of your road, Mr. Hill, to delay freight for any reason?" was one of the opening questions.

"No, it certainly is not," was the reply. "If the connecting roads would move freight faster we could do a great deal better. The fact that the traffic is sometimes congested on our line is simply the fault of the immense amount of accumulated business. Other lines are more open to criticism than the Great Northern. In Chicago a few days ago I took special pains to make inquiries about traffic, and could not get a single line which would agree to move 200,000 tons of freight to New York before December. The Great Northern can right along handle all business coming from the east promptly. The congestion comes from traffic from the west."

His Policy Toward Elevators.

On the specific subject of grain elevators Mr. Hill testified:

"Yes, it is our rule to permit any one to erect elevators at stations of our road on the right of way. We now make our contracts, however, not transferable, as we have found instances where such applications were not made in good faith and afterwards sold at a good figure.

"We have found trouble in keeping elevators from combining, and sometimes in [illegible] down applications for elevator sites have found different applicants to really represent one interest.

"When we have found objectionable elevator combines we have sometimes built elevators of our own and placed some man in charge. In such instances the combines have tried to freeze our man out. We have such an instance at Litchfield, but were able to help our man out. But that, gentlemen," Mr. Hill said with a smile, "was before the passage of the interstate commerce law."

Where Law Is at Fault.

In regard to the Great Northern's terminal elevators at Duluth, Mr. Hill stated his company did operate them, but that because of the Wisconsin law requiring grain in that state to be inspected by Wisconsin inspectors, that these elevators were now leased. They are located on Wisconsin ground.

"I think it is a great detriment to business that we cannot control the unloading of grain," said Mr. Hill. "I think it is the best thing for a railroad to have its own terminal elevators, unload into them, and include the charge for so doing in the freight rate.

"By our building Duluth terminal elevators, we reduced for the shipping farmers the elevator charge there from 1 cent to one-half a cent a bushel. This included unloading into the elevator, a short storage, and loading into boat for shipment through the lakes. We cleaned, but did not mix the grain."

"Did you make a charge for cleaning?"

"No, sir. It should be remembered that in cleaning the elevator gets the screenings which are worth $5 to $6 a ton."

Farmer Is the Victim.

Mr. Hill thought the present legal method of handling grain is wrong, but the farmer is so much the victim of the speculator. He said every receiving elevator should devote itself to simply that business; that the operating in grain should be another separate business; and that the business of the grain mixer should be still another separate business.

Mr. Hill thought the building of elevators of much greater capacity in Minneapolis would not relieve congestion of grain traffic, but he did think the action of the state grain commission in sending inspectors as far out as 100 miles to inspect grain, was a good move in this direction.

He strongly criticised the state law which legalizes sharp practice of grain mixers. "The grain mixer takes one car of No. 2 wheat," he said, "which is thoroughly cleaned and mixes it with three cars of No. 1, and when he gets through he has four cars of No. 1, and, so far, this is a legalized business."

"Do you think the farmer is getting what he should for his crop?"

"I don't think he is getting what he should for some classes of grain. For instance, farmers are now raising a lot of durum wheat. There is a good deal of risk in what the foreign demand will be and a market at home for only a limited amount." Mr. Hill said that elevators are continually treating the farmers unfairly.

"We have to watch the elevators all the time," he said. "This work is done by the

NEGRESS JOSTLED, TOO?

Policeman Tells Court Colored Girl and Children Were Insulted by Prowling Tenor.

New York, Nov. 21.—[Special.]—Five cases of improper conduct toward women were charged by Policeman James J. Kane of the Central park squad against Enrico Caruso, the Metropolitan opera house tenor, when the latter was arraigned for hearing this afternoon before Magistrate Baker in the Yorkville police court.

All these cases, it is alleged, occurred before the eyes of the policeman in the monkey house of the Central park menagerie on Nov. 16, the day on which Caruso was arrested on a charge of annoying "Mrs. Hannah K. Graham," who gave her address as 1756 Bathgate avenue, The Bronx.

Mrs. Graham failed to appear at today's hearing, and Policeman Kane was obliged to admit that, so far as he knows now, there may not be any woman of that name in existence. The complainant, however, did produce a witness in the person of Jeremiah McCarthy, an employé of the American league baseball grounds, who corroborated the police testimony in regard to three of the incidents which occurred in the monkey house on Nov. 16.

This last was the most important development of the complainant's case, although another surprise was sprung on Caruso's lawyers when it was sought to have the Mrs. Graham incident only one of several on which the charge against him is based. The defense had expected to go into court and answer only the Graham charge. In this they were disappointed, and Kane's testimony in regard to the other four cases was admitted.

Caruso Casts Slur on Woman.

Caruso's testimony was practically a flat denial of the charge against him with the exception that he said he did "exchange glances" with the woman who afterwards gave her name as Mrs. Graham and made the charge against him. He said Mrs. Graham looked at him and smiled first. He considered the look which she gave him as equivalent to an admission on the part of the woman that she was a woman of doubtful character.

Former Judge A. J. Dittenhoefer and F. W. Sperling, counsel for Caruso, sought to discredit McCarthy's testimony by showing the witness was an acquaintance of the complainant policeman and he had not been introduced into the case until after it was known "Mrs. Graham" would not appear. Caruso's counsel declared again and again "Mrs. Graham" was a myth and the whole thing a police-made case. Caruso's lawyers didn't attempt to suggest what the object of the conspiracy might be.

Crowd Besieges Court; Few Women.

There probably were 800 persons standing in front of the courthouse when Caruso drove up in a closed cab. As the great tenor stepped from his cab, off went their hats and up went a chorus of "Bravo, bravo, Caruso," from the Italians in the crowd. A number of Americans sent back this answering cheer: "Monkey house, monkey house, monkey house, Caruso."

With the star were his protector and manager, Herr Conried, who during the course of the proceedings made more fuss than the accused man himself, F. W. Sterling, the lawyer, and Herr Conried's brother-in-law, and several of the tenor's closest friends. Caruso wore a long black overcoat with slit pockets in the sides, a frock coat, high hat, white waistcoat, big black and white ascot tie with a large pearl stickpin. In his right hand he carried a light cane.

Probably a dozen women crowded the courtroom when Caruso entered. They stuck it out during the entire hearing. Some were eager to get a look at the tenor and they climbed up on the benches in the rear of the room. One sat on a window sill during most of the time the case was on. The windows on the north side of the courtroom look out on Proctor's Fifty-eighth street theater. The fire escapes were crowded by curious ones and others viewed the accused tenor from the windows of that building.

Other Charges Are Admitted.

Third Deputy Police Commissioner Matthot represented the complainant policeman, who was the first witness called. He began at once to tell in detail what he had seen in the monkey house on Nov. 16. He had hardly started when Judge Dittenhoefer broke in.

"This charge," said he, "concerns what happened to Mrs. Graham in the monkey house. It doesn't concern any other woman, and you can't plant any other one on us because you haven't been able to find the Graham woman."

Magistrate Baker declared the original charge concerned the defendant's conduct toward "women," and the policeman was instructed to tell his story in full.

Policeman Kane said he saw the defendant in the monkey house on Nov. 16 first at about 3:45 o'clock. When he first noticed Caruso he was trailing along behind two women and a man. He noticed Caruso standing suspiciously close to the smaller of the two women, but she quickly moved away and left him standing behind the second. Both women left the monkey house, and Caruso, according to the policemen, took a short stroll and came back to the snake cage, where the first incident is alleged to have occurred.

Children and Negress, Too.

There, the policeman testified, he annoyed two girls in short dresses, probably between 12 and 15 years old. Kane charged the defendant slid his foot over toward one of the girls, pressed her with his knee, and rubbed his hand over her hip. Kane said the girl moved away, and the defendant tried to repeat the performance with the other girl.

Kane charged that Caruso then approached two women who were standing with a colored woman before one of the monkey cages, squeezed in between the two white women, and began to annoy them. They left, and the tenor, according to Kane, then rubbed up against the negro woman in an improper way. Later, the policeman testified, he returned to the two young girls, and then attempted to annoy Mrs. Graham.

The policeman said he watched Caruso's actions with Mrs. Graham between the bars of the monkey cage. The tenor, he asserted,

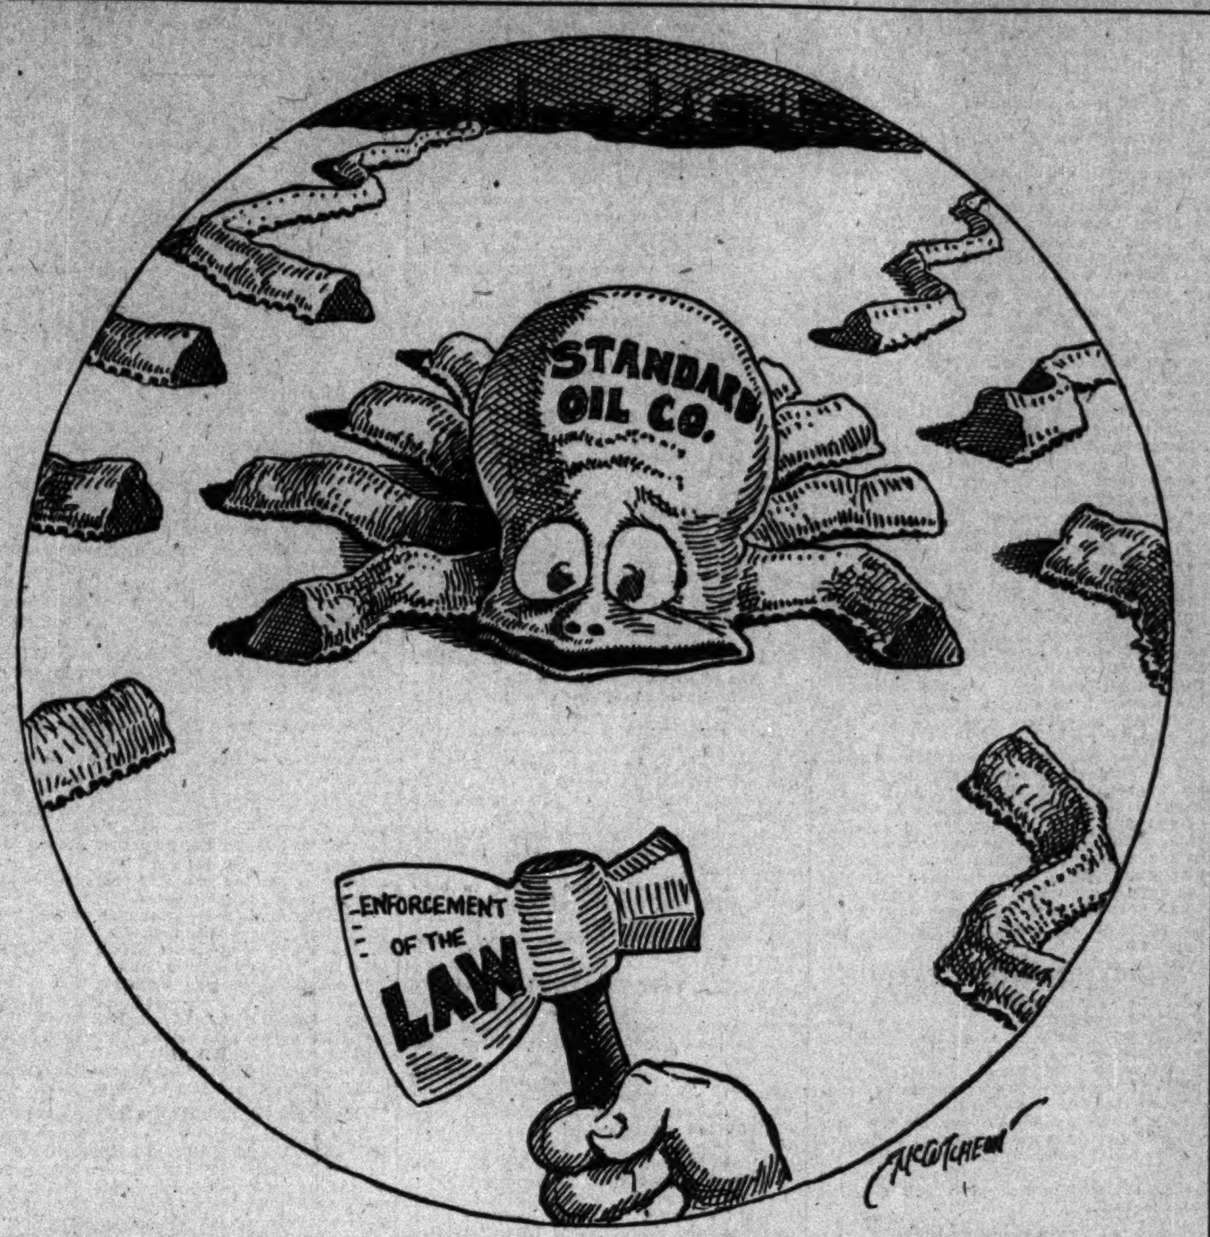
THE PRESIDENT'S PLAN FOR IMPROVING THE STANDARD OIL COMPANY.



GLAD DAY FOR PORTO RICANS

From My Heart I Salute You, Fellow Citizens: Roosevelt.

HIS PATH FLOWER STREWN.

President's Auto Trip Across Island a Triumphal Progress.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, Nov. 21.—President Roosevelt arrived at Ponce this morning from Colon on board the battleship Louisiana. He was greeted on board the warship by Gov. Winthrop and at the pier by Mayor Oppenheimer of Ponce and a delegation of officials and citizens.

The town, which was profusely decorated in the president's honor, was filled with people from the surrounding country eager to greet Mr. Roosevelt. In spite of the early hour the landing place was crowded with an expectant throng, many of whom had been in their places all night, to witness the incoming of the Louisiana.

As the president stepped ashore the crowd cheered him, crying:

"Vivo el presidente."

When the greetings were over the president, accompanied by Gov. Winthrop, was driven to the city hall, Mrs. Winthrop and Mrs. Roosevelt following. The president was kept busy acknowledging cheers all along the two mile line of march from the landing place to the principal plaza of the town.

Calls Natives "Fellow Citizens."

At the entrance to the plaza a huge arch had been erected from which little girls threw flowers to both the president and Mrs. Roosevelt as they passed. Ponce was a blaze of American colors interspersed with Spanish flags.

At the city hall an address of welcome was read to the president. He delivered his reply from the balcony of the building, addressing the largest crowd that had ever assembled in Ponce. The president said in part:

"I shall continue to use every effort to secure citizenship for Porto Rico. I am confident this will come in the end and all that I personally can do to hasten that day I will do. My efforts will be unceasing to help you along the path of true self-government, which must have for its basis a union of order, liberty, justice, and honor. I salute you from my heart as fellow citizens."

The reference to citizenship brought out enthusiastic applause from the people.

Path Strewn with Flowers.

Before leaving Ponce the president was driven to the Roosevelt High school. Here several hundred school children had been assembled and sang "America" as the president drove up. The corner stone of this school was laid in April, 1903, by the president's daughter, now Mrs. Longworth.

The president was greatly pleased with his reception at the school and made a short address. He was showered with flowers by the children as he drove away. Mrs. Roosevelt was presented with a beautiful piece of embroidered work, the handwork of the girls of the industrial school, before she left the city.

The presidential party left Ponce at 10:30 o'clock, the time set by the schedule, for the run to San Juan over the famous military road. Eleven automobiles conveyed the party. Stops of three minutes each were made at Juana Diaz, Coamo, and Aibonito. At each place the president was welcomed by the mayor and spoke briefly from his automobile.

Shower Gifts on Mrs. Roosevelt.

President Roosevelt received a remarkable reception at Caguas, the most important town on the military road. Here he spoke at length, reiterating his views on Porto Rican citizenship. Passing through the Caguas and the Cayey tobacco district, where American capital has worked a wonderful development, the president was greatly impressed with the fertility and flourishing condition of the plantations. At Caguas Mrs. Roosevelt was showered with flowers and received many presents. Between towns along the military road scattering crowds eagerly awaited the chance of a fleeting glimpse of the president.

People from the outlying plantations, some on foot from the mountain districts, miles away; peons, women, children, beggars, and cripples—all came to pay tribute. Many of the occupants of shacks who were too poor to own even a flag showed their patriotism by loudly cheering the president, whom they seemed to recognize quickly.

At Rio Piedras, the last town before reaching San Juan, President Roosevelt received an enthusiastic reception from the school children and the pupils and teachers of the Porto Rican normal school. To them he spoke about college life and outdoor sports.

San Juan fairly outdid itself in the reception it gave the illustrous visitor. Never before, even during the time of the Spanish rule, was such a spectacle witnessed. The entire population was wildly elated and the city one huge mass of glowing colors. Where the road enters San Juan an arch had been constructed, representing the gates of a city. Here Mayor Tood handed over the keys of the town to the president. Then a regiment of soldiers fell in before the president's automobile, with Lieut. Col. Bailey and his staff riding as escort to the car.

As the party proceeded through the city the cheering was deafening. After the palace was reached President Roosevelt reviewed the troops and received a number of delegations. A public reception was given at the palace tonight.

Big German Liner Reported to Have Struck Mail Steamer Orinoco Off the French Coast.

CHERBOURG, Nov. 21.—A wireless message received here reports that the North German Lloyd steamer Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse, which left Southampton and Cherbourg today for New York, has been in collision with the royal mail steamer Orinoco. Both vessels were severely damaged.

It is declared that four members of the crew of the Kaiser Wilhelm were killed, while twelve were injured.

Five members of the crew of the Orinoco are missing and are supposed to have been drowned.

SLAY HUSBANDS AND WIVES; WOMEN SUPPLY THE POISON.

Exhumation of Twenty-five Bodies Reveals Epidemic of Murder to Break Marital Bonds.

BUDAPEST, Nov. 21.—The Central Institute of Medicine has just completed chemical examinations of portions of twenty-five bodies which have been exhumed at Knez, in the Mescar district, and found that every one bore strong traces of arsenical poisoning. As a result two peasant women have been arrested, and it is charged they made a regular practice of selling arsenic in this district to persons who desired to rid themselves of their spouses. Five men and two women have been arrested recently at Knez, charged with murder. An investigation is being made and other arrests will follow.

WOMAN BEATEN AND ROBBED.

Mrs. Elizabeth Monroe of Evanston Accuses John Hale, Construction Foreman for Phone Company.

Charged with robbing and beating a woman and leaving her unconscious in the woods west of Wilmette early yesterday morning, John Hale, a construction foreman in the employ of the Chicago Telephone company, is sought by the police of Wilmette and Kenilworth. The victim, Mrs. Elizabeth Monroe, 2726 Isabelle street, Evanston, is in bed at her home, her eyes swollen shut, her face disfigured by cuts and bruises, and her nose broken. She was found lying in the woods near Chestnut avenue and Twelfth street, Wilmette, at 2 o'clock in the morning, by Dr. H. H. Harte, who was attracted by her cries for help. She accused Hale of having beaten her and taken her purse.

DINNER SYMPOSIUM OF TOIL.

Labor and Suffering That Go to Make Up Meal Discussed.

PIG STICKER AT "ANNEX."

He Is a Guest in the Party of Jesse R. Hogan, Sociologist.

Jesse R. Hogan, sociologist, author, and traveler, and Ludwig Schwartz, pig sticker in the killing room of a big packing house, dined together at the Auditorium Annex last evening. W. C. Martin, a grocer, and three students made up the party.

Several hours were spent at the meal, as it was a most important one in the lives of all of those present. The author, the pig sticker, and the grocer talked and answered questions and the students listened. The sociologist and his companions discussed the various kinds of food as they were served, the cost, the labor involved, and the profits. It was a great feast for Schwartz.

"Think of the Man at the Sea."

"While you are eating your oyster cocktail, which gives you a little pleasure," said Mr. Hogan, "I wish that you would try to put yourself in the position of the man who delved in the sea, in the coldest and most disagreeable of weather, perhaps for days at a time, to collect these oysters. And what do you suppose that he gets for his labor on every gallon of them? Less than 1½ cents. The man who hires him makes about 30 cents on the oysters."

By this time the waiter had cleared away the little glass cups which contained the delicacy and cream of tomato was served.

Tomato Costs Much Labor.

"So simple a thing as a tomato costs more labor than the average man who eats it can appreciate," continued Mr. Hogan. "Put yourself, now, in the place of the truckman, who gets up long before we in the city have turned over to take our last nap——"

"Yes, my brother drives a truck down by South Chicago," broke in the packing house man. "He gets $2 a day summers. Winters he doesn't do much. Fires when he can get it and works sometimes in a saloon."

"The worker, the man who raises the tomatoes, gets about 4 cents a bushel for his labor," said the sociologist. "I don't know the prices of the vegetable at retail."

"They're sometimes 50 cents a bushel—sometimes as high as 30 cents a pound," was the expert opinion of the grocer. "No doubt the man who owns the farm makes 20 cents a bushel on the finished product."

Fish and Then Mutton.

The arrival of the fish called forth the story of the trials of the fisherman. Then came the dish about which Schwartz was asked to talk—the leg of mutton.

"It is not my liking to think of it," began the German. "I don't have to do with the killing of them—the sheep. I've seen them there, little lambs and the sheep. I can't tell you about the cost or what becomes of the meat. I don't see the meat cut up. The meat that I see is at the little butcher shop in the stockyards."

"We have figured out the prices for you," said the sociologist as he and the grocer eyed a piece of paper covered with pencil marks. "Of the proceeds of this lamb the man who slaughtered it gets ⅛ of a cent for every five pounds and the packer 12 cents for every five pounds over the price he paid for its production."

Other Products of Chef's Art.

There were other products of the chef's art—more than Schwartz ever had heard of—and each called forth a story from the two instructors. The long sticks of French bread were the subjects of a discussion as to the work of the city baker, the wages of the workman, the average being $12 a week, and the profits to the bakery man.

"It is all good, I am sure," said the German, as he left the brightly lighted dining room for the drizzling rain of the street.

"The most interesting discussion I ever took part in," said the sociologist.

Mr. Hogan came to Chicago from his home near Denver, primarily, to see the "inside" of the stockyards for himself. He did so, and incidentally became acquainted with the pig sticker. Later he met the grocer, who came from his home town, and the students were chance guests at the banquet. Mr. Hogan is a graduate of Harvard, is 29 years old, and is the author of "Work and Conflict."

CHARTER FOR CITY; DRAFT IS IN HAND.

MAY FINISH IN JANUARY.

Up to Full Commission Now; Radicals and Conservatives Still Are Far Apart in Views.

Charter building now has reached the point where it must be decided whether conservative or radical policies shall govern the construction.

The "steering committee" of the charter convention completed its work on its report yesterday and now has ready for the delegates an outline of a charter presenting its features in the shape of "alternative" propositions.

It remains for the convention as a whole to take this outline, consider the various propositions which it submits and eliminate the ones which it decides to reject.

Up to this point the conservative and radical members of the convention have worked in a sort of harmony, secured by granting to the radicals the right to have their propositions included in the preliminary draft. The weeding out time has arrived.

Conservatives in Majority.

Inasmuch as the conservatives outnumber the radicals there is not much doubt as to the result, but it will require much talk to arrive at conclusions. In anticipation of this the steering committee has adopted a ten minute rule on speeches.

Louis Post represents one wing of the convention. John G. Shedd, John P. Wilson, and B. A. Eckhart are representatives of the other. Revenue and educational provisions are the principal points at issue between the two elements in the convention. The original idea of the radicals was to have a "flexible" limitation to taxation and allow the people by referendum vote to increase it as they might see fit. The business men in the convention have refused to listen to any proposition which did not establish a fixed limit to the tax rate. The radicals also wanted an elective school board.

Draft One Bill or Five?

In presenting the outline the steering committee's report first presents a "direct" proposition and follows it with the alternatives. The first question raised is whether there shall be one comprehensive bill drafted covering all the reforms desired or whether there shall be five bills, each dealing with a separate grant of power—a consolidation bill, a revenue bill, a school bill, a public utility bill, and a fifth dealing with all other charter provisions.

Even the conservative features of the proposed charter are radical enough to revolutionize the city government if they should be passed by the legislature and be enacted into a law. The overturning of the present system of park government is proposed without alternative, the parks to be administered by a city department.

Nomination or Petition.

The system of "alternative propositions" on which the report is built is well illustrated in that section relating to the elective offices of the city. The radical proposition is that the nomination of candidates shall be by petition alone. Then next is a proposition that they shall be nominated by direct primaries. The conservative is that they shall be nominated as now provided by law.

With regard to the membership of the city council one proposal is that the city shall be redistricted into seventy wards, one alderman to be elected from each ward; another that the number of wards and aldermen shall remain as they are, and the third that the number of wards shall remain as at present, but that only one alderman shall be elected from each.

On taxation the "direct" proposition is that the charter shall fix the rate of tax to be levied annually at 4½ per cent of the assessed valuation for corporate, school, park, and library purposes, exclusive of taxes levied to meet obligations arising from bonded indebtedness. That is the conservative proposal.

The radical tax proposition is that the city council shall have the power to levy an additional tax of 1 per cent whenever the people by referendum vote shall authorize it.

Conservative School Reform.

The conservative school reform proposed is that the board of education shall consist of fifteen members, to be appointed by the mayor with the approval of the city council, to serve for terms of four years. The radical proposal is that the board shall consist of fifteen members, to be nominated by petition and elected by the people by a cumulative system of voting.

The committee report is the work of a subcommittee of the steering committee of the convention, which took the various reports adopted by the other committees and from them drafted the present document. It was presented to the full steering committee yesterday and after a couple of hours' discussion was adopted for presentation to the convention.

When the delegates have selected the propositions on which they can agree the entire matter will go back to the steering committee and by it will be fashioned into one or more bills for presentation to the legislature early in January.

Plan Completion in January.

If the plans of Chairman Milton J. Foreman and the delegates proceed as laid down the work will be done in time for an early submission to the general assembly.

It is hoped that by bringing the conservative and radical members to an agreement it will be possible to present charter bills to the legislature as representing legislation unanimously desired by Chicago.

If the convention be successful in this it will do much for the success of the measures in the legislature. The greatest obstacles to harmony are likely to be presented by the educational features of the proposed charter. Margaret Haley and her coworkers in the teachers' federation already have served no-ice that a fight is to be made on the school bill which they anticipate the convention will adopt.

Steering Committee's Report.

The report of the steering committee in full is as follows:

2. The specification of particular powers shall never be construed as a limitation upon the general powers granted by the charter; it being intended to grant and bestow upon the city of Chicago all the powers of municipal government which can constitutionally be delegated to it by the legislature and which are not expressly prohibited to it by this charter or by some general law of the state or by the constitution of the state.

TEMPERANCE AND SMILES CALLED KEYS TO SUCCESS.

H. N. Higinbotham Delivers Advice to Young Business Men at Monthly Credit Banquet.

Harlow N. Higinbotham preached a sermon to young business men last night at the monthly dinner of the Chicago Credit Men's association at the Great Northern hotel. He recalled the days when the late Marshall Field carried bundles of goods on his shoulders and told of the difficulties that attended the handling of "wildcat" money.

Temperance, first of all, he said, is a qualification needed by the man who expects to be successful. He said that in his own experience he had done the work of each day without worrying about "yesterday" or "tomorrow." Mr. Higinbotham also made his hearers smile by a humorous recital of his early experiences in collecting bad debts in the country when transportation facilities were extremely limited.

"Every credit man should bring with him a sound ancestry, a real boyhood, and early and continued habits of temperance," said Mr. Higinbotham. "He should eat good food in moderation. In my own case I felt that I could not afford to waste my powers with riotous living, even had I felt an inclination to do so. A string is only as strong as it may be at its weakest point."

Mr. Higinbotham impressed the value of courtesy and persistence in business upon his hearers.

TILLMAN TO ESCHEW RACE TALK

Mayor Requests That Carolina Senator Make No Mention of Negro Problem in Lecture.

Senator Ben R. Tillman, who is to lecture in Orchestra hall next Tuesday evening for the benefit of the Chicago Union hospital, will be asked to eschew all mention of the race problem and the lynching question. This action was decided upon yesterday in accordance with the wishes of Mayor Dunne and prominent colored people of Chicago.

Mrs. Keeler said the mayor would preside at the exercises. J. Ham. Lewis will introduce Mr. Tillman, whose subject will be, "Shall the United States Annex Cuba?" It was originally intended that the subject should be, "The Race Problem." Senator Tillman will be guarded by police while here.

Some of the negroes who are offended at recent occurrences which have seemed to them like attacks against their race have decided to hold a massmeeting tonight at Bethel church, Dearborn and Thirtieth streets. The Tillman matter and probably the defeat of Mr. Barnett for municipal judge will be brought up.

Resolutions of protest will be read by the Rev. A. J. Carey of Bethel church, who will demand that President Roosevelt investigate the action of the colored troops dismissed by him, before making a final decision.

LOCAL OPTION LAW CLAIMS MAJORITY

Anti-Saloon League Says 78 Votes Are Pledged in General Assembly.

FEAR ONLY THE SENATE.

Saloon Men Make Opposite Contention; McGoorty Loses Boom.

Seventy-eight members of the newly elected house of representatives are pledged to support the local option bill in the next legislature, according to the announcement of the anti-saloon league and some of the leaders in the prohibition party in the state.

With this backing the league expects to pass its prohibition measure this winter in the house, but looks for trouble to arise in the senate. It is admitted that some friends of the bill believe that the estimate of seventy-eight affirmative votes is too optimistic, but the prohibition leaders assert that they have them.

Liquor Interests Are Content.

On the other hand, the liquor interests of the state are satisfied with the complexion of the legislature on this question, as appears in the statements of the official trade paper of the Retail Liquor Dealers' association. It says:

"Of the sixty-eight members who voted for the local option bill thirty-seven were candidates for reëlection, with the support of the anti-saloon league, and of these, eight were defeated. Of the sixty-nine members of the last house who voted against the local option bill thirty-four were candidates for reëlection. They were condemned by the anti-saloon league and only three were defeated, and their defeat was due solely to party disaffection. The trade has much to be thankful for in the defeat of Alonzo E. Wilson, Oliver W. Stewart, and Dan R. Sheen, the shining lights of the prohibition party. Peace to their ashes."

Mr. Wilson, as state chairman of the prohibition party, predicts that some of the new members will be averse to voting for the bill with the "county feature" in it.

The anti-saloon league insists that these features shall be in the measure if it be made a law. Speaker Edward Shurtleff will be reëlected as speaker of the house and has promised fair play for the bill. The house took the burden of defeating the bill two years ago, and it is "up to the senate" this time.

McGoorty's Mayoralty Boom Lost.

John P. McGoorty's mayoralty boom was lost in the heavy wind yesterday and did not get its official start as had been arranged. It had been planned by Hyde Park democrats to bring Mr. McGoorty forth as their candidate at their regular weekly luncheon.

The affair had proceeded so far that Mr. McGoorty, out of modesty, refrained from occupying his customary place at the table. This precaution proved a useless one. The matter of making him a candidate was not mentioned. William Rothman, democratic committeeman from the Seventh ward, who was official engineer for the McGoorty movement, explained after the luncheon that it was too early to start things.

Lantry Still Keeps Lead.

Three wards remain to be canvassed in the city, and these will be completed this evening. Thomas B. Lantry now has a plurality of 3,008 over F. L. Barnett, the colored republican, about 100 more than it was predicted he would have at the completion of the Thirty-second ward. Mr. Barnett will reduce this plurality by about 2,700 today, but the estimates give Lantry a final plurality of 300.

The figures for the three wards canvassed yesterday are:

Wards.	Barnett.	Callahan.	Lantry.
1 to 29 (inc.)	74,371	77,093	77,786
30	1,972	3,308	3,051
31	2,740	2,362	2,309
32	3,278	1,904	2,223
Totals	82,361	84,667	85,369

It is practically certain that Mr. Barnett will ask for a recount of the votes.

Official Congressional Figures.

TENTH DISTRICT.

The entire canvass should be completed by 5:30 o'clock this evening.

"GHOST" IN CEMETERY VAULT SPREADS FEAR IN CALVARY.

John Reddick Hears Its Screams and Gains Courage to Investigate—It Is Only a Cat.

John Reddick was locking the Calvary cemetery gates Monday evening when a bloodcurdling scream made him jump. The screaming continued and Reddick traced it to a large granite vault near the gate. Another howl which seemed to rise out of the ground was too much for Reddick and he did not stop to lock the gate behind him.

Fearing his story would be met with ridicule he did not tell of his experience until yesterday afternoon, when a funeral procession entered the gate and the sound again rose from the vault more piercing and more sorrowful. The horses became frightened and the mourners fled.

Edward Kavanagh and Reddick, encouraged by the daylight, investigated. The keys to the vault were secured and the door opened by trembling hands. Two large eyes of green fire peered out at them from the darkness.

Then the ghost walked out. It was covered with black, bristling fur and waved an unghostly black tail behind it. It was a large black cat that had crawled through a ventilator into the vault.

GIFTS TO NEEDLEWORK GUILD.

Clothing and Other Useful Articles Received for Distribution to Philanthropic Societies.

Clothing, linen, furnishings, and other useful articles in abundance were received yesterday by the Chicago branch of the Needlework Guild of America at the annual meeting of the society in the Heyworth building. The garments and other articles are to be distributed to various philanthropic societies for later distribution among the poor of the city. Mrs. Charles D. Hamill, president of the local branch of the guild, assisted by Mrs. A. Baldwin and others, supervised the receiving of the goods and the filling of the sacks for distribution.

FEVER SCARE CLOSES SCHOOL.

Glencoe Public Buildings and the Postoffice Vacated to Check Spread of the Disease.

Scarlet fever among the children of Glencoe has caused fear among the residents of the north shore suburb and has resulted in the closing of the Glencoe public school, the postoffice, and all the public buildings.

Dr. R. P. Patton yesterday reported seven new cases. The spread of the disease is attributed to the wet weather and cold.

The school, which has been attended by 250 pupils, will not be reopened until the fever is checked.

HERE'S PLOT FOR A NOVEL

Accused by United States as Deserter from Navy — Married Preacher's Daughter in Springfield, Mass., a Corset Model in Chicago—Jealous Rival Exposes Him, Is Arrested, and Goes Insane—Spouses Join in Tracking Him Down.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 21.—[Special.]—After a series of sensational episodes, including wife desertion, bigamy, desertion from the navy, and his being tracked down by a jealous rival for the affections of the second spouse, Robert G. Ebert, alias George Elbert, but whose right name is said to be George von Ebert of Frederick, Md., is under arrest on the receiving ship Hancock, in New York harbor, awaiting trial as a deserter. If he is convicted he will face a charge of bigamy after serving his naval sentence.

Von Ebert is only 22. He came to Springfield, Mass., a few years ago, and boarded in a minister's family. He wooed and married Miss Mildred James of this city, then only 18, but she claims that he deserted her and her baby, now 2 years old. Then he went to Norfolk, Va., and, as George Elbert, enlisted in the navy.

Married in Chicago, Too.

He deserted after a few months and went to Chicago, where he married Mrs. Florence Cobaugh, a corset model, who was the divorced wife of Henry Cobaugh of Philadelphia, who had eloped with her from White Water, Wis.

After a while one Henry H. Morris of Chicago became infatuated with the Cobaugh woman, and to win her looked up Elbert's record. He told her of Elbert's Springfield, Mass., marriage and his navy career, and when she disbelieved him wrote to her father. The latter had Morris arrested for writing threatening letters, and Morris as a result of his strenuous love and troubles is now said to be insane.

Told Wife No. 1.

Meantime Morris had told the Springfield woman about her husband and she and detectives hired by Morris traced Elbert and the Cobaugh woman to New York, where the woman was found acting as cashier in the new Hotel Astoria and Elbert a clerk in the Hotel Buckingham. The navy authorities were informed and arrested Elbert.

Morris was in Springfield, Mass., two weeks ago and consulted with Police Inspector John H. Boyle. He had a detective and Mrs. Cobaugh was in his employ as a sleuth, according to Mrs. Elbert. She also said that he has been editor of a Springfield (Ill.) newspaper.

CLASHES WITH CLERK CASE OVER A MISSING SUMMONS.

Lawyer Henry M. Hagan Threatens "Divorce Record Crusader" with Contempt Proceedings.

Contempt proceedings are threatened against Charles C. Case, chief clerk of the Circuit court, by Attorney Henry M. Hagan. Mr. Case is the man who has been trying to restore court files, especially those relating to divorce cases, which have been long illegally in the hands of interested attorneys.

Mr. Hagan expressed his displeasure at the publicity attending this effort at reform. His chief complaint was the absence of a summons in a case in which he was interested.

"I cannot find the summons nor a receipt," he said. "You are responsible for these files."

"Now, Mr. Hagan, you tell me, what do you think of a lawyer who will take out twenty or thirty files and keep them for a long period in defiance of the rules of the court?" Mr. Case asked.

Attorney Hagan mumbled something about "none of anybody's business," and then made his threat of contempt proceedings. After his departure one of Mr. Case's assistants reported to him that a receipt for the particular files Mr. Hagan wanted had been signed by Master in Chancery Thomas Taylor.

This is the last day of grace given by Clerk Case to lawyers holding divorce papers.

COUNCIL WILL TAKE HAND IN HALSTED STREET FIGHT.

Objecting Property Owners to Present Delay Order Through Ald. Sitts—Majority Frontage Claimed.

The fight against the proposed widening of Halsted street to 100 feet was transferred to the city council yesterday in anticipation of a decision from the board of local improvements today in favor of the project.

Objecting property owners living north of Grand avenue met with Attorney Elbert C. Ferguson and drew up a council order, to be introduced by Ald. Sitts of the Seventeenth ward next Monday night, ordering the board of local improvements to postpone action for a year.

Attorneys Adler and Lederer, representing the south end of the street, declared they now have protests from the owners of 16,400 feet out of the 26,000 feet total frontage on the west side of the street.

Attorney Ferguson made the statement that the reason for the activity of the tenants of the east half of Halsted street between Madison and Monroe lies in the fact that this is school property and cannot be assessed for improvement.

ROOSEVELT SAYS NEGROES MUST GO.

STANDS BY FIRST ORDER.

Willing to Hear Any New Evidence, but Thinks None Can Be Produced.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 21.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt refuses to change his mind in regard to the discharge of the three negro companies of the Twenty-fifth infantry for alleged participation in the outrage at Brownsville, Tex.

In a message from Porto Rico today the president, overruling Secretary Taft, declined to suspend the discharge unless there are new facts of such importance as to warrant cabling him. He states that the action was taken after due deliberation, and that the only matter to which he can pay heed is the presentation of facts showing the official reports to be in whole or in part untrue, or clearly exculpating some individual. If any such facts later appear he can act as he deems advisable, but thus far nothing has been introduced to warrant the suspension of the order, and he directs that it be executed.

Secretary Taft says that immediate steps will be taken to recruit colored soldiers to replace the men discharged. The members of the three companies who were on furlough at the time of the Brownsville affair and three members who are to be tried by court martial will not be mustered out.

Every Effort to Find Truth.

In his summary of the reports made by the other officers and of his own efforts to discover the guilty soldiers, Inspector General Garlington declares that every means of getting evidence concerning the shooting was exhausted. All the men of the three companies were talked with individually, and all, he says, evaded questions, and even refused to discuss the events at Brownsville which were known to have enraged the negroes before the riot.

"The secretive nature of the race where crimes are charged to members of their color is well known," Gen. Garlington says. "Under such circumstances self-protection or self-interest is the only lever by which the casket of their minds can be pried open. Acting upon this principle, the history and record of the regiment to which they belong, the part played by these old soldiers in this record, were pointed out and enlarged upon. The odium and disgrace to the battalion and its individual members by this crime were indicated. The future effect upon the individuals and upon the battalion as a whole was referred to, and, finally, the concern of the president of the United States in the matter, his desire and the desire of the war department to separate the innocent from the guilty were expressed, but without effect."

Officers Fail of Duty.

Continuing, Gen. Garlington reports: "No absolutely accurate verification of the rifles and men of the battalion was made on the night of Aug. 13 in time to account for the rifles and men at the beginning of the firing, or upon its conclusion. The fault is explained as follows:

"'The commanding officer and his associate, when the alarm was sounded and they heard the firing, assumed that it came from the city of Brownsville; and that the guns were in the hands of civilians; in other words, that the garrison was being fired into from the outside by civilians. It does not appear to have occurred to any of them that certain enlisted men of the Twenty-fifth infantry had possession of their rifles and were committing the crime of firing into houses and upon the citizens of Brownsville, until the mayor of the city came to the garrison and informed the commanding officer, Maj. Penrose, that one man had been killed and another injured by his soldiers.'"

CROWDS STRUGGLE FOR STREET CARS.

MASSES CRUSH IN LOOP.

Home Bound Thousands Caught in Storm Fight Valiantly for Transportation.

Of the thousands of nerve fagged men and women who lost vitality in struggling out of the loop district last night there was, in all probability, if not by actual count, a baker's dozen who got some comfort from it.

The comfort was impersonal and a little thin, but it was something at least to realize that last night was given up, perhaps to a peculiar degree, to the birth pangs of a greater Chicago.

Everything helped to proclaim it, even the cold and the drizzle. Hundreds of north siders who might have walked piled into the street cars to get out of the mud and wet. Thus the rain added to the problem now nightly confronting the transportation agencies in Chicago: "How to empty the loop."

That their problem is rapidly growing worse is not altogether their fault. The Western Society of Engineers was told recently that no city in the civilized world is so "up against it" in its growth. The speaker declared that neither the Piccadilly nor the Strand, in the London of 5,000,000 people, was as hard to traverse as State street. That fact, at least, is not the fault of the traction companies, though their sins be as scarlet.

Umbrellas Roof State Street.

At 5:30 o'clock p. m. State street was roofed from end to end with umbrellas, except where the gale around the Masonic temple made them impossible. Belated shoppers, crowds bound for the Illinois Central, and solid battalions of shop girls filled the sidewalks with parallel throngs, streaming in opposite directions.

At State and Madison streets the human friction seemed the hardest to endure. The "spieler" who ladles out information in the "seeing Chicago" automobile told his passengers yesterday that "more people pass this corner going in any one of five directions—north, east, south, west, and up in the air—than any corner in New York, London, Paris, or Berlin." Last night he seemed conservative.

Some, incidentally, may have noted that even the street at this point is eloquent of Chicago's growth, the tracks having sunk about eight inches below the surface, due to the presence of the freight tunnel forty feet below.

Remedy—a Passenger Tunnel.

The only thing that will ever relieve the human wear and tear at this corner will be not the widening of the sidewalks, but the construction of a passenger tunnel twenty feet below into which some of this human freight can drop to seek its exit from the loop underground.

But nothing this side of Dante's purgatory was more pathetic last night than the apologetic stream of trolley cars which filled Dearborn street from end to end. The cars were packed to the steps, and then some, but it was evident even at that they couldn't begin to handle the traffic.

It ought to take some hardihood for a north sider to ask a rejuvenated old girl of a trolley, purchased during the recent rush for equipment in Podunk or Millsville, to carry him and 200 others over the long stretch home. Some day, no doubt, a proud line of heavy, comfortable, well lighted trolleys will glide noiselessly around this loop with a seat for every passenger. "They say" it has been done in other places and can be done here. That's what the baker's dozen, above referred to, had in mind.

Clark Street No "Through Route."

Clark street, with its mixture of people who have to be on that street and people who have to, was hopelessly congested.

When "the traction question is settled," Clark street will probably be a "through route" and a transportation blessing. But last night it was not, thanks to the terminals at Washington street. All down the block between Madison and Washington the south siders, with their hearts full of lust for a seat, scrambled upon the slowly moving cars. By the time each car bumped to a standstill, it had its legal load. The south siders who swarmed in after that were just the "also rans."

North of Washington street, where the Bowmanville cars take fond fathers to their loved ones and all that sort of thing, was a scramble for seats that went a long ways to disprove the theory that country people are the only ones with physiques. They were trained and hardened Chicagoans, the men and women who were equal to the stress of that hour last night.

La Salle street was something of a haven, owing to the fact that so many of its big banks and office buildings had begun to empty so early in the afternoon. There is no "traction problem" for those people, or at least none to speak of.

Fifth Avenue and Its Tortures.

West of La Salle is Fifth avenue, the street of torture. Torture for people with sensitive ear drums. Weariness for the flesh. Depression for the spirit. It is a safe bet that not a soul in Chicago, outside of the baker's half dozen, had any idea last night that traffic redemption exists for Fifth avenue.

Overhead the elevated lines roared and jarred. For noise give the palm to the man who invented boiler factories, and second place to the engineer who invented elevated roads.

Besides its noise that thoroughfare was badly handicapped by the extraordinary number of street car lines now compelled to use it. You can board a car on Fifth avenue for any street car point within Chicago's 192 square miles.

Elevated Lines About as Usual.

The elevated lines themselves were no better and not measureably worse than usual. All the stations had husky guards to shove the passengers within and by main strength force the gates shut.

Over the Wells street bridge the Chicago and Northwestern trains carried thousands out to suburban homes. The Illinois Central ran a rapid and profitable business along the south shore. The Rock Island and the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy followed third and fourth in suburban traffic.

Fundamentally, there are said to be only two reasons why the thousands of those homeward bound had such a tiresome time of it last night. One reason is the bend in the Chicago river, which restricted the business district. The other is the elevated loop, which tightened the knot.

But even with these elements in the problem, there didn't seem to be any good reason last night why the problem shouldn't be solved. Among the comprehensive plans already on foot for solving it are the following:

Suburban railroads to increase accommodations and lower rates.

Construction of a subway to handle express traffic.

Through routes on the surface car lines, doubling their capacity for emptying the downtown district.

Through routes on the elevated roads with the same results.

ANNA HELD'S GARB COSTLY

SO HIGH IT'S ALLEGED SHE HASN'T PAID FOR ALL OF IT.

Suit Begun and Attachments Served for Balance of $3,549 Claimed to Be Due Marshall Field & Co. for Dresses, Hats, Corsets, Stockings, and Various Other Things Bought in 1903—Total Purchases at That Time $8,540, but Bill Partly Settled

Anna Held has not paid Marshall Field & Co. for hats, bathing suits, dresses, stockings, corsets, and various other things, according to a suit filed in court yesterday.

Florence Ziegfeld Jr., husband of Anna; Frank McKee, chief owner of "The Parisian Model" company, now at the Illinois theater; Thomas J. Noonan, treasurer of the theater, and Anna herself were served with writs of attachment. The amount alleged to be due is $3,549.

Most of the articles were bought in the spring of 1903, when Anna Held was appearing in Chicago. It is alleged that she bought goods to the amount of $8,540, but returned $349 worth, leaving the account $8,191. From Jan. 15, 1904, to Nov. 12, 1906, $4,642 was paid and the suit is to enforce collection of the balance.

Mr. Ziegfeld says the costumes were bought for "Mam'selle Napoleon" and that what has been paid on the bill is the full price agreed on between himself and Harry G. Selfridge, who at the time was Field's retail manager. He says Mr. Selfridge made the cut price to meet bids from New York houses and that now the Field establishment has repudiated the Selfridge agreement. He said the matter will be thrashed out in court Dec. 3.

"We will assert all power given us," he said. "We will attach the show and everything pertaining to it if they try to leave at the end of the week unless a settlement is made."

FIVE ROBBED; NO ARRESTS

Three Persons Attacked in Fiftieth Street District Within an Hour—Man Seized and Searched as He Entered Home in Crilly Court—Saloonkeeper Locked in Icebox and His Cash Register Rifled—Alleged Boy Burglar Held.

Highwaymen were busy in the Fiftieth street district last evening. In less than an hour three robberies were reported to the police. A fourth street robbery occurred in Crilly court. In the Attrill street district a saloonkeeper was put in the ice box and the cash register rifled. No arrests were made in any of the five cases.

The first of the attacks was made while the wind and rain storm was at its height. Mrs. Edna Geissman, 676 Forty-fifth street, was on her way home from a grocery. She was stopped by two negro robbers, and after being dragged into an alley was choked and beaten and left almost unconscious. The assailants escaped with her handbag, containing $15 and a gold watch.

Two Attacks in Armour Avenue.

W. D. Humphrey, 4748 Armour avenue, was another victim. Two robbers attacked him as he neared his home. He was seized from behind by one of the men, while the other searched him. The robbers escaped with $8 and a diamond stick pin.

Isaac Palmer, 4619 Armour avenue, was attacked by three robbers at Forty-sixth street and Armour avenue, and after a struggle with the thieves was robbed of a gold watch and $14. The men pounced on him as he turned the corner and ordered him to raise his hands.

Seized from behind as he was about to open the front door of his home shortly after 9 o'clock, George B. Hammond, 4 Crilly court, was forced to give $30 and a gold headed cane to two masked assailants.

Saloonkeeper in Icebox.

Three masked robbers entered the saloon of William Kezmierski, 1178 North Leavitt street, shortly after 8 o'clock in the evening, and, after forcing the proprietor into the ice box, they rifled the cash register, taking $42 and a revolver. They ran out of the rear door and escaped when they saw two patrons about to enter the front door.

Three masked men who attempted to rob John Hallissey in his grocery at 138 Western avenue shortly after 7 o'clock were routed by the intended victim, who drew a revolver and fired.

Alleged Boy Burglar Held.

A 12 year old burglar, so-called by the police, is held at the Desplaines street police station while efforts are made to find another boy who is said to have been implicated with him. The boy under arrest is John Klinzak, 750 West Twenty-second street.

According to accusations made against the boys by Martin Balsk, 843 West Twenty-second street, they ransacked his home and stole $470 and jewelry valued at $125.

Thief Gets Jewels Worth $1,000.

A robbery in which the victim lost $1,000 worth of jewelry became known in the morning despite the fact that the police of the northwest side have been guarding the details of the robbery since last Friday. Marcus Spingold, 60 years old, 258 Fremont street, a jeweler, was robbed of a satchel containing the jewelry at Blanche street and Ashland avenue at 6:30 o'clock Friday evening by a robber who snatched the satchel.

Detectives from Capt. O'Brien's office are searching for a package, valued at $1,000, that was stolen from an express wagon of the Wells-Fargo company in the loop district last Monday night. Henry Allen and H. J. Seeger, who were in charge of the conveyance were questioned. It is not believed that they know anything as to the disappearance of the package. The bundle contained jewelry consigned to Sanford K. Huston, 1112 Heyworth building.

North Maywood Without Water.

A break in one of the Lake street water mains at Fourth avenue yesterday will cause a two days' water famine in North Maywood. Marshal Kamphouse has ordered the mains turned off until repairs can be made.

FORMER AUTOMOBILE AGENT AN INVOLUNTARY BANKRUPT.

Dan B. Southard Files List of Liabilities, Showing Yachts and Motor Cars Cause of Failure.

Dan B. Southard, 182 Forty-fifth street, formerly an automobile agent at 1409 Michigan avenue, yesterday filed a petition in involuntary bankruptcy in the federal court.

The liabilities set out amount to $43,534, and the assets are given at $2,240. The list of liabilities is made up largely of automobile supplies and yacht fittings. He was known in yachting circles through his connection with the yachts Floradora and Sappho. It is said that Mr. Southard's failure is due in part to his inability to dispose of a yacht the sale of which he had under way to a Chicagoan.

Among the creditors are the Commercial National bank, holding a promissory note for $6,000, and W. B. Ullman, holding a note for $13,000, both of which notes were secured by yachts.

Otto B. Marquardt, 168 Cullom avenue, filed a petition in voluntary bankruptcy, in which he scheduled his liabilities at $71,975, and assets in wearing apparel at $30. He was formerly president of the diamond firm of Marquardt & Scott.

TWO GRAND JURIES TO TAKE UP WALSH BANK FAILURES.

District Attorney Says He Has Evidence Under Way to Be Presented in December.

The John R. Walsh bank failure, under investigation by officials of District Attorney Sims' office and Bank Examiner Moxey, is to be taken before two federal grand juries early in December, according to an announcement made by the district attorney yesterday morning.

The federal grand jury which has been sitting in Chicago for several days investigating the underwriting frauds was discharged by Judge K. M. Landis.

District Attorney Sims made a statement in which he said that the case is now well under way and will be given to the grand juries in December. The intention is to present it to juries from the Northern and Eastern districts of Illinois at the same time in order that the entire case may be disposed of at once in its relation to the two districts.

PARK BOARD'S AID SOUGHT IN FIGHT TO OPEN STREET.

Residents Complain That Pennsylvania Railway Refuses to Put Subway at Fifty-fourth Place as Promised

Residents near the Pennsylvania railroad tracks, north of Garfield boulevard, sought the aid of the south park commissioners yesterday in their fight against the company's refusal to open Fifty-fourth place, as it contracted to do in 1900. With Father Flannigan of St. Anne's church as spokesman, they laid their case before the commissioners at their monthly meeting yesterday.

"When the company began work on the elevation of its tracks those of us residing in the neighborhood agreed to let the railroad close Fifty-third street on condition that it open Fifty-fourth place," said Father Flannigan. "Now we have been notified that the company will not keep its contract."

The board decided that upon the receipt of Father Flannigan's petition in writing they would consider the matter favorably.

A letter from Ferdinand W. Peck, advising the use of Central avenue as a right of way for the proposed boulevard connecting the south and north boulevard systems, brought forth again a discussion of the "link." All the members of the board favored the use of Central avenue.

MAKERS OF SILVERWARE ALLEGED TO BE IN TRUST.

Samuel Lyons, Says His Refusal to Obey the Combine Has Led to Blacklisting and Heavy Loss.

Assertions that eighteen silver manufacturing concerns have formed a "trust," to control the business of the whole country were made by Samuel Lyons, a Chicago merchant, in an answer filed by him yesterday to a suit for $10,000 brought by the International Silver company. This firm is alleged to be one of the largest in the combine. The trial begins today in Judge Landis' court.

The silver company is suing Lyons for payment for goods said to have been purchased by him. Lyons declares in his answer that he refused to maintain the retail price established by the alleged "trust" and that he has suffered a loss in business through the company refusing to fill orders of customers desiring silverware.

Lyons is engaged in litigation with the firms mentioned in his reply. He asks $100,000 as recompense for a "boycott" alleged to have been placed on him, and charges that the companies are operating in violation of the Illinois laws relative to trusts and monopolies.

PHONE CONTEST GROWING BITTER.

Aldermen Listen to Four Hours' Talk by Attorneys Mayer and Payne.

MAYOR DUNNE ENJOYS IT.

Charges of Watered Stock and Misrepresentation Made on Both Sides.

The fight between the Chicago Telephone company and the Illinois Manufacturers' association with the Chicago franchise as the prize produced a remarkable talkfest yesterday in the meeting of the council committee considering the question.

For four hours the aldermen listened to an oratorical fusillade between Attorney Levy Mayer, representing the manufacturers, and ex-Judge John Barton Payne, representing the telephone company. Mr. Payne impugned the motives of the manufacturers in seeking a franchise and Mr. Mayer subjected the telephone company to a scathing arraignment as an arrogant monopoly that had plundered the public and broken its contract with the city.

In a parallel controversy Engineer S. M. McMeen, an expert for the manufacturers, and General Manager Hibbard of the Chicago Telephone company, fought out the merits of the latter's argument that good service cannot be furnished at lower rates. In a final altercation in which the weight of Expert McMeen's opinion was called in question, the lie direct was all but passed between Mr. Mayer and Mr. Payne.

Only Mayor Enjoys Proceedings.

When it was all over the aldermen found themselves exhausted and with nothing definite accomplished. Mayor Dunne alone appeared thoroughly to enjoy the bitter repartee, and he rushed the committee into accepting another dose of the same tomorrow. The mayor, it is understood, is eager to settle the telephone question before next spring in order to make a new bid for reelection. Incidentally the mayor is busily advocating the government ownership of telephones.

The private contracts made between the telephone company and the State street stores produced the first tilt of the day. Mr. Payne was defending the company's special privilege contracts when Mayor Dunne asked:

"But is it just for public service corporations enjoying a natural monopoly to grant special privileges?"

"Will you show the committee the contract signed yesterday by the State street stores?" demanded Attorney Mayer, fishing a document from his satchel and waving it aloft.

"I'll not do so for you," replied Mr. Payne bitterly. "I'll show it to the mayor and the committee, but I decline to make it public. All I have to say is that these stores pay the same message rate as any other subscribers."

"Well, I should like to see the contract," said the mayor.

Attorney Mayer brought out additional evidence of the company's expensive alliance with the Bell company, and Mr. Payne declared that "all specific payment of royalty" to the latter company had been abolished.

Taking up the rates proposed by the manufacturers, Mr. Payne showed figures to prove that under them Attorney Mayer's law firm would pay $126 more a year than it now pays the Chicago company for the same service. The American Bridge company, he said, would pay $168 more, Steele, Wedeles & Co. $454 more, and other concerns proportionate amounts.

Willing to Change Rates.

"In giving these figures," replied Attorney Mayer, "Mr. Payne did not tell the committee that my firm, like many others, pays not only for unlimited but for measured service, and Mr. Payne has taken only the annual rate. But all this aside, the Manufacturers' company does not want to charge as much as the Chicago company. If these proposed rates are not lower than those proposed by Mr. Payne, we want you to change them. If there are flaws in our ordinance, correct them. Unlike Mr. Payne's client, we do not make this ordinance our ultimatum."

Manager Hibbard, in a technical speech, sought to show that the rates proposed by the manufacturers will make for bad service. This statement was disputed by Expert McMeen, who pointed to the success of the independent companies with similar low rates, and declared that "most of the independent companies that have failed are those affiliated with the Bell company."

"That capitalization includes watered stock," objected Mr. Mayer.

"Well, I think there are independent companies with watered stock," retorted Mr. Payne. "Your own prospectus of a company incorporated for $30,000,000 shows—"

Truth of Statement Challenged.

"You never saw any such prospectus," declared Mr. Mayer. "There never was one contemplated. I challenge you to tell where you ever saw or heard of such a thing."

"Mr. Hibbard told me," said Mr. Payne, rising with angry determination.

"Well, I challenge the truth of the statement," concluded Mr. Mayer. "There will be no water in the manufacturers' company. We know what we are about and we have the figures here to show how much money we expect to put into the construction of the system."

EMPLOYES OF THE SUBWAY THREATENING TO STRIKE.

Organized with Some Difficulty, Then Wage Demand Forestalled by Discharge of Supposed Union Officials.

A strike is threatened in the subways of the Illinois Tunnel company. The men operating the cars in the tunnel have been organized secretly within the last month. They were on the point of presenting demands to the company for a wage scale when the latter forestalled the action by discharging five employés who are said to be officials of the union. As a result of the company's move the situation has grown serious.

A call for a massmeeting of the men was issued through the federation of labor, and the question of a strike will be discussed tonight at Koch's hall, 10 Clark street. Jefferson Davis Pierce, representing the American Federation of Labor, will address the tunnel employés.

It is said great difficulty was experienced in organizing the subway men.

THOMAS P. DANIELS

POSTOFFICE INSPECTORS SEEK CONCERNS TO RAID.

Suspect Existence in Many Cities of "Underwriters" Like Those Found in Chicago and Milwaukee on Tuesday—Two More Arrests Made in Connection with This Alleged Gang and Three Men Are Still at Liberty—Daniels Denies Guilt.

Persistent warfare in all parts of the United States will be carried on by the postoffice department on concerns of the type headed by Thomas P. Daniels, alias Cameron, of Milwaukee, which were raided by the federal officials Tuesday in Chicago and Milwaukee. These concerns are alleged to have obtained more than $1,000,000 by fraudulent means.

Two more of Daniels' alleged accomplices were arrested yesterday, but there are three men still fugitives. While the officials feel that they have broken up the business in Chicago through the arrest of all the ringleaders, the leads discovered in this city have led to the belief that similar concerns are preying on the investing public in all the big cities of the country.

Talk with Daniels; Arrested.

The men arrested yesterday were I. L. H. Holton, a broker with offices at 97 Clark street, and John Stirlen, a lawyer with offices in the Monadnock building. Daniels led to the arrest of these men unwittingly. He had been in conference with the federal officials during the morning, and shortly after noon left the building to meet Stirlen and Holton in a Wabash avenue saloon. Deputy Marshals Griffith and Wilmot followed him, and in the saloon he was joined by his two friends. Both men gave bonds and were released. This makes eleven members of the gang that have been taken in.

Daniels is a large, well dressed man, with a bland smile and a plausible manner.

Accuses His Accusers.

"My business has been legitimate in every respect," said he. "I could have fled two months ago if I had wanted to. A number of times men have attempted to make use of me in pushing wildcat schemes to fleece small investors. At different times I have allowed myself to be used as a tool, but when the fraudulent character of the enterprises became known to me I have severed my connection with them. Some of the men I have broken away from in this way are endeavoring to make trouble for me."

Frederick Struckmeyer, the lawyer, arrested on Tuesday, also made the charge that complaining companies were themselves fraudulent.

George J. Munro of Joliet, who was arrested Tuesday night, is in no way connected with George H. Munroe, the Joliet banker.

FIRE IN APARTMENT HOUSE MAY CAUSE WOMAN'S DEATH.

Fright and Exposure to Lake Avenue Blaze and Weather Render a Mother of Few Days Ill.

Fright and exposure, which may in one case prove fatal, was caused several women yesterday morning by a fire which partly destroyed a four story apartment building at 5451 and 5453 Lake avenue.

Mrs. Charles H. Neal, the wife of a milk dealer, carrying her three days old child, tried to leave her apartments on the top floor of the building unassisted. Neighbors and firemen found her at her door with her child in her arms, gasping for breath in the stifling smoke. The two were hurried through the driving rain to a neighboring undertaking establishment, where Neal, who happened to be in the vicinity, found them.

Later reports last night were that Mrs. Neal is in a precarious condition at the home of a neighbor. It was said by her physician she may die.

Others who were driven into the rain were Mrs. J. K. Taylor, Mrs. H. J. Smith, and Mrs. S. J. McDonnell. Mrs. Taylor, who had apartments opposite those of Mrs. Neal, was cut off from escape by way of the stairway and climbed out on the fire escape and threatened to jump. She was quieted until firemen raised a ladder and helped her down. Then she insisted on going back into the building to save her pet Scotch collie.

The saloon of James Dwyer, under which the fire started, was completely destroyed, and the stock of Mrs. Peter Pearson, a notion dealer at 5451, ruined. The building, which is of brick, is owned by the Chicago Title and Trust company and valued at $28,000. The cause of the fire is not known.

NOISY LAW STUDENT LOCKED UP

John C. King Jr. Gets Into Trouble by Breaking Garbage Cans in Clark Street.

John C. King Jr., son of Attorney King, 497 West Congress street, was arrested early this morning, after an alleged attempt to demolish several of the garbage cans on Clark street, in the downtown district. Followed by a squad of companions from the Chicago College of Law, young King was taken to the Central station by Detectives Fitzgerald and Larkin and later hurried to the Harrison street station.

"I demand a speedy hearing," he called out, waving his hands above his head. "If you lock me up I will get every policeman's job who is mixed up in this matter. I have done no wrong."

He was locked in a cell. He is charged with disorderly conduct and resisting a policeman.

SEE VAN TASEL IN HALSTED ST.?

Clew Secured by Police Causes Increased Activity in Search for Fitzpatrick's Slayer.

Information received last evening by the Desplaines street police to the effect that Guy Van Tasel, the partner of Charles Hanson, who is wanted for the murder of Patrolman Fitzpatrick, had been seen walking south in Halsted street, near Van Buren, augmented the activity of the search.

Two squads of detectives traced him to Harrison and Sangamon streets, and there lost track of him.

The funeral of Fitzpatrick was attended by hundreds of friends and relatives in the afternoon.

HIT HIGH SCHOOL 'FRATS' NEW JOLT

LAWYER SHOWS THE WAY

Finds No Legal Barrier to Abolition of Student Secret Societies.

The board of education last night for the third time took action calculated to result in the abolition of all high school secret societies. On recommendation of President Emil W. Ritter the board ordered all school principals to strictly enforce the rule adopted two years ago forbidding all high school students belonging to fraternities or sororities from participating in high school athletics and from representing the student body of the school in any official way. The rule also prohibits fraternities from meeting in the school buildings.

President Ritter's recommendation was based on a letter from Attorney James Maher of the board, in which the opinion was expressed that no legal barrier stands in the way of the enforcement of the rule.

Eleven Vote Against "Frats."

The vote barring fraternity members was 11 to 3. In detail it was as follows:

Yeas—Dr. James F. Chvatal, P. Shelly O'Ryan, John J. Hayes, Dr. C. A. Weil, Charles O. Sethness, Mrs. Emmons Blaine, Modie J. Spiegel, Miss Jane Addams, Philip Angsten, Dr. John Guerin, and President Ritter—11.

Nays—Dr. R. A. White, John C. Harding, Dr. Cornelia De Bey—3.

Not voting—Dr. W. A. Kuflewski, Wiley W. Mills, Louis F. Post—3.

Absent—Mrs. W. C. H. Keogh, George Duddleston, Raymond Robins, and John J. Sonsteby—4.

The action of the board calls on school principals to enforce the rule at once, which will mean that every member of a high school fraternity on a high school football eleven will be disqualified from competing in any of the high school games. No "frat" members will be allowed to participate in any other athletic games conducted by the high schools, and members of the school debating and oratorical teams and editors of the school papers who are members of fraternities will be compelled to resign.

Injunctions Have Stopped Rule.

In his letter to the board President Ritter called the attention of his colleagues to the fact that the rule adopted by the board had been rendered inoperative as a result of injunctions obtained by parents of frat members restraining the board from enforcing its rule.

"Principals of our high schools," said President Ritter, "have recently renewed their complaints against the existence of secret societies in the schools, and at a recent meeting of principals and teachers of accredited high schools and the faculty of the University of Chicago resolutions were adopted calling for action against such organizations. According to the attorney's opinion, the board is at this time free to act in the matter, and I would, therefore, recommend that the superintendent of schools be directed to enforce the existing rule against secret societies in the schools, which has not been enforced because of the action of the courts."

Maher Gives Ray of Hope.

In his opinion Attorney Maher held out a ray of hope to the fraternity members. He said that Judge Honoré has not yet considered the recommendation of Master in Chancery Taylor.

"There is no injunction now against the board of education," explained Attorney Maher, "restraining them from enforcing the rule. There was an application for an injunction on behalf of a boy of the name of Favorite, which was referred to Master in Chancery Taylor by Judge Walker. The master went into the matter thoroughly and found in our favor and recommended that the injunction be denied. His report and findings are on file in the case, and the case is on Judge Honoré's call, to be disposed of when reached. In the meantime the board is free to enforce the rule."

The board's rule was adopted two years ago following a report from the public school principals in which their disapproval of the high school secret societies was expressed vigorously. In this report the principals held that the frats and sororities "are undemocratic in their nature, demoralizing in their tendencies, and subversive of good citizenship."

Post Report Is Deferred.

To prevent its defeat, the board deferred action for two weeks on the Post report. When the report was presented it was seen that there were not enough of the radical members present to put it on its passage. At once Trustee Post explained that he had no desire to attempt to "railroad" the measure through the board in the face of honest criticism.

"The committee gave wide opportunity for discussion of the report and its provisions," declared Trustee Post, "but at the same time it has been suggested that further time be given to its consideration. Not wishing to push the report over any criticism made in good faith, I readily agree to this program and I move that action on the report be deferred for two weeks."

An effort to reconsider the board's action in awarding contracts for the erection of the Manual Training high school was defeated.

The massmeeting projected by the federation of labor on the school board question has been postponed until one week from next Sunday. Secretary Nockels announced invitations have been issued to Superintendent of Schools Cooley and Louis F. Post of the board of education to speak. An open debate also is planned as a feature of the meeting, which will be held at 134 Van Buren street, in Musicians' hall.

GOOD FOR YOUR COLD.

A noted specialist in throat and lung trouble, who established a camp for consumptives in the Pine Woods of Maine, and whose remarkable cures there have attracted great attention from the medical world, says that one-half ounce of the Pure Virgin Oil of Pine mixed with two ounces of Glycerine and one-half pint of good Whisky, and used in teaspoonful doses, will heal and strengthen the lungs, break up a cold in twenty-four hours, and cure any cough that is curable. The ingredients can be secured from any good prescription druggist at small cost.

Inquiry at the prescription department of a leading local druggist elicited the information that the Pure Virgin Oil of Pine is put up only in half-ounce vials for dispensing. Each vial is securely sealed in a round wooden case, with engraved wrapper, showing the name—"Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure)"—plainly printed thereon. Only the cheaper Oils are sold in bulk, but these create nausea, and never effect the desired results.

STRIKE AT SCHOOL BOARD

ALDERMEN DELAY REQUEST FOR PLAYGROUND FUNDS.

Committee Member Says Trustees Have Ignored Council in Demand for Financial Statement—Propose to Lay Appropriation on the Table Until Question on Condition of the Treasury Is Answered for Information of Council.

The city council's committee on schools decided yesterday to bring Mayor Dunne's reform school board to time for having ignored their request for a statement showing the condition of the school finances. By a vote of 5 to 2 the committee shelved the board's application for an appropriation of $250,000 for playground sites and said it would stay on the shelf until the board members saw fit to throw their books open to the aldermen.

"I don't care to waste time here," declared Ald. Race, who made the motion, "over the question of voting money for school playgrounds when the board has failed to comply with our request. There are a lot of things I want to know before I'll vote for that appropriation. I want to know whether this appropriation for playgrounds will interfere with the erection of new buildings."

Cooley Urges Need of Funds.

Supt. Cooley said that some of the playgrounds would be used as sites for additions before long and that the appropriation was badly needed.

"The board hasn't shown us any courtesy," said Ald. Scully, "not even the courtesy of complying with our request. Millions and millions are being spent over there, and I don't propose to vote any money unless I know what it is for, how badly the appropriation is needed, and everything else about it."

Ald. Dunn believed that those matters are best left with the board, as the board and its officials know the needs of the schools better than the aldermen.

"The aldermen," said Ald. Race, who comes from Wiley Mills' ward, "know more about the schools and school affairs than the members of the board. I have been an alderman for six years and I have spent a lot of time going around among the schools of my ward, and I've never seen a board member there."

Dunn Pleads for Board.

Ald. Dunn urged that the paid officials of the board had maps and charts and other facilities which enabled them to select sites for buildings and playgrounds to greater advantage than the aldermen could.

"Well, from what I hear," said Ald. Race, "the board members don't often follow the advice of its paid officials."

Ald. Scully, Race, Riley, McCormick, and Bowler voted to ignore the board until the board has complied with the request for a financial statement made by the committee. The negative votes were cast by Ald. Dunn and Lipps. Ald. Zimmer did not vote. Trustees C. A. Weil and C. O. Sethness and Architect Perkins were at the meeting on behalf of the board.

FAILURE IS COST OF CO-OPERATION

Stores Run on That System Seldom Succeed, Labor Commissioner Says.

REPORT SHOWS CAUSES.

Conditions in This Country and Characteristics of People Opposed to Plan.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 21.—[Special.]—In a report just issued by Labor Commissioner J. D. Beck, coöperative stores in the United States are pronounced almost a total failure. The report says:

"There are at present 343 coöperative stores in the United States. California, having the largest number, sixty-eight; Wisconsin occupies third place with thirty stores. These 343 stores have a membership of 76,146 persons.

Why Success Is Difficult.

"In this country coöperative distribution has been marked by almost total failure. The greatest cause for the failure was collapse of the labor and farm movements which gave the system birth and the lack of business knowledge. The stores never were thoroughly organized and nearly always lacked the support of the wholesale house from which they could obtain their supplies. Department stores, trading stamp schemes, and the low prices of mail order houses all aided in the downfall of coöperative stores.

"Furthermore, conditions in this country, the individuality of our people, their changing employment and impetuous nature which looks to speculation rather than to conservative investment, are opposed to the spirit of coöperation. Free libraries, public lectures, university extension courses, savings banks, building and loan associations, and insurance policies take the place in this country which the coöperative store occupies in Europe.

Better Chance in Future.

"Many of the above causes are being removed today by evolution in the industrial world. Recent organizations are upon a much firmer basis. Coöperative wholesale houses are being established in the Mississippi valley and on the Pacific coast. But above all, the growth of social fellowship and unionism upon a solid foundation, only possible in recent years, together with a thorough business knowledge, will serve to give greater stability in the future.

"If such stores enjoy permanent success it will be solely as a business proposition, for it is now apparent that no lasting, effective reform of the industrial situation in this country can ever be accomplished by the application of coöperative doctrines."

Chief Collins Wants $5,159,701.

GALE SWEEPS CITY; PERIL ON THE LAKE

Mile a Minute Wind, Accompanied by Drop of 20 Degrees in Temperature.

STEAMBOAT IS MISSED.

Frontenac Not Heard From; Women Hurt When Chimney Topples Over.

A record smashing "mile a minute" gale from the southwest, accompanied by a drop of twenty degrees in the temperature and a rainfall of almost one and one-half inches, gave Chicago yesterday one of the severest storm experiences in several years.

Several persons were injured and property running up into the thousands of dollars destroyed. The steamer Frontenac of Chicago, due at St. Joe at 7 o'clock at night, had not arrived at an early hour this morning, and there are fears for its safety.

The wind, which came from the southwest, freshened steadily during the morning, reaching a velocity at noon of fifty-eight miles an hour. This was regarded as "going some," for the record wind of the year, that of Jan. 1, had reached only fifty-six. But the gale stiffened steadily until at 2 o'clock it had reached an even "mile a minute."

Chicago has seen nothing like it since the hurricane of 1894, when the wind struck a gait of eighty-four miles an hour for thirty minutes.

The Injured.

The police reported the following persons injured:

BONDY, MRS. EMMA, wife of proprietor of Bondy's restaurant, 126 Clark street; injured by flying glass and débris and scalded about head and face when chimney fell through skylight at restaurant.

BRADLEY, STELLA, 235 Lincoln avenue, waitress at Bondy's restaurant; struck by fragment of chimney; arm burned.

HEATH, H. J., sales manager for Cleveland Engineering company; thrown from wagon of Arthur Dixon Transfer company when it upset on Jackson boulevard bridge.

Damage by Storm.

Following are cases of local damage attributed to the storm:

Chimney blown down at Bondy's restaurant, 126 Clark street, falling through skylight and injuring nine persons.

Two story unfinished residence at Eighty-third street and Bond avenue, South Chicago, blown into adjoining lot. Building valued at $4,000.

Frame structure on plant of the South Chicago Brewing company, forming third floor of the office building, blown off. Electric light wires blown to pavement, plunging plant in darkness.

Signs blown down at many shops downtown and elsewhere.

Trees, wires, and fences blown down all over the city. At 470 Racine avenue an uprooted tree fell against a door and blocked it for several hours.

Worried Over a Boat

The incident in connection with the lake storm that caused most apprehension was the failure of the Frontenac to reach St. Joseph, and it is feared that the vessel suffered in the stiff gale which swept the eastern shore.

The boat, which is chartered by the Graham & Morton line and left from their docks, carried ten passengers in addition to the crew. It left Chicago at 11 o'clock in the morning. It is a slow boat, with a capacity of 200 persons, and frequently required seven or eight hours for the voyage in calm weather. It is thought that the captain did not attempt to put in at any of the eastern ports of the lake which are unsafe to enter in a heavy sea, and that the boat probably turned back toward Milwaukee, as it must have encountered the gale early in the afternoon.

Capt. Stewart was in charge of the Frontenac, and officials of the company express confidence in his ability to handle the boat. The Frontenac until a week ago was owned by the Nessen Steamboat company of Milwaukee, and plied between that city and St. Joseph.

Lighthouse Keeper Rescued.

Victor Bailey, one of the lighthouse keepers at the north pier, was rescued in the afternoon by Capt. Carland and the crew of the life saving station. Bailey had been out in his boat trimming the lights in the harbor tower. After he had left the tower he started for the shore, but was caught in the squall and was being carried swiftly out into the lake when his signals of distress were noticed by Capt. Carland. The crew went out and got Bailey, but so heavy was the sea that they were unable afterward to reach their new quarters, but were forced to put in to their old home, more than half a mile away.

Capt. Henry Sinnegan of the Jackson park life saving station reported the heaviest sea since May, 1894. "So strong was the wind," he said, "that for a time the lagoon in the park was almost dry."

When it became evident that the lake had become roiled to an unusual degree, Health Commissioner Whalen issued the following bulletin:

"Until the effect of the rain, which has congested sewers, is determined the department advises that all water for drinking purposes be boiled.

Storm in the City.

The only accident in the city which caused serious injury was the one at Bondy's restaurant, which occurred shortly after noon. A brick chimney forty feet high crashed through the skylight.

At the plant of the South Chicago brewery seventy-five men employed in the building were forced to quit work when the wires connected with the electric lights were blown down. A few minutes later the entire working force was nearly thrown into a panic by the falling of a superstructure on the office building.

In the evening the storm passed north, centering over the northern lakes and apparently losing force. Forecaster Cox says it will amount to nothing today. Tomorrow will be fair.

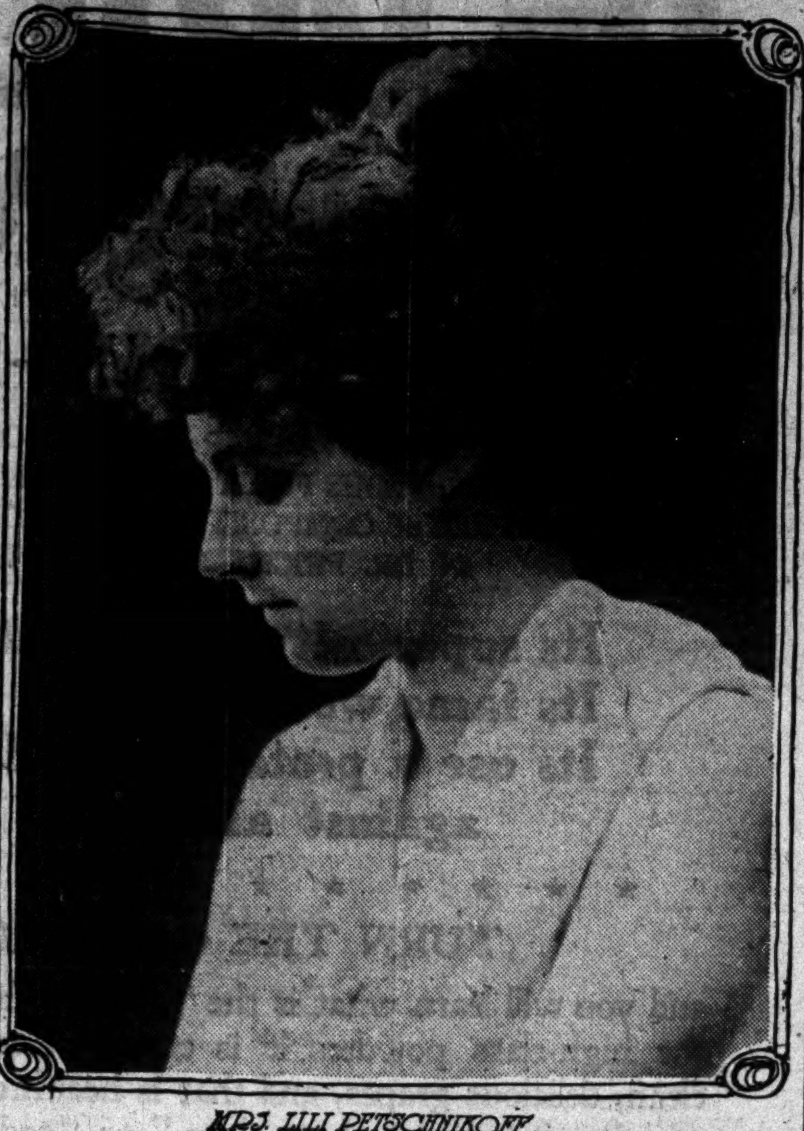
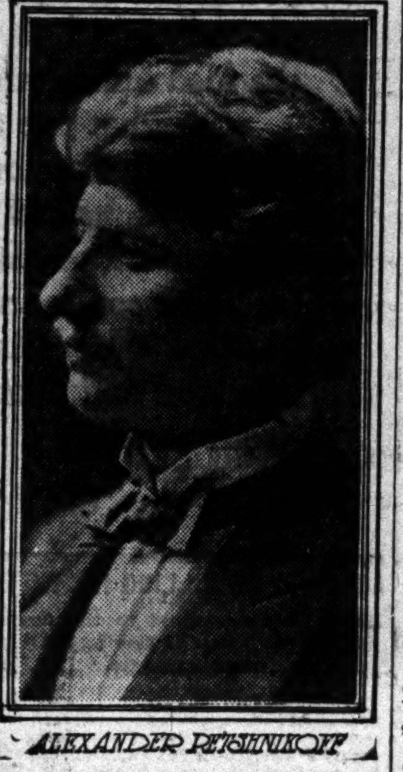
Sister-in-Law of Russian Violinist Says He Has Been Good to Mother.



MRS. LILI PETSCHNIKOFF



ALEXANDER PETSCHNIKOFF

Alexander Petschnikoff, famous Russian violinist, who is said to have disowned his aged mother and refused to aid her in her poverty, was defended yesterday by Mrs. Helen Wasnansdorff, 12 Belden court. Mrs. Wasnansdorff is a sister of the musician's wife, who, prior to her marriage to Petschnikoff, was Miss Lili Schober, daughter of the late Charles A. Schober of Chicago.

She attributed the story from New York to a "powerful enemy" of Petschnikoff, a Russian violinist, who, she said, is jealous of Petschnikoff's success.

"That man will go to any extreme to injure the reputation of my brother-in-law," she said. "I cannot mention his name for fear he will do worse things than he has done.

"I know that Petschnikoff now is contributing to the support of his mother, and has done so ever since he was able to. I also know this—that his relatives—I mean his sisters and their husbands—have tried every means in their power to get money from him on every possible and impossible occasion. Their importunities positively became a burden to both him and his wife.

"If my sister wrote the letter which Petschnikoff's mother is said to have given out, you may rest assured that she was justified in doing so. My sister is the most gentle and tender hearted of women, and the heart of her husband is as soft as that of a child."

Mrs. Petschnikoff was married to the violinist in 1896 at Moscow. Two weeks ago she was in Chicago with her two children, Tatjana, 9 years old, and Nadja, 2 years old. The children now are with their aunt and grandmother, Mrs. Schober, 12 Belden court. Mr. Schober, who was head of a Chicago lithographing firm, was killed by an Evanston car five weeks ago.

took notice of her as soon as she entered, and, after standing at her back for a while, got around and "eyed her up" from in front, then he got behind her again and moved up close. When Caruso glanced at Kane, he, the policeman, according to his story studied the monkeys intently. Kane testified he saw Caruso push his knee against Mrs. Graham, then rub his hand over her hip. The policeman said the tips of Caruso's fingers were visible from under his coat when he did this.

Woman Calls Him a Brute.

It was then Kane testified he jumped around the cage toward the singer, but before he got to him the woman had caught him by the shoulders. Kane thought the woman tried to hit Caruso in the face, but failed. The blow, according to Kane, threw Caruso off his balance. The policeman testified further the woman called Caruso "brute and beast."

"Caruso," said the policeman, "did not reply to the woman, but, turning to me, said: 'I do nothing. You can do nothing to me.'"

Kane declared he asked the woman then whether she would be a complainant against the man, and she readily consented. There were at the time, in his opinion, about fifteen other persons in the monkey house while Caruso had been carrying on his alleged improprieties.

At the station house Kane made the complaint, and the woman sustained it as a witness. Caruso, according to Kane, pleaded with the woman, partly kneeling, assuring her he was "a gentleman and a mistake had been made."

Lawyer Upsets Policeman Kane.

"Then," said Policeman Kane, "he asked for water and we gave it to him."

Under cross-examination Policeman Kane admitted that he hadn't been able to find Mrs. Graham's address, which she had given. He had never seen Mrs. Graham before her appearance in the monkey house.

"So you know no such person as Hannah Graham?" said Caruso's lawyer.

"I will have to admit that," replied the policeman.

Kane described Mrs. Graham as a woman about five feet six inches tall, weighing 140 to 150 pounds, with "a perfect bust." Judge Dittenhoefer made the policeman admit that Mrs. Graham probably didn't have any child with her, as was published in the newspapers at first. Kane admitted that there had been no complaint on the part of any women except Mrs. Graham. When asked to describe the dresses and appearance of the two girls the policeman said they were "ladies' wearing apparel."

"That is more truthful than anything you have said so far," remarked Dittenhoefer.

Caruso's Version of the Affair.

It was considerably after 4 o'clock when the lawyers were ready for Caruso. He repeated practically the story which he told after his arrest, that he intended to visit a friend, and that he had dropped into Central park menagerie to while away a little time.

"Did you in any way get near any woman so as to touch her?" he was asked.

"No," was the reply.

He denied all the accusations, saying he saw only the monkeys except when he first entered the building. Then the woman who said she was Mrs. Graham looked at him.

"How?" asked Judge Dittenhoefer.

"She looked at me in such a way that I took her for a doubtful character," said the witness.

Says He Can't Talk English.

Caruso denied he paid any attention to her or went near her. He denied further that he spoke to her until she appeared against him in the sergeant's office. She didn't strike him or say anything to him. It was always his custom to carry his hands in his pockets and his cane in the way the policeman had described. No complaint was made to him by anybody in the monkey house. He never met McCarthy before he appeared in the courtroom as a witness. He never had been arrested on the complaint of any woman before.

Caruso declared he could speak English only a little and he did not say the things attributed to him in the police station. He denied he had ever talked English with two reporters who were present. He had been in the park only four or five times in all, Nov. 16 the first time this year.

Third Deputy Mathot wanted to know what sort of look Mrs. Graham cast at him.

"It was a close look, so that one understood what she wanted," he said.

Caruso's lawyer objected to questions as to how his client was able to characterize it.

Her Look Embarrass Him? Yes.

"Did it embarrass you?" asked Mathot.

"Well, about," replied Caruso.

"Why didn't you turn away?"

"I did and walked about my business."

"When did you next see her after this lascivious glance?"

"In the station house."

The deputy commissioner wanted to know further whether Caruso desired to convey the impression that the complaint was prompted by his attitude in refusing to respond to the woman's glances. This question was objected to.

"Were you garbed in your multi-colored Joseph's robe?" asked the commissioner, and this was disallowed. The magistrate refused also to compel the witness to say whether that was the first time he ever had been glanced at in that manner.

At this point the magistrate adjourned the case until 2 o'clock tomorrow, but it is likely it will be put off longer as the third deputy commissioner may not be able to appear. Caruso was pale and nervous after the ordeal was over.

BANK TELLER SHORT $31,600.

Employe of First National of Cincinnati Admits Embezzlement from Patrons.

Cincinnati, O., Nov. 21.—Bartholomew G. Cavagna, receiving teller of the First National bank of this city, was arrested tonight, charged with embezzling $31,600. The shortage was discovered yesterday. Cavagna readily admitted his guilt and stated that he had taken the sum in small amounts. He claims he took the money from only six large firms doing business with the bank in this city. If one of these firms brought $1,111 to the bank, Cavagna would scratch out the first figure and make an entry of $111, which he sent to the bookkeeper.

HURT IN "DEBRUTALIZED" RUSH

Student at University of Illinois Has Collar Bone Broken in Reformed Class Battle.

Urbana, Ill., Nov. 21.—[Special.]—In a "debrutalized" class rush between sophomores and freshmen at the University of Illinois today, held under strict faculty supervision, Quincy Hall, a sophomore student, had his collar bone broken in a fierce battle about the pole where the freshmen colors waved in triumph. There were 500 contestants and the fight was desperate, nearly all the clothes of many who struggled being torn from their backs.

ABE RUEF'S PALS GO AGAINST HIM.

Myrtle Cerf and Eddie Graney Make Clean Breast of Music Hall Extortion.

SMALL GRAFTERS IN FEAR

Cases Against Mayor Schmitz and the "Boss" Are Set Over to Dec. 3.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 21.—[Special.]—Abe Ruef's chief lieutenants have turned against him. Myrtile Cerf and Eddie Graney have revealed the whole Belvedere music hall extortion conspiracy to the grand jury.

The Belvedere "music hall" is one of the low dives which were notorious in San Francisco before the earthquake. Ruef compelled its promoters to give him not only one-quarter of the stock but 25 per cent of its profits.

These facts were testified to by Myrtile Cerf yesterday. Today Eddie Graney, the well known prize fight referee, who is one of the proprietors of the music hall, appeared before the grand jury.

After Cerf's testimony was read to Graney, and after the fight referee saw that District Attorney Heney had all the material facts, he made no attempt to withhold his own testimony. He told all about Boss Ruef's famous "butting in" on this rich dive graft, and the trouble that they had to keep him from demanding more than one-quarter.

It is understood Graney explained about the way he paid Ruef his dividends, and, as the books of the Crocker-Woolworth bank have been demanded, it is evident that Ruef was paid by check and that the bank ledger will show plainly just how much Ruef drew from the Belvedere.

Small Grafters in Panic.

Indictment of Janitor Duffy yesterday for perjury has put the fear of death into all the small grafters, and when any of them is called before the jury he will be pretty sure to tell the truth. Duffy surrendered to Sheriff O'Neill today while Deputy Knox was still looking for him. The indictment charges Duffy with swearing falsely at the inquiry which resulted in the accusation against Supervisor Nicholas. Duffy failed to secure $2,500 cash bail and $500 bond for his release and was locked up in jail.

As a result of Duffy's indictment Jean Loupy, one of the French restaurant proprietors, has "reconsidered" his testimony and given facts which he withheld at the first hearing. James H. Babcock, proprietor of "Bab's" restaurant, has given an explicit statement of restaurant graft, showing that demands were made on him by Loupy for money which Loupy now declares was for Abe Ruef for protection.

Schmitz's Case Is Postponed.

It is evident that the prosecution does not propose to hear the extortion case against Ruef until Mayor Schmitz reaches San Francisco and can be called as a witness. There was a big crowd present today in court when the case of Ruef was expected to be called. When Judge Dunne took his seat he began by calling the case of an insignificant thief who stood up in the dock, still manacled to one of his kind. The case was put over until another day. Three more cases were called and then the judge read from his calendar the name:

"Eugene E. Schmitz."

Attorney Henry Ach jumped to his feet. "The district attorney and I consent," he said, "that these cases be continued for arraignment until Dec. 3."

"Does that agreement apply to all the cases?" asked the court.

"Yes," responded Ach.

HITS LAX KANSAS MAYORS.

ATTORNEY GENERAL WOULD OUST TWO NONPROHIBITIONISTS.

Files Suit in Supreme Court to Declare Offices Vacant and to Prohibit Junction City and Pittsburg from Collecting License Fines from Jointists—Action May Be Forerunner of Proceedings Against Other Officials.

Topeka, Kas., Nov. 21.—Suits to oust Mayor A. B. Kirkwood of Pittsburg, Kas., and Mayor F. W. O'Donnell of Junction City, Kas., for failure to enforce the state prohibition law and to prohibit Pittsburg and Junction City from collecting licenses from "joints" were filed this afternoon in the Supreme court by Attorney General C. C. Coleman. These suits are similar to that filed against Mayor Rose of Kansas City, Kas., which resulted in him being ousted from office.

Though Attorney General Coleman refused to discuss his future plans, it is assumed that the filing of the suits today means that other suits of a like nature will follow against the mayor of every city and town in the state where the prohibition law is being violated. It is known that papers have already been drawn up in a petition to oust Mayor Goodlander of Fort Scott.

The most flagrant violations of the prohibition law are in Wichita, Leavenworth, Fort Scott, and Topeka, but most towns in the state are involved. In Topeka, contrary to the custom in most cities and towns, the city does not derive any revenue from the joints.

ECKELS IN TALK TO BANKERS URGES RESPONSIVE CURRENCY

Says with Proper Restrictions Institutions Should Be Allowed to Put Out Small Promissory Notes.

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 21.—James H. Eckels, president of the Commercial National bank of Chicago, was the principal speaker before the Nebraska Bankers' association, which met here today.

Mr. Eckels declared it was of greater interest to the people at large rather than the bankers that banks should increase in strength. He said the commission on behalf of the commercial and banking interests of the country will ask congress to enact into law a provision enlarging the note issuing function of national banks by granting them the right, under well conceived and conservative restrictions which assure safety to the public and guard the banks against misuse of the power given, to put forth promissory notes of small denominations without a specific deposit of assets to secure the same.

Senator Millard, president of the association, in an address proposed the elimination of dishonest bankers by expert examination as a condition of membership in the association.

3 ARRESTED FOR B. & O. WRECK.

Engineer, Conductor, and Head Brakeman Accused of Being Responsible for Woodville Crash.

Valparaiso, Ind., Nov. 21.—[Special.]—Frank Dalnour, engineer; Samuel J. Moste, conductor; and Daniel Woodard, brakeman, were arrested today on orders of Coroner Carson at the close of the inquest into the recent wreck at Woodville on the Baltimore and Ohio. They are charged with manslaughter.

The arrests were made after Dalnour, who was pulling the first section of the passenger broke down on the stand and between sobs admitted that his negligence had caused the wreck. Dalnour failed to return to the freight train when his danger signals were unanswered.

Moste and Woodard were on the freight. The railroad commission also is investigating the disaster.

Now We Have Told You

In detail about our new schedule of reduced telephone rates proposed to the City—

Reductions of 20 to 50 per cent.

We want you to know about them. They are fair.

But the Rate Reductions are Not All.

We also propose to enlarge the area of the free Chicago Exchange to include the 192 square miles within the city limits.

Thus are abolished the authorized mileage charges for telephones located beyond exchange boundaries.

Thus also are abolished tolls for messages from any point to any inside the new, greater area, for all subscribers who choose the City Exchange Service.

We also propose to cut in two (to 5 cents) the toll rate for messages to the City Exchange

From all subscribers who choose the neighborhood exchange service, which we offer at rates below those for all-city service.

The factory, farm or office telephone located even eight miles from an exchange will benefit by our new rates as though downtown.

Under our proposed schedule of measured rates,

More than half of the present business flat-rate users can have better telephone service and at the same

Or Even Reduced Cost.

Two single line telephones with 100 calls per month each would cost only $120 a year.

A few larger users of this kind of telephone service may find their bills increased, if excessive needless messages continue.

This Is Common Fairness.

No reputable Chicago business man will declare he is not willing to pay a fair price for what telephone service he gets.

Measured service will give him more business use of his telephone for the same money.

It is fair to big and small users.

Our proposal means not only cheaper telephone service in every particular, but Better Service to Every Class of Users.

HILL CUTS MELON IN BIG ORE DEAL

SONS ACT AS TRUSTEES.

Stockholders in Railroad Are to Draw Profits Share for Share.

New York, Nov. 21.—[Special.]—The division of the $500,000,000 and more to be paid by the steel trust to the Great Northern railroad company for ore lands in the northern peninsula of Michigan has been agreed upon.

For every share of Great Northern stock the holders will receive a share of stock of the "Lake Superior company, limited," an unincorporated company, in whose name the ore lands have been held. All the stock will be placed in the hands of three sons of James J. Hill, who will divide the profits at least once a year.

Some idea of the value of the dividend which Great Northern stockholders will receive may be had from the fact that the United States Steel corporation is to pay the beneficiary 85 cents per ton for all ore mined in the first year, beginning 1907, with an increase of 3 4-10 cents per ton a year for an indefinite period. The lands are believed to contain not less than 500,000,000 tons of iron.

Cost Railroad $900,000.

The Great Northern railway had little or no direct interest in the ore lands which are thus turned over to the shareholders of that road. The vast tract in the Lake Superior iron region was acquired by Mr. Hill personally, but he always regarded the land as being held in trust for the shareholders of the road. All the money the Great Northern itself ever invested in these ore lands was about $900,000, and all this money has been returned to the Great Northern out of the proceeds of the operation of mines already located on the land.

How economically this vast estate has been handled is strikingly illustrated by the fact that the cost of administration has in no year exceeded $150. This means, of course, that the officers who have directed the handling of these ore lands, including Mr. Hill himself and his sons, have received no salaries for this work. Mr. Hill himself draws no salary, even as president of the Great Northern. The benefit he derives from his work of management of the property comes to him in the shape of his dividends as a shareholder.

Details of the Division.

Details of the share for share division are given in a circular issued by President James J. Hill today, as follows:

"To stockholders of Great Northern Railway company: Certain iron ore properties have been acquired and are now held for your benefit by the Lake Superior company, limited.

"The board of directors of your company, by resolution approved by the stockholders, has authorized and instructed the Lake Superior company, limited, to transfer the iron ore properties to Messrs. Louis W. Hill, James N. Hill, and Walter J. Hill, to be held by them in trust and for the benefit of the stockholders of the Great Northern railway company appearing as such of record at the close of business on the sixth day of December, 1906, and of their assigns.

"The entire beneficial interest of the trust to be created will consist of 1,500,000 shares, and each stockholder of this company of record on the date above named will receive from the trustees a certificate for a number of shares of beneficial interest in said trust equal to the number of shares of stock of the Great Northern Railway company held by him.

"The certificates issued by the trustees will be transferrable upon their books in the same number as stock certificates.

Dividends Every Year.

"The net proceeds and profits of the iron properties will, from time to time and at least once in each year, be distributed by the trustees to the certificate holders of record at the date of distribution.

"For the purpose of making the distribution of certificates the transfer books of this company will be closed at 3 p. m. on Dec. 6, 1906, and will be reopened at 10 o'clock a. m., Dec. 8, 1906. On or about Dec. 8, 1906, the trustees will issue and deliver to the stockholders entitled thereto temporary certificates for the number of shares of beneficial interest to which each stockholder shall be so entitled.

"Upon the surrender of such temporary certificates to the trustees at their office, 32 Nassau street, New York, on or about Jan. 15, 1907, certificates in permanent form will be issued in exchange therefor.

"By order of the board of directors.

"JAMES J. HILL."

SUE GOVERNMENT FOR DEATH?

Mother of "Poison Squad" Member Who Succumbed to Tuberculosis Threatens Action for Damages.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 21.—The death of Robert Vance Freeman, a member of the department of agriculture's first "poison squad," is likely to be followed by a suit against the government by his mother.

Young Freeman succumbed to tuberculosis after a long illness, dating from his discharge from the squad six months after he joined. When he joined the "poison squad" three years ago he was declared to be physically perfect. His mother declares the boric acid diet tests to which he was subjected weakened his system. Dr. H. W. Wiley, government food expert, calls the theory absurd.

Upon entering the "poison squad" young Freeman and other members signed an agreement absolving the government from all blame from any results that might happen. It is contended by Freeman's mother that he was not of age when he signed the paper.

H. CLAY PIERCE IS INDICTED.

President of Waters-Pierce Oil Company Accused by Texas Grand Jury of Giving False Testimony.

Austin, Tex., Nov. 21.—H. Clay Pierce, president of the Waters-Pierce Oil company, has been indicted by the grand jury here for swearing in 1900 that the Standard Oil company did not own or control any stock in his company. Recent disclosures, it is alleged, prove that he swore falsely. Mr. Pierce, it is said, has left Missouri for New York.

traffic department, but, as a matter of fact, the department is pretty powerless."

Attacks Buffalo Charges.

Mr. Hill gave an interesting story of how he happened to build a Buffalo terminal elevator, the largest in the world, costing $1,200,000.

"Along our line and up to Buffalo we were able to keep good track of grain we shipped, because it went in our own cars and in ships manned by our own crews and owned by us. But in one single instance there was reported to me a shipload which when weighed at Buffalo was 2,500 bushels short. Well, soon after that we built an elevator at Buffalo. At that time the stock of the Buffalo elevator pool was selling at 600. They charged 1¼ cents for unloading and ¼ cent for shoveling. We included, in addition, insurance, and charged for everything but ⅛ of a cent per bushel—a saving to the grain shippers of a cent a bushel. Where we handled 100,000,000 bushels a year this meant a saving of $1,000,000 a year.

"We don't own the elevator now. We told a gentleman who offered us $300,000 more for the elevator than it cost that he could have it. The elevator charge, however, is still kept down to ½ cent per bushel."

His Rate the Lowest.

"We had a complaint at Milwaukee," said one of the commissioners, "that you often upset grain rates by changes in rates on your road."

"That's an old complaint," was the reply. "We have always made a lower rate on carrying grain than any other road on the same meridian."

"Is it advantageous rates on grain that have built up Minneapolis into a great center such as it is?"

"No, sir. It is the quality of flour which has built up the great trade here in milling wheat. I know about this and am particularly interested, because I personally cut the first stencil that branded the first barrel of flour that ever left Minneapolis. In this section of the country there is obtained a quality of hard wheat containing a large amount of gluten. This is particularly advantageous to the making of patent flour."

"Mr. Hill, do you own any elevator stock whatever?"

"No, sir, I do not. I did once. When Lorsen, Fletcher, and others some years ago wanted to erect a 100,000 bushel elevator I told them the need was for one of a million bushels capacity. I agreed to take stock to aid in this. When the elevator was built and got to paying well the original parties bought out my stock.

"I want to say right here that no man in the Great Northern road can own any stock in anything along the line of the road. If he does he must leave my employ, even if he were my own son."

Suggests Some Remedies.

Mr. Hill made a plea for the better legalizing of elevator receipts given to farmers. He said they should be negotiable, made as good as bank drafts, and that thus the farmer could get a free market.

"I'd make the country elevator establish relations with the terminal elevators," said Mr. Hill. "I'd have the railroad business one thing, and the buying and selling of grain another. And I would have under the law every grain elevator a public elevator."

"Don't some people think you charge too much for freight?" asked Attorney Koon, present and representing some of the elevator interests.

"Well, I keep reducing charges," was the answer, "and I don't know as I ever heard of elevator men doing so."

"If an elevator man on the Soo road, in competition to your road, were getting more business and paying more for grain than the man operating the elevator in that district on your line, what would you do to the man on the Great Northern?" asked Mr. Koon.

"I think I'd get some sandpaper for him," was the smiling reply.

"Wouldn't you do more than that?"

"Do you favor federal inspection of grain?" asked one of the commissioners.

"Decidedly I do," replied Mr. Hill, "though the change would not affect us."

This closed the Great Northern president's examination.

Other Witnesses Examined.

B. Campbell, fourth vice president of the Great Northern, and A. J. Costello, who has direct supervision of elevator business for the Great Northern, were summoned to the witness stand, but a few moments.

P. B. Smith, president of the Minneapolis chamber of commerce and manager of the St. Anthony and Dakota Elevator company, in response to questions stated the chamber of commerce has a bureau supported by assessments which furnishes them all with statistical information about the markets. This is used to ascertain the prices which can be paid at varous stations along railroad lines where there are elevators. These prices are sent to but one elevator man at each station, and he distributes the information to the other elevator managers. This saves both telegraph tolls and time, as wiring every separate elevator would clog the wires with business.

The Whole Thing

How a Tennessee Man Looked at Coffee.

The following letter is so interesting and contains so much good hard sense about the coffee question, we publish it for our readers:

"I laughed at the idea that coffee injured me, notwithstanding the trembling hands, sallow, muddy complexion, the tired listless feeling and aversion to mental or physical effort. Also the terrible moments in the night when my heart would palpitate so violently that it seemed each moment it would wear itself out and become forever still.

"When I married, my coffee days came to an end—my good wife refused to serve it to me, placing Postum on the table instead.

"This was done over my protest. I had had experience with Postum—a straw colored liquid with an insipid taste. But the cup she set before me was not so bad, and in a way I even enjoyed it. But we had not then fully learned how to make Postum properly—by long boiling.

"Then the results came. The old heaviness after meals no longer troubled me, the heart palpitation stopped. I found more enjoyment in out-of-door exercise, and, best of all, I found myself at the office getting through my work with an ease I had never known before.

"Many persons have spoken to me about Postum in such a way as to leave no doubt they do not know how to make it. You might as well set meat or vegetables on the back of the stove and let them steep, as to prepare Postum that way.

"I say to such, 'boil it'—boil it till it has a dark, rich color and then you will have a beverage that will win and hold you." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read the famous little book, "The Road to Wellville, in pkgs. "There's a reason."

Postum is served in the cafes of the prominent dry goods houses on State street.

NEED TRACKS; NOT CARS.

EDWARD H. HARRIMAN TAKES POSITION OF JAMES J. HILL.

Says Trackage Facilities to Handle Rolling Stock Now Available Would Solve Problem of Railroad Congestion—More Elevators Are Also Necessary—He Declares Roads Are Entirely Willing to Obey New Rate Law.

Edward H. Harriman, railroad rival of James J. Hill, whose fight for the control of the Illinois Central road recently deposed Stuveysant Fish, arrived in Chicago last night from Kansas City. His train was nearly an hour late and he went directly to the Auditorium Annex. He is returning to New York from the session of the Transmississippi commercial congress, where he made a speech on the rate question. He will leave for New York this afternoon on the Twentieth Century limited.

Says He Agrees with Hill.

"What did Mr. Hill say about 115,000 miles of tracks being needed?" Mr. Harriman asked when the subject of track extension was broached. "Did he mean more lines of railway or more tracks for handling the cars?"

"Mr. Hill alone knows what he means," Mr. Harriman was told.

"Well, I guess I agree with him," said Mr. Harriman. "I think the whole problem of the cities at least lies right there. It is expensive to use a car costing $2,000 for storage purposes. We need also more elevators and tracks to handle the cars now being rushed into the cities."

He thought even 115,000 miles of that kind of trackage would not be too much.

Railroads Will Obey Rate Law.

"Are the railroads willing to obey the new rate law?" he was asked next.

"Do you mean the law that we have or the law that we are going to have?" he asked quickly. "You must not confuse the Sherman anti-trust law and the Elkins amendment with the rate law that is in control of the interstate commerce commission. These prosecutions all have been brought under the old law. Let us see how that works out before trying any more law. Yes, we are willing to obey—in the spirit and in the letter. The railroads always want to obey the law if they know what it is."

"What about San Francisco, Mr. Harriman?"

"Well, I cannot say too many kind words about San Francisco. They are too busy with reconstruction out there to think of railroads or anything else, but they are all right. That city will come out on top."

ASSAILS OKLAHOMA WHITES AS DESPOILERS OF INDIANS.

The Rev. J. W. Murrow Tells Senate Committee He Believes There Is Conspiracy to Rob Land Owners.

McAlester, I. T., Nov. 21.—There was a dramatic incident here today before the senate Indian investigation committee. The Rev. J. W. Murrow of Atoka, who is engaged in Indian educational work, addressed the committee against the removal of restrictions and in a violent speech assailed the white men of the territory as the despoilers of the Indians.

Senator Henry M. Teller of Colorado interrupted the speaker by the statement that in a short time the state government of Oklahoma could settle these questions. The Rev. Mr. Murrow broke in:

"God save the full bloods when statehood comes."

Senator C. D. Clark of Wyoming then asked:

"Mr. Murrow, do you mean to tell me that the 1,200,000 white men of Oklahoma would conspire to rob the pitiable remnant of 16,000 full bloods of their lands?"

"I do, sir," replied Mr. Murrow. "I firmly believe it."

"Well, then, I don't," replied Senator Clark. "I think better of my race and the citizens of the new state to believe any such thing."

MUST HAVE 2 THANKSGIVINGS.

Mississippi Forced to Observe Today and Next Thursday Because of a Mistake in Law.

Vicksburg, Miss., Nov. 21.—In an examination of the new Mississippi code today it was discovered that this state will have to observe two Thanksgiving days this year. The framers of the code unintentionally said Thanksgiving day should be on the fourth Thursday in November instead of the last Thursday. Consequently tomorrow will have to be observed as well as Thursday of next week, the day designated by the president.

WOMAN PULLS NET ABOUT GILLETTE.

DEFENSE SCORES POINT.

State's Witness Admits He Made Suggestion of Ride in a Rowboat.

Herkimer, N. Y., Nov. 21.—District Attorney Ward continued today to forge links in a chain of circumstantial evidence around Chester E. Gillette, who is on trial on a charge of murdering his sweetheart, Grace Brown of Cortland.

He put upon the stand Mrs. Margaret Carey of East Orange, N. J., who had gone with her husband for a row in the south bay of Big Moose lake the evening Gillette and Miss Brown set out on the journey which ended in the latter's death.

Mrs. Carey declared that she was startled by hearing a piercing scream coming from near the east shore of the bay.

"It was the cry of a person in peril," she said.

Defense Claims a Point.

Witnesses were next introduced to tell of the young couple going for a row. It was here that Gillette's counsel made much of an admission secured from Andrew Morrison, one of the state's witnesses, proprietor of the Glenmore hotel at Big Moose lake.

He stated that Gillette had told him that he and the young woman wanted to take a ride in the steamboat which plies the lake. The hotel man told Gillette that if he went by steamer he would not be able to return in time for dinner.

Morrison declared it was he who suggested that Gillette and the girl take a row. He also volunteered the information that his father, Robert Morrison, ran a boathouse nearby and would be glad to accommodate the couple. The elder Morrison later corroborated these statements.

The prosecution introduced witnesses who saw Gillette and the girl drifting along the south bay of Big Moose lake at dusk. Then came the testimony of Mrs. Carey as to the scream she had heard.

Hears High Pitched Scream.

"It was a penetrating and sharp cry of two syllables," she said. "I listened to hear if it was repeated, but it was not. It came from the direction where Grace Brown's body was found. It was high pitched."

Next were introduced witnesses who saw Gillette making his way on foot that night from Big Moose lake toward Eagle bay. The purser of the lake steamer Uncas said Gillette boarded the craft there and rowed to Arrow Head, where he spent the night at a hotel.

The defense endeavored to draw from the witnesses that Gillette's clothes had the appearance of a man who had recently fallen overboard. No one noticed him closely enough to say.

The proprietor of the Arrow Head hotel said Gillette had brought down a pair of trousers to be pressed. They apparently had been thoroughly soaked in water.

The fact that Gillette took a suit case, umbrella, camera, and tennis racquet with him in the rowboat was dwelt on by the prosecution.

and you will learn what is the "power behind the dough." In the high-class powders it is cream of tartar, extracted from clean, delicious grapes, and that is healthful. In the low-grade powders it is "phosphate alum," or "sodium aluminum sulphate," which is also alum, a mineral acid, and that makes the food unhealthful.

Of what use are twenty-five ounces for twenty-five cents, if eight of these ounces are alum?

Food baked with alum baking powders is found to contain a portion of the alum unchanged!

The continued use of alum made food impairs digestion, causing dyspepsia. When buying baking powder, examine the label and take only a brand whose label shows it to be free from alum.

Sometimes you want a very low light for night use; sometimes a medium light for early evening, and sometimes a very bright light for company. The Hylo light gives you just what you want—without unnecessary waste of current. You do not pay for 16-candle power when you need only 1-candle power. The saving is considerable in a month's bill. The effect is very attractive in use. Shaped like an ordinary incandescent lamp the Hylo fits into your fixtures just as readily. There are several styles. The "turn lamp" Hylo regulates brightness by simply turning the bulb from right to left and vice versa. The "pull-string" Hylo is provided with cords which you pull to turn down the light or put it out. For ceiling clusters, porch lanterns and others out of reach a portable switch is attached by a flexible cord, which turns the light high or low, at will. This is but one more step in the direction of economy in use of electric light. Reduced rates July 1st made another step, which was very considerable. Electric light is now decidedly economical for all purposes. It will pay you to look into the cost compared with less desirable forms of illumination.

Under the new rates you get more service for the same money or the same service for less money. Call Main 1280 for any information desired.

CLEVELAND PRODS TAMMANY'S BOSS.

BIG CROOK SMALL THIEF.

NEW YORK BUREAU CHICAGO TRIBUNE.
New York, Nov. 21.

Cleveland Scores Boss Murphy in Lauding Schurz.

Former President Grover Cleveland was the principal speaker tonight at a Carl Schurz memorial meeting. It was held in Carnegie hall and was the first public move toward a monument in honor of the dead statesman. After paying a personal testimonial to Mr. Schurz's character the former president proceeded to pay his respects to Boss Murphy and Tammany hall as conducted by him. On this point he said:

"Political organization will always be a factor in the equipment and conduct of our government, and as long as parties exist there will be party leaders.

"But every thoughtful man who loves his country ought to realize in this time of political awakening that the public welfare demands parties should be in purpose and mission something better than mere machines to serve selfishness and the ends of low and perverted partisanship.

"Nor should any fail to detect the humiliation and disgrace that attach to those who follow party leadership after it has grown to partisan dictatorship and become a thing of proprietary control, prostituted to the use of base bargaining and treacherous schemes.

"No one can know so little of partisan human nature as to suppose that an honest voter thus threatened with betrayal and disgust in his party relationship can save his political integrity by any less radical remedy than loud protest or open desertion."

In announcing the purposes of the committee Joseph H. Choate said it was intended primarily to erect a permanent memorial to Mr. Schurz in the form of a monument of bronze, either a statue or otherwise, and to locate it either in New York or Washington.

Thief of Thousands Arrested for a 45 Cent Robbery.

"If they only had me right on a decent job I wouldn't care," said Watt Jones when he was locked up with a bunch of cheap crooks at police headquarters today. "But to be pinched for frisking a drunk for 45 seeds almost breaks my heart. If I hadn't been in need of a drink I would never have attempted to touch him off."

Policeman Henry Serini caught Jones robbing a drunken man in Union Square park of 45 cents. He was discharged in court.

Jones is a noted thief. He committed robberies in the Fifth avenue and Grand Union hotels in this city back in the '80s.

In 1889 he was sent to Sing Sing for four years for robbing the Rev. Father John Tuohey of St. Patrick's cathedral, St. Louis. Afterwards he got five years in Kingston penitentiary in Canada for looting the Molesons bank of St. Thomas. He once escaped from the Ohio state prison.

When in prison in St. Louis for burglary he planned a daring jail delivery, which freed forty long term convicts, including himself. He was recaptured in Kansas City.

With a gang of western crooks headed by "Jimmy" Carroll, Jones stole $12,000 from the teller of the Farmers and Mechanics' bank in Galesburg, Ill., at the point of a revolver and got away.

Jones' latest "trick" was turned in a Chicago hotel, for which he was given a long term in Joliet prison. His time was up recently. He landed in New York flat broke.

Horse Show Crowd Goes Wild Over Entrant's Win.

An unusual demonstration of enthusiasm took place at Madison Square garden tonight when William H. Moore, with Forest King, carried off the feature event of the National Horse show by winning for the third time the Waldorf Astoria cup. So spontaneous a burst of cheers as greeted the appearance of the champion in the ring seldom has been heard before, but it was only a suggestion of the scene that followed when the expected victory was won.

To the general surprise Mr. Moore pinned his faith on his champion alone, withdrawing both Byrony and Mensella. Both of Alfred Vanderbilt's entries also were withdrawn, and except for three contestants Forest King had the ring practically to itself.

Two that had a chance with him were Reginald Vanderbilt's Bravo and J. W. Harriman's Nala. Within a minute from the judges' first action in sending the unsuccessful aspirants to the gate, Forest King won the blue, in spite of its poor behavior in the ring.

By his victory Mr. Moore wins permanent possession of a cup that for ten years has been the principal trophy of the show. Besides Forest King, only one horse has ever scored twice for the cup. This was Lord Brilliant, which won for different owners.

118th Raid on "The" Allen's Poolroom.

District Attorney Jerome raided "The" Allen's poolroom at 80 Sixth avenue this afternoon and got one prisoner, not the only "The." It was really Mr. Jerome's first blow in carrying out his threat to "break the neck of gambling in this city." The raid was made on warrants issued by Mr. Jerome after three former employés of the poolroom, one of them "The's" half brother, had testified before the grand jury under the Dowling law. As a result of their testimony two indictments were filed. One of them against Charles Bennett, 49 Grove street, who is said to be manager of the place, and who was caught in the raid and locked up in the Tombs. The man for whom the other warrant was issued was not caught. He has something to do with the management of the room. It was the 118th raid on "The" Allen's enterprises.

Trial of Thaw May Be Delayed Month or More.

It is pretty certain the trial of Harry K. Thaw for the murder of Stanford White will not be reached until some time in January, or maybe later. On motion of District Attorney Jerome the case was moved today into the Supreme court by order of Justice Greenbaum, who is sitting in the criminal branch. At the same time Mr. Jerome withdrew his application made to Judge O'Sullivan in General Sessions for a special panel of talesmen from which to draw a jury for the trial. This means it will be impossible to try Thaw before Recorder Goff in General Sessions on Dec. 3, the day fixed.

WAR NEARER IN MOROCCO.

FRANCE AND SPAIN EXPECTED TO LAND 10,000 TROOPS.

Algeciras Policy Will Be Enforced Even if Two Powers Have to Fight for It—Situation Creates Intense Anxiety in Madrid — Newspapers Blame the Government for Being Drawn Into Affair—Claim Raisuli and Kaiser Are Responsible.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

TANGIER, Nov. 21.—The situation is exceedingly serious. France and Spain have agreed to combine and force Europe's terms on Morocco, and in order to do this they may have to land troops and fight. This means another little war which will be lively and serious while it lasts, although the outcome, of course, is certain.

Uneasiness in Spain.

MADRID, Nov. 21.—Continued disorder in Morocco, the dispatch of the battleship Pelayo, the cruiser Infata Isabel, and the gunboat Maria de Molina to Tangier, and the reported intention to concentrate 5,000 troops at Cadiz to reinforce Ceuta and Melilla if necessary are causing increased anxiety to the public, a majority of whom dread being involved in another costly and inglorious enterprise.

Señor Alvarado, minister of marine, announced in the chamber of deputies today that the alarm is groundless. He added that the warships already at Tangier would be withdrawn when the Infata Isabel, the Pelayo, and the Maria de Molina arrived there. Moreover, they were only sent to insure carrying out the Algeciras agreement.

Despite this statement the anxiety has not been allayed. The warships carry 500 troops and it is stated that 500 more will shortly follow. It is also reported that France is preparing to dispatch 5,000 troops to coöperate with the Spanish forces.

Puts Blame on Kaiser.

The liberal newspapers attack the government. They urge prudence in handling the Moroccan question. The Imparcial covertly accuses a "certain powerful person in Europe," doubtless meaning Emperor William, of backing Raisuli and fomenting disturbances in Morocco.

El Liberal exclaims: "May that providence which watches over drunkards and lunatics protect us from this enterprise."

CALVE TALKS OF HER FIANCE.

Opera Singer Tells How Man She Is to Wed Lost His Sight Eleven Years Ago.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

PARIS, Nov. 21.—A contributor to the Echo de Paris, after dining with Mme. Calvé, quotes her as giving a description of her fiancée. He became blind eleven years ago. He was working in a laboratory with his brother and a foreman when a short circuited wire blinded all three. The brother subsequently died from melancholia. The foreman committed suicide. The fiancé, who then was married, lost his wife, who died of grief over her inability to restore her husband's sight. Since then he has loved only music.

The writer says the fiancé's last visit to a theater before his affliction was two days before that catastrophe. He went to the Metropolitan opera house in New York and heard Mme. Calvé sing "Carmen." He met her and said to her:

"With your voice I see again. It recreates for me a landscape of dewey valleys and dark forests."

Their marriage will take place next June. From January until April they will be on a yachting cruise in the Mediterranean. There will be an orchestra on board the yacht. The only shadow in her happiness Mme. Calvé finds, according to the writer, is a renunciation of public singing.

Mme. Calvé's performances in March, April, and May at the Opéra Comique will be her farwells to the stage. She has gone to Barcelona to embark on her mysterious fiancé's yacht.

Creditors Declare He Spent $8,200,000 in First Five Years of Marriage, Leaving $4,200,000 Unpaid.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

PARIS, Nov. 21.—At the continuation today of the suit brought by Count Boni de Castellane's creditors it was stated that during the first five years of the count's marriage $8,200,000 were spent. The income was only $4,000,000, leaving debts of $4,200,000. There remained from the funds for conducting the household thereafter only $6,000 a month to pay the whole of the earlier indebtedness. It stated that Mr. Ziegler, who managed the couple's financial affairs, had Mme. Gould's own ratification of the expenses incurred by the count. Mr. Ziegler withdrew in 1903. Thereafter the count sought other money lenders. The countess was unable to speak French fluently and consequently the count was obliged to run the household, even to the laundry lists.

TELLS LABOR BODY THUGS RULE HERE

UNION RIVALRY IS CAUSE.

Feud Between Carpenters and Woodworkers Made Text for Angry Speech.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 21.—[Special.]—Delegate A. Johnson, representing the Chicago woodworkers, created a stir in the Federation of Labor convention today by denouncing the action of the grievance committee in favoring amalgamation of woodworkers and carpenters in his city. He declared that for a year he had been forced to carry a revolver to protect himself against thugs acting for the carpenters' union.

"We will amalgamate with the carpenters," he shouted, "but we will never forget the cowardice of the executive council in their treatment of our case. The feeling of brotherhood has been assassinated."

The convention, however, decided that the amalgamation of carpenters' and woodworkers' unions in Chicago was advisable.

Protest Chinese Canal Labor.

Formal protest by resolution was made by the convention against the employment of Chinese on the isthmian canal, on the ground that such employment would violate the Chinese exclusion laws, the contract labor law, and the thirteenth amendment to the constitution.

A resolution calling for the annihilation by the labor unions of all trusts because of the general harm done by them was recommended for defeat as inexpedient.

The action of the Iowa Federation of Labor in condemning Judge Smith McPherson of the United States court for his action against striking machinists of the Santa Fé railroad was sustained by the committee, and that was also adopted by the convention.

Ask Roosevelt to Add Porto Rico.

The resolution demanding that congress recognize the people of Porto Rico as American citizens and that they be vested with all the rights as such was also passed, with the sympathy of organized labor for them in their struggle for better conditions, and a message to that effect sent to President Roosevelt.

In an appeal for funds Frank M. Ryan of the structural iron workers said 3,000 of his men were out of work at present, and that most of the men had been on strike for sixteen months. He asked for an assessment of 4 cents from each member of all bodies affiliated with the national federation. James M. Lynch, speaking for the International Typographical union, said his organization was paying out $81,000 a week in strike benefits and he did not see how his members could bear any further burden.

PLAN DRASTIC TAX ACTION

STATE BOARD MEMBERS IN ARMS OVER CAPITAL STOCK STATUS.

Penalties Will Be Assessed Against Corporations Failing to Make Reports in Order to Make an Object Lesson for Violators of Law—Condition at Present Worse than Ever Before at This Time of Year—Chairman Barnes Explains.

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 21.—[Special.]—Members of the board of equalization are up in arms over the condition of affairs disclosed Tuesday at the meeting of the capital stock committee when Chairman Barnes called attention to the absence of reports from corporations, and the difficulties attending the collection of statistics regarding the capital stock of the state.

The condition this year is worse than ever before at this time of year, and there is a general disposition to take drastic action in the matter. For some reason the large number of corporations which heretofore complied with the board's request for reports this year calmly ignored the notices sent out, and others have made reports so meager in character as to be practically valueless.

Reports Demoralizing Effect.

Chairman Barnes believes the situation is the result of attempts of the legislature to exempt certain classes of capital stock from taxation, and, erroneously, the impression is conveyed by illegal statutes that certain classes of corporations are not required to make returns. The example of a number of corporations relying on these enactments and declining to make reports, he says, has had a most demoralizing effect, for hundreds of corporations not included in these classes have been given the impression that a return is not obligatory.

Since the attorney general had told the board that it is its duty to assess mercantile corporations a few of the bigger concerns in Chicago have presented reports, but hundreds of corporations are still out, and among them are some of the important ones. Chairman Barnes has been sending notices calling attention to the law and requesting that the board be given information required, but he is disgusted with the results up to this time.

Will Inflict Penalty.

"I am loath to penalize any one where so many are ignoring their plain duty," he said, "but unless there is a better disposition shown by some of the people who ought to be interested in obeying the law I will ask the committee to inflict the penalty in instances where we can obtain the desired information on which to make a legal assessment. Of course we can't reach all cases, or even a decent percentage of them, and that is where the injustice of penalizing comes in; but if an example is not made of some of the delinquents by another year or two we will not be able to get any reports.

"There are some 15,000 corporations in Cook county alone, and only a small percentage of them have a capital stock on which taxes could be collected if they were assessed, and revenue raised from the assessment of this character would leave a delinquent list which would swamp the collector's books. Worse than this, there would be a deficiency in every fund, the tax for which would be raised upon such assessments. And what is true in Cook county is true in every county in the state. For this reason it would be folly to attempt to penalize delinquents by wholesale, and whatever is done in this direction must be done with definite information at hand. Penalties must be assessed against concerns able to pay them."

PEARY'S PROGRESS.

Commander Peary is returning to America after reaching 87 degrees 6 minutes north latitude. If his year and a half of exploration has proved anything it is that both the arctic continent and a frozen polar sea over which travel is possible are myths. The north pole will not be reached overland. A vessel to reach the pole will have to be much stronger than any which has yet attempted the passage of the floes.

After going as far north as he could with his ship, the Roosevelt, Peary advanced over the ice. His passage was not quite the same as that of Eliza across the Ohio river in "Uncle Tom's Cabin." Instead of running and jumping from one cake of ice to another he traveled on ice fields extensive enough to hold an igloo or ice house in which he might rest for a day or two. But there was always the same danger that the ice might break or that the interval between successive cakes might be too great to cross. The ice was in constant motion, and the party had to be on the alert to take advantage of the approach of other floes. Sometimes they had to pass several days on one cake before another approached near enough for them to leap across, or until new ice forming in the still water between made a bridge on which they could cross.

It has been predicted that the development of the automobile meant the discovery of the north pole. Commander Peary's experience proves this hope false. No automobile could have crossed the ice fields north of Greenland. There is no land there with smooth ice over it. There is not the solid expanse of a frozen sea. There are simply large and small cakes of ice on a tossing sea. An automobile would have been as useless to Peary as an elephant or a camel.

No vessel but the Roosevelt, in the commander's opinion, could have stood the squeezing and buffeting to which that vessel was subjected, but not even the Roosevelt could have forced a passage through the fields of ice over which Peary and his party tramped. Over the ice or through the ice, the way seems equally impracticable.

Unless the pole is to be reached in the way indicated by the unfortunate Andrée, it would seem that the next expedition should attempt the dash for the pole in midwinter instead of waiting for spring. When the sun has been hidden for two or three months and the cold is greatest it may be that an unbroken path of ice exists from the northernmost land to the pole. It is not a pleasant time for traveling, but arctic exploration is not a pleasure device. Certainly it would seem to be proved that the pole will never be reached in summer except perhaps through the air.

UNREST IN THE ARMY.

A retired field officer has expressed his belief that four-fifths of the field officers of the line would retire today if they could "because of the unrest and unhappiness in the army." Such general unhappiness and unrest would seem to argue a variety of causes; no special reason can be given why the life of the officer in the army has lost its attractiveness to so great a majority of those who lead it.

In a time of peace, with not a speck of war cloud anywhere in sight, when promotions are slow and advancement is apparently hopeless; in a time of great commercial prosperity when fortunes seem to be easily made and when millionaires are as abundant as the well to do men of a few years ago, it is perhaps not surprising that the officer on small pay is dissatisfied with his lot and believes that all he needs is the opportunity to jump into a fortune. It is true also that an officer with social qualities has many friends among the civilians who are ready to assist him in any business longings and to encourage him to change his life. More than this, there are not a few men in the army whose training and qualifications attract the attention of corporations and business men, and whose services are eagerly snapped up whenever an opportunity to profit by this training presents itself. Such men seem, therefore, to have an incentive to leave the army.

On the other hand, there are those who should wisely let well enough alone. If there are hundreds or thousands of millionaires and men who are apparently on the safe road to wealth, there are also thousands of those who have fallen miserably by the wayside. Though a man may serve faithfully and creditably in the army, it does not follow that he may leave at any time and acquire millions. Indeed, the converse of the proposition is more likely to be the truer. The army has its advantages even in time of peace. The living is assured and the pay is regular. Further than this, the officer who conforms to regulations knows that he has no worry for the future, and that his reasonably grateful country will support him though he lives many years after the period of retirement. If his pay is not large it is at least adequate for his support, and an officer of the army, who is also a gentleman, has a dignified standing in society that is not without its compensatory value.

Doubtless the wave of commercial prosperity and the continued assertion of so many "business chances" have not a little to do with such unrest and unhappiness as have been specified. But it is probable that the retired officer quoted has overstated his case and that no such general dissatisfaction prevails. Uncle Sam is not a grinding taskmaster, and his servants are always sure of their money.

SOUTH AMERICAN TRADE.

Secretary Root has returned from South America with a higher idea of the possibilities of that continent as a market for American producers. He looks forward to the time when its vast expanses of cultivable land, now barely inhabited, will be occupied by industrious millions of producers and consumers. Europe is overcrowded, and will continue to send out swarms of emigrants. In the near future an increasing number of them will seek homes in South America, fill up the vacant places, and develop the almost untouched natural resources of the continent. Revolutions are becoming infrequent. The merchant and the farmer are being held in higher and the general in lower esteem. Immigrants and capital can look for peace and security where both were almost unknown.

This is the happy time, in Secretary Root's opinion, for Americans to reach out for a larger share of South American trade and put themselves in a position to secure a liberal proportion of the vastly greater trade of the future. The secretary reiterates the sound advice which American consuls have been giving for years. He urges the American business man to consult the special requirements of South American customers and to offer them the kind of goods they want instead of the kind of goods the manufacturer thinks they ought to want. He advises them to change in many respects their methods of marketing goods.

If these various suggestions had been acted on years ago South America would now be a much more liberal consumer of American products. The business men of this country have not followed the advice because they did not think it worth while. They preferred to cultivate the nearer and more profitable home market or to extend their trade in Europe. They have met with great success across the Atlantic, often in spite of hostile tariffs. They would have met with almost equal success in South America if they had put their minds to it. Private enterprise is the father of trade, and that enterprise has been lacking as regards the South American market.

Whenever it pleases American manufacturers to let the South American consumers know that they can supply at a reasonable price articles of as good quality as or of better quality than those made by European competitors, and can also supply many useful articles which cannot be obtained in Europe, the South Americans will take heed. When one side is ready to buy and the other to sell, ships will not be lacking to transport the goods. When there is freight to be carried tramp ships will be ready to take it. If there is any likelihood of continued traffic regular lines will be established. Such lines do not make trade, but are made by it.

Secretary Root is in favor of the bill now before congress which provides for giving subsidies to lines to run between the United States and various South American ports. He says that if the producing and commercial interests of the country desire to enlarge their trade with South America they will support the bill. But if they shall try as hard to get trade in South America as they have tried in Europe and the orient, the trade will be forthcoming, though there be no subsidized lines, and the government and the people will escape the payment of subsidies.

JURY REFORM.

The task of getting a jury in the Shea trial was begun Sept. 13. It has not been completed, although several thousand men have been examined as to their qualifications. In a community with a respectable jury system the necessary twelve men would have been obtained in a day and the trial would have been over long ago. The defendants or the persons who provide them with funds would have had much smaller lawyer's bills, and the county would have been richer by several thousand dollars. It would not have had to pay juror fees to a small army of men who were brought into court only to be questioned and dismissed.

The proceedings in the Shea case are a travesty on law, calculated to bring the administration of justice into contempt. They have attracted the angry attention of local legal organizations, and they have determined to make an effort for jury reform. They have drafted a bill for submission to the legislature. In the words of one of the able lawyers who got it up, if adopted it undoubtedly will expedite not only the trial of big criminal cases but also the trial of important civil suits.

It was a wise precaution to use the words "if adopted." Lawyers have in the past gone to the general assembly with well matured and unobjectionable projects for jury reform only to return home with their hopes dashed. They were baffled by the indifference of country members who listened with unconcern to the narrative of evils which in their communities are unknown. They saw no reason for changing the jury law to oblige Chicago. The reformers had to listen to men calling themselves lawyers who protested in behalf of indicted innocence against changes which they said might possibly result in the conviction of a man who was not guilty. They argued that it was the duty of the law to do everything for the indicted man and nothing for the community which had suffered through him.

These are the obstacles which will be encountered next year when a renewed attempt is made to secure some measure of jury reform. There will be the same indifference among the country members. There will be among the representatives of Cook county lawyers who will be likely to insist that the decayed and ineffective jury system which prevails here shall not be "tampered with" and the constitutional guarantees of a fair trial be impaired by making it easier for the state to convict a guilty man.

But the effort is worth the making. The farcical Shea trial may have converted many who have hitherto been of the opinion that it is possible to hobble along with an unreformed jury law. The next general assembly should be given an opportunity to vote on the question. It may hesitate to vote that a system under which it takes ten weeks to get ten jurors is a credit to the state and should not be modified.

REMEMBERING A PATRIOT.

A short telegram from Edenton, N. C., announces that the body of James Wilson, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence, has been disinterred and will be sent to Philadelphia for reinterment in Christ church burial ground. Behind this statement lies the story of a long and valuable life.

James Wilson came to Pennsylvania from Scotland when he was barely twenty-one years of age. He studied law, was admitted to the bar, and rose rapidly and brilliantly. In January, 1775, he was elected to the continental congress, and was thereafter a prominent figure. He was among the first signers of the Declaration of Independence. His most eminent gifts were those of the advocate, and he long stood at the head of the Philadelphia bar, distinguished hardly more for his legal attainments than for his wide range of learning. His talents kept him prominently in public life; he served several terms in congress, and in 1789 he was appointed by President Washington as one of the first justices of the Supreme court. This position he occupied at the time of his death in 1798. Of minor offices and honors he possessed a score, and at every opportunity his abilities were recognized and his services were secured.

Late in life he fell into financial difficulties through land speculations, and as debt was a cause for imprisonment in those days Mr. Wilson was obliged in self-defense to exile himself from Pennsylvania. In this emergency he exchanged circuits with his colleague, Justice Iredell of North Carolina, and, making his home at Edenton, died there, as his biographer relates, "still fearing prosecution and pursuit." And now, more than a hundred years after his death, the commonwealth which was honored by his residence and his reputation makes tardy reparation for the trouble put upon him by an onerous and inexorable law. It would seem that thirty years ago, while Philadelphia and the country were celebrating the centenary of independence, it might have occurred to Pennsylvania to bring back in honor to its soil the body of the man who had fearlessly pledged his services and his life to secure that independence. Republics are not always ungrateful, but they are frequently dilatory.

STILL, Teamster Shea will have been worth something to Chicago if his trial results in bringing about a reform in the jury system.

THE movement for the immediate retirement of Senator Platt still lacks the concurrence of Mr. Platt. Otherwise it is practically unanimous.

VOICING the popular indignation against the racket and rumble made by the elevated trains on the loop seems, so far as achieving results is concerned, to be another of those useless noises.

ARTISTIC Germany is in a state of mind over the arrest of Caruso, and alleges that "America is a land of barbarians, who do not appreciate art and cannot comprehend high souled artists." Here is an opportunity for Prof. Burgess to rise and assert that the prejudice of American women against being pinched and pawed over by playful strangers is not yet obsolete.

THE street cars may be filled with bacteria, as the microscopists aver, but the man who has succeeded in getting one foot on a car step and is fighting desperately to reach the comparative security of the front or rear platform is unable to see how there can possibly be any room for them.

IN A MINOR KEY.

Hampered.

Mrs. Jenner Lee Ondego—"Have you ever tried to establish friendly relations with those pale, overworked salesgirls in the big stores?"

Mrs. Selldom-Holme—"O, yes; especially the girls at the bargain counters. I've tried to get close to them many and many a time, but the crush is always too great for a little woman like me."

Obvious Explanation.

"I find it difficult to grasp some of your idioms," said the scholarly looking man with the spectacles and the slightly foreign accent. "For example, I tendered to a cab driver this morning a coin which I supposed was the legal fee. He looked at it and said it was shy about one-half. What did he mean by 'shy'?"

"He meant that you had offered him too modest a sum," said the native.

"O, I see."

Sounded Convincing.

The editor was criticising the poem just brought in by the literary contributor.

"You speak of the 'spirit of the forest,'" he said. "Do you think there is such a thing as a forest spirit, as distinguished from any other kind?"

"Yes, sir!" fiercely responded the literary contributor. "Didn't you ever hear of such a thing as wood alcohol?"

Quite the Opposite.

"You are of European extraction, are you not?" asked the hotel reporter.

"N—no," hesitatingly answered the new arrival, a radical reformer, who had left the shores of the old world in some haste. "I am of European—er—propulsion."

Disastrous Failure.

The stocky, red haired man with the Galway whiskers had been run in on a charge of too much conviviality and boisterous conduct.

"Bprisoner," said Police Justice Wachenheimer, "vot is your name?"

LETTER OF MARQUISE DE FONTENOY

Copyright: 1906: By the Marquise de Fontenoy.

It is difficult to believe the story which comes from Paris to the effect that the correspondence between Gambetta and Mme. Leon, comprising about 2,000 or 3,000 letters, is about to be published. That correspondence is in the hands either of Mme. Leon or of the son whom she bore to Gambetta, and whose education was an object of so much solicitude on his part. Mme. Leon manifested such an amount of unselfishness and delicacy in concealing her relations with the popular tribune during his lifetime that it is inconceivable that she should be willing to lay bare to the public letters which he wrote for her alone. She had every temptation during his lifetime to allow her intimacy with him to become known. There were several other women, of considerable social prominence, who owed their importance as factors in the official and political world to the influence which they claimed to exercise over Gambetta by their alleged possession of his affections.

It is doubtful whether Mme. Adam would ever have been able to play the rôle which she did in Paris had she not posed as the Egeria of Gambetta. On the banks of the Seine and among many of her countrymen, this fiction found belief. But the foreign embassies in the French capital were better informed, and while they suspected the existence of some romance in the life of France's most powerful and most popular statesman, they were convinced that Mme. Adam was not its object, and consequently when she visited St. Petersburg and Vienna she found the doors of all the leading people closed against her, her humiliation being completed by the manner in which she was ignored by court and government.

Mme. Leon resisted all temptations to boast that she alone swayed the heart and the actions of Gambetta and to expose his alleged fair friends as mere impostors. Never was there an affaire du cœur conducted with so much secrecy and discretion as that of Mme. Leon and of Gambetta. His closest friends, the people who frequented his house day by day, never caught a glimpse of her, and while they may have suspected her existence, at any rate never knew anything definite or even met her, until his death. In fact, the romance remained a secret to every one, even to his cronies, until it was brought to light by the tragedy which resulted in the premature termination of his career.

That tragedy resulted from his efforts to prevent Mme. Leon from doing injury to herself with a revolver. In endeavoring to wrest the weapon from her, it went off accidentally, inflicting upon him a fatal wound. If she had been anxious to kill herself, it was because she had become convinced that she was an obstacle to the attainment of the culmination of his career—namely: the presidency of the republic. It was on this account, too, that she had refused to comply with his persistent demands to permit him to legalize their relations by marriage. That, indeed, was the one subject of discord between them. She realized that if he married her the attainment of the dignity of chief magistrate would be beyond his reach. He, on the other hand, was unwilling to subject the woman to whom he was so deeply devoted to the equivocal position resulting from their romance, and wished to sacrifice his political ambitions and prospects rather than to take advantage of her self-abnegation.

Under the circumstances it is incredible that Mme. Leon should be a party to the publication of the letters written to her, and for herself alone, by Gambetta, and that she should depart at this stage of her life from the unselfishness and the discretion which she displayed throughout the fourteen or fifteen years of her romance with the statesman, who still today, near a quarter of a century after his death, retains a stronger hold on the affection of his countrymen than any of the leading personages of the third republic.

Lord de Blaquiere, who is now in Canada, visiting not only the kinsfolk of his wife, a daughter of George Desbarats of Montreal, but also that branch of his own family which has been established in the dominion for near a hundred years, may be said to owe his peerage to the conviviality of his great-grandfather. The latter, after being relieved of the secretaryship for Ireland, remained on at Dublin; first as a speculator in political corruption, and then as one of the agents employed by Lord Castlereagh and his colleagues to bring about the act of union between England and Ireland.

John de Blaquiere, as he was then, at a dinner party given by Lord Castlereagh, organized with the sanction of that nobleman a scheme whereby thirty or forty members of the Irish house of commons should, until the act passed, always dine together in one of the committee rooms so as to be ever on hand for any emergency that might arise. This combination developed into a fighting confederacy, each member of which was pledged to pick a quarrel or fight a duel with some anti-unionist.

After the act of union had been passed, largely through the instrumentality of John de Blaquiere, he was, by way of reward, nominated by Lord Cornwallis and Lord Castlereagh for an Irish peerage, Lord Cornwallis' written recommendation to the king running as follows: "For having kept the friends of the union together by his great conviviality."

Lord de Blaquiere would, according to Lord Castlereagh, have been entitled to an English peerage as well, but preferred "more substantial rewards." These, according to the editor of "The Life and Correspondence of Lord Cornwallis," consisted in a pension of $10,000 per annum and the hereditary sinecure office of great alnager of Ireland, which in those days carried with it a salary of $18,000, but is now purely honorary.

For those who may not know the meaning of this title I may mention that the great alnager was the official at the head of the department intrusted with the task of the government inspection and measurement of textile manufactures, for the purpose of determining the quality and of estimating the duty thereon. For until about seventy or eighty years ago the English government imposed heavy duties upon Irish manufacturers in order to handicap them in their competition with English industries. The word "alnager" comes from the French word "aulne," which stands for the English measure, "ell." The process of measurement, according to old French, was "aulnage," which the English corrupted into "alnage," whence the title of "great alnager" of Ireland still held to this day by the Lords de Blaquiere.

The De Blaquieres are of noble French origin, and emigrated to England with other Huguenots at the time of the revocation of the edict of Nantes. One of the sons of the first lord settled in Canada, where he died as chancellor of the University of Toronto. It is from him that the present Lord de Blaquiere is descended. He is a man of about 50 years of age.

Attention has lately been drawn to the extraordinary fate of a daughter of the young pretender. It seems that the unfortunate Stuart prince during his brief and meteoric stay in Edinburgh became infatuated with Meg Walkinshaw, who followed him to France, and bore him there a daughter. The latter grew up into a beautiful woman. But for some reason or another the Jacobites in France looked upon her with profound suspicion, believing that she acted as a spy on their movements in behalf of the British government. Accordingly, it was decided to kidnap her and get her out of the country.

She was in some way or another got on board a whaler at Dunkirk, and carried off to one of the islands to the south of New Zealand, known as Campbell island, where she was marooned. Carrick, in his book of "New Zealand's Lone Lands," and Sir James Ross in his account of his antarctic expedition of 1840, allude to her. The remains of her humble dwelling are still in existence, and around it are masses of real highland heather, found nowhere else in that part of the world, and the purple blooms of which, wet with antarctic rains, are as fair as though growing on the braes of Ben Lomond.

The woman died there all alone at an advanced age, since which time the island has been entirely uninhabited. What a theme for a novelist!

Way of Fate.

Talk about fate's irony! Down in Newark, O., a man lived to the advanced age of 106 years. He never had a sick day in his life that amounted to anything, and at his remarkably advanced age he was active and in good spirits. Then a horse with absolutely no sense of the eternal fitness of things kicked him to death.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

NEWS OF THE THEATERS.

Burton Holmes on the Nile.

"The journey up the Nile is like a mirage come true," was the happy way in which Burton Holmes last evening prefaced his lecture descriptive of the trip he took last winter up the historic river. He went as far as the second cataract, and thus made what he declared was the longest voyage possible on any one river in the world, in that it covered not only a distance of 1,000 miles, but carried the traveler back through full 6,000 years of history and legend. And on that trip were viewed all the "impossible things made possible" which a mirage promises, but which in that deception of the desert never can be made possible.

Into this history dreamland he took his audience last evening, and the start of the lecture promised much. There was spirit and enthusiasm, and the hearer felt that Mr. Holmes himself was genuinely keen on the telling of what he had seen and heard during his Nile wanderings.

But before the evening was ended the hearer was just a shade resentful. For Mr. Holmes by actual statement as well as implication had questioned that hearer's sincerity and interest. He doubted the hearer's caring to know of the temples, the tombs, and the countless wonderful historic ruins which crowd the banks of the cradle of civilization. He seemed to fear that he might bore those who listened, and therefore, instead of giving in reasonable detail some of the great sights of the trip, he contented himself with showing little save the purely superficial and touristy side of the journey.

All that he did offer is entertaining enough in its way—it is pleasant to have the seventeen servants of the yacht "Nemo" pass in review, and to see natives tugging at a boat to get it off a sandbar—but there is so much else in Egypt that is of real interest that it seems a pity to spend time on such purely ephemeral and commonplace incidents.

It is a decided question if the 2,000 people who assemble to listen to Mr. Holmes every time he lectures here in Chicago are not serious minded enough and also earnest enough in their admiration for him to wish to hear something of the history, the significance, and the character of such objects as the great ruins of the Nile. It would, of course, be undesirable to have a scientific technical dissertation on archeology and Egyptology, but some of the interesting facts connected with these subjects certainly would be acceptable to the great majority of the auditors.

But Mr. Holmes preferred not to enter save in the most cursory manner into this phase of Nile travel, and therefore the first half of the lecture last evening was merely entertaining through showing how the average sightseer "does" the Nile without seeing anything that is of special significance or of educational value. The latter half gave more of the temples and tombs, but these were passed in hasty review, as though the fear of boring the hearer was constantly present in the speaker's mind.

Mr. Holmes started with Cairo and showed a fine picture of the museum there, a place to which he returned several times during the evening to put before his fellow traveler some object which had been found in the town then being visited, but which had been sent to the museum for exhibition and preservation. The pyramids and sphinx came next, and an excellent motion picture of the climb up and down one of the former gave a clear idea of what a laborious task that climb represents. A view inside the Great Pyramid was given, and then came the visit to Sakkara, to Memphis, and to the fallen statue of Rameses.

The arrangements for the trip by yacht up the Nile were next made clear, and motion pictures showed the sights on the banks, as everything from the fast excursion boat to a train of camels and donkeys overtook and passed that pleasure craft, which rejoiced in an average speed of two and one-half miles an hour. Difficulties getting off a sandbar were amusingly presented by the bioscope, the means by which water is taken from the river to the farm lands behind the banks were similarly made vivid, and the natives' constant cry for "bakshish" was almost audible in the motion picture of crowding, shoving beggars.

The second half of the lecture began at Luxor and included glimpses of more temples and buildings. Among the great places visited were Karnak, Thebes, the Tombs of the Kings, Edfu, Assuan, beautiful Philae, and the Rock Temple of Rameses. Three interesting and impressive pictures of the mummies of Rameses and Seti were included among the still pictures, the sunlight touching the profile of Rameses in the Rock Temple was another especially beautiful illustration—equal in effectiveness to the splendid one of the face of the Sphinx shown earlier in the evening—and among the motion pictures which were particularly good were the one of the waters of the Nile rushing through the great dam at Assuan and the panorama of Philae, although the use of the blue color on the latter detracted from its beauty. A "crazy" picture of the "Nemo" passing through the canal locks was amusing, and the telephoto pictures of the statues at the Rock Temple were of value.

The same travelogue will be repeated tomorrow night and Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Mansfield has changed his répertoire for next week slightly. He will play "A Parisian Romance" on Friday evening instead of "The Scarlet Letter," which was announced.

ABOLISH HIGH SCHOOL CLUBS.

Chicago, Nov. 19.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I wish to commend the earnest way in which THE TRIBUNE, as well as other newspapers in Chicago and elsewhere, is taking up the question of doing away with grammar school and high school "fraternities" and "sororities." The writer is a fraternity man, and a strong believer in the usefulness of fraternity organizations of the right kind in colleges and universities.

A good, well governed college fraternity is often the means of developing and assisting the mental, moral, and social standing of a youth, away from home influence. Most college boys are away from home, and it is under these circumstances that the fraternity has an opportunity of doing good, of having an object, a reason for existence. There is no such reason for the existence of a grammar school or high school "fraternity." The aims and objects of the real fraternity are completely lost in the high school club, and they serve only as a most harmful institution as far as the members are concerned, and to throw discredit on the usefulness of the college fraternity.

I trust that the high school "fraternity" and "sorority" will be abolished, but in doing so that it will not be necessary to discredit the good in college fraternities in the eyes of the younger students and their parents. There is a difference and a reason for the difference which should be made clear.

As to Railroad Whistles.

[From the Haverhill (Mass.) Gazette.]

There is a lot of agitation concerning "unnecessary whistling" on railroad lines, and the railroad commissioners have exercised the power which they have to abrogate the law requiring whistling at crossings in many places where complaint has been made and where there is a crossing tender. There is a chance, however, of the reform going too far, whatever may have been the abuse.

Not every crossing is sufficiently protected, even with a crossing tender, and the warning whistle prior to the approach of the train is desirable not only for the person who is at the crossing and can be readily stopped by the flagman or the gate, but also for the person who is approaching the crossing and is possibly deprived of a clear view of the guard and cannot be so easily stopped. Not many engineers toot their whistles for the fun of it or because they like additional noise, and railroad regulations are not framed for the purpose of making a noisy advertisement of their lines.

The whistles are for public safety, and this is still entitled to as much consideration as are the sensitive ears of those who are complaining because they are disturbed by the noise.

"HOW I WAS BUNKOED." By the Victims.

Tribune Readers Tell of the Ways in Which They Were Flimflammed Out of Their Savings.

In response to the request of THE TRIBUNE hundreds of readers have sent in accounts of the ways in which they have been bunkoed. The series of personal experiences is full of human interest and tragedy, and gives warnings by which others may profit.

Pays High for Some Books—but No Job.

WANTED—Country boys to work in the city. A great opportunity. A chance to reach the pinnacle of fame. We are in the field to offer good paying positions to country bred boys. Boys who have ambition. Young men, this is your chance in a lifetime. Send 2 cent stamp for full particulars." Several years ago this advertisement caught my eye. I was one of those green, loose jointed country boys, 20 years of age, with a great desire to live and make my fortune in the city. My ambition was to become a great factor, a great power among men. I had had dreams of sitting upon a throne of gold, with the whole world looking up to me, until I suddenly fell back to the barnyard at 5:30 a. m. among the cows, back to the field of labor.

I studied the matter over carefully and finally came to the conclusion that this was really the opportunity of a lifetime. So, hiding myself away in my room one evening, I answered the advertisement. A day or so following my father and I drove to town, with the precious letter carefully hid away in the inner pocket of my coat, lest my dad would find it out and put a stop to my sending it. The letter was safely mailed, and I waited patiently for several days for the answer. Finally it came, and, with trembling hands, and eagerness brimming out all over me, I opened "the pathway to fortune." This is what it said:

"Dear Sir: No doubt you have wondered why we have not answered your letter sooner. It has taken us some time to find out if you were really in earnest when you answered our advertisement. We have written to your friends and neighbors and, having received satisfactory references as to your honesty and ability, we have finally come to the conclusion, after much consideration, that you are the young man we want. We are in a position to offer you a situation as head foreman in our bindery department at a salary of $1,000 per year."

My breath had left my body. I looked, but could not see. With trembling hands I tried to brush the heaps of gold from my eyes so that I might continue this wonderful letter. At last my fortune was within my grasp. My dreams would be realized. I read on:

"But first you must prove yourself to us. You must remove the smallest chance for a doubt by doing a little work on the side, selling among your friends and neighbors our wonderful book. This book we will sell to you for the small price of $1, to be sold to your friends for $1.50, leaving you a nice little profit, and also proving your worth and ability to us. We suggest that you order six sets, four books in a set, making a total of $24. After you have sold the entire number, we will then give you the position which we mentioned above, and in addition pay your traveling expenses to the city."

Loses His Cash in a Hospital Deal.

ABOUT two years ago while a church hospital on the northwest side was about half finished a lack of funds caused a halt. At that time a man came to my house who said he was to be one of the doctors of the hospital, and was appointed by a committee to raise enough funds to finish the building. I was in the grocery business then, and after showing me all the plans and his contract for carrying out the same he gave me to understand that for $200 he could give me a contract to supply the necessary grocery supplies for the hospital.

After going over everything I visited the hospital and found the building as he had described it. Then I visited the pastor of the church, but he was out of the city at that time and I was informed he would not be back for several days. I looked up the rest of the committee and found the doctor was appointed by them.

I gave him the amount we agreed upon, and everything went on for a week when I heard that the preacher had returned. I visited him the next day, and when I told him all about the contract he laughed at me and told me it was true the hospital was stopped on account of insufficient funds, but that he just raised the funds within the last few days by selling some of his property in the north.

I ARRIVED in Chicago at 11 a. m. from the west. I was a young man and came here to make this my home. I had $1,800 which constituted my earthly effects. I was warned before I came to be careful of my money. I went to the old Matteson house and got my dinner. I asked the clerk to refer me to a good substantial bank. He gave me the name of the First National, State and Washington streets.

I went in and presented my $1,800 in New York drafts to Mr. Gage, the cashier. He told me I would have to identify myself before I could open an account. I told him I was a total stranger.

He told me of a man in the banking business on another street who came from the same town I came from. I remembered the man and I also knew that a wealthy man was interested with him. I was directed by Mr. Gage to go to this banker, have him identify me, and then I could open my account.

I went to see him. He was glad to see me, but said: "Why not leave your money with us? We will give you 6 per cent." I left it. Ten days later Chicago was wiped out by fire and my banker skipped to Canada.

It turned out later to my discomfort that the wealthy partner had withdrawn from the firm only a short time before my arrival. I could never blame Mr. Gage. He tried afterwards to help me get it back, but it was no go. L. H. O.

Circus Man's Experience in Mexico.

IN the winter of 1884-'85 I was engaged to appear in a cirque in the City of Mexico in my professional capacity as an acrobat and gymnast. Having filled a previous engagement successfully I became a bit conceited, and shortly after my arrival I joined other performers and employés in a general "kick" on the business methods of our employers, ending in a "strike."

In our crowd was an American who was a pseudo manager and all round thinker, on circus lots, and when the eleven performers, of whom I was one, canceled our engagements he instantly became active. He proposed the organization of a stock company to play the villages and capitals of the states south of the Mexican metropolis.

We fell for it and contributed our savings and services to the enterprise. He was duly chosen general manager and he put up about $300 Mexican money, the rest of us in the neighborhood of $3,000.

Five disgruntled Mexican performers, one of whom now resides in Chicago, and a French knife thrower joined our organization. We perfected the deal and put on the first show at Pueblo, and played there a week to a good business. In the meantime a sufficient number of ox carts and procured burros were rigged up to convey the outfit, and we were soon moving to the coffee country.

All this time our manager handled the coin and some of us became restless and suggested that we cut it up when we got to Venta Chicapa, a good sized town near the gulf of Tehuantepec, whence we could send our money to the United States via steamer and San Francisco.

We camped one night by the side of a stream. When we awoke in the morning we found our burros and oxen dead, with their throats cut and our manager, three Mexicans, and an American were missing, as was also the contents of the strong box in the ticket wagon.

We were over twenty miles from Venta Chicapa, and it was long after nightfall when we dragged ourselves and our baggage up to the gates, where we lay down until daylight.

We "mountebanked" the town for several days and then divided into squads of two and three and "mountebanked" our way back to the City of Mexico, and thence to the United States.

It was a tough trip, and it hardened several members of the company to a sense of distrust of managers that they never outlived. B. L. B.

His Money Vanishes in Partnership Bank.

I LOST my money in a bank, not a savings bank, although they paid 3 per cent interest on time deposits, but a partnership bank, the oldest and most time honored institution in our little city.

My father had failed in business and I, a young man, started in the hotel business under adverse circumstances. By working early and late, by paying strict attention to business, in three years I had paid $2,000 of indebtedness and deposited in the bank $1,800. My business was doing fairly well and I considered myself a fortunate young man.

One morning some one told me the bank had closed. I went downtown and found the rumor true, but the bank had reopened and was doing business as usual. I consulted friends about withdrawing my funds from the bank. Nearly all advised me to stick—and so I stuck after a consultation with the cashier, in which he convinced me that the bank was as solid as Gibraltar.

A few weeks more and the door of the bank closed to open no more. I deposited money on Saturday night (the bank kept open Saturday nights to rake in the earnings of the working people). On Monday the bank was closed. That was seven months ago and there has been no dividend to the depositors, nor are any of the thieving officers in the penitentiary.

Creditors seeing me without money tried to foreclose a mortgage to get hold of my property cheap. License and taxes were due, grocery and meat bills likewise, and I had only $50 to meet these bills.

I did not lose my head on account of the failure. I found a man with money, paid the old mortgage, and made a new one on better terms. I staved off my little creditors for a couple of months and now have them all paid. E. F. D.

Taken In by a Fake Sale in a Flat.

I HAD been in Chicago just one year and was about to get married when I read the advertisement of the sale of the furniture of a five room flat. I went to the given address and found the owner. The rooms were well furnished and the prices reasonable. It did not take me long to decide on certain pieces. However, I was not willing to make a payment on them before my future wife, who was not with me, had seen the articles. But that did not suit the owner, and pointing to several other prospective buyers who had arrived, he demanded a deposit of $25. I finally agreed to make a $10 deposit and promised to take away the furniture the next day at 3 p. m. I also ordered a furniture wagon to meet me at that time.

When I rang the bell at 3 o'clock the next afternoon no one answered. I patiently waited in the hall, when a woman appeared, who rang the same bell. A third person came, and finally we three began talking.

I said I had come to take away a dining room table I bought the day before.

"A dining room table?" the woman asked. "I also bought one here yesterday and made a deposit on it," and to our surprise the third party stated: "I bought a table here, too, yesterday."

Then we realized that we all bought the same table. There was no more use for us to wait. Neighbors told us that the people who had lived there had packed up the night before and left after dark for parts unknown. G. F. B.

DR. HENROTIN STRICKEN: HAS CHANCE OF RECOVERY.

Dr. Fernand Henrotin, the surgeon, has suffered another attack of heart disease, and is critically ill at his home, 353 La Salle avenue. It was stated last night by Dr. Robert B. Preble, the attending physician, that while his patient's condition was serious he had a chance for recovery.

This attack is the second Dr. Henrotin has suffered. It followed a siege of the grip. Last Friday he performed several operations and went to his farm near Norwood Park to spend Sunday. He came back on Monday and has been in bed since then. A consultation was held yesterday between Dr. Preble, Dr. Robert H. Babcock, and Dr. Frank Billings.

Dr. Henrotin is connected with several of the hospitals in the city and is president of the Policlinic hospital, which is just completing a new building in La Salle avenue. He has been connected with this institution from the first, and it was largely due to his efforts that it was founded and that the new structure was undertaken.

PACKERS TO EXHIBIT METHODS

Foreign and American Firms Will Demonstrate in Detail Inside Workings of Packing Houses.

The National Packers' Exposition company has been organized by a number of Chicago business men to vindicate packing house products and methods. The association has planned a traveling exposition to visit Chicago, New York, Pittsburg, Philadelphia, and Kansas City in turn, and to show working exhibits of the details of the packing industry. In connection with the exhibits daily lectures by eminent authorities will be given.

The plan of the exposition is international in scope. Foreign packers and the United States government, through the department of agriculture, will be invited to make exhibits. The first exposition will be held in Chicago at the Coliseum during the first two weeks of May.

BARTZEN AND THE COUNCIL PREPARING FOR A CLASH.

Mayor Choosing Investigating Committee and Commissioner Hustling for Evidence of Aldermanic Graft.

Mayor Dunne said last night that he has decided on a majority of the committee he will appoint to investigate Building Commissioner Bartzen's graft charge against aldermen. As soon as the remaining members have been selected the mayor will announce the appointments.

Bartzen spent a busy day in consultation with citizens who, he declared, will supply hitherto undiscovered information concerning the grafting proclivities of certain aldermen.

"Since the council decided to investigate my charges," said the commissioner, "the information which I possessed already has been added to by the voluntary contributions of others. People have come to my office daily and to my home evenings to tell me of aldermen whom they have caught grafting. I shall have some interesting facts to submit."

E. H. MACOY DEAD; SEEK CAUSE.

Autopsy Held, but Family Denies Any Mystery and Explains Reason for Examination.

Rumors of a mystery in connection with the death of Eugene H. Macoy, wealthy printer and theatrical promoter and noted game cock fancier, circulated yesterday when it was learned that a post-mortem examination had been made.

Members of the family explained, however, that the examination was due to the fact that the physicians in attendance had not agreed as to the nature of Mr. Macoy's illness. Death occurred Tuesday night at 5350 Indiana avenue, the residence of Mr. Macoy's daughter, Mrs. Margaret Broderick.

Besides being the head of the National Printing and Engraving company, Mr. Macoy was president of the American Amusement association of New York, a corporation controlling popular melodramas, and his "hobby" was the game cock breeding yards which he maintained at Paw Paw, Mich.

WEDDING TO FOLLOW MISTRIAL?

Jury Disagrees as to Guilt of W. A. Miller, Whose Fiancee Was Represented in Court by Aunt.

After six hours of argument the jurors in the case of W. A. Miller, charged with stealing rugs valued at $2,000 from John M. Smyth & Co., came into Judge Pinckney's court late yesterday and said they could not agree. They were discharged and Miller was taken back to jail. The final vote stood nine for acquittal to three for conviction.

Miss Natalie Elbrecht, the stenographer said to be engaged to marry Miller, was represented in court by a woman said to be her aunt.

"We may arrange to have a wedding tomorrow," said Attorney Charles Erbstein, hopefully.

"It will all depend on what the girl says," said Miller.

TWELVE FEET FOR BILLBOARDS

Council Judiciary Committee Decides on This Height Limit—Hotel License Held to Be Legal.

In the face of objections by the painters and decorators' union and of the American Posting company, the council judiciary committee yesterday decided to recommend a limit of twelve feet in the height of signs and billboards.

Assistant Corporation Counsel Hoyne advised the committee that billboards on the tops of buildings could not be prohibited, though regulations might be made for their erection.

The committee was also advised by Mr. Hoyne that hotels might be licensed as long as the object was to suppress hotels of bad repute. He condemned several sections of the proposed ordinance as not tending wholly to this end.

Grover, vice president of the Evanston society, will give a lecture on "Father Pierre Francois Pinet, S. J., and His Mission of the Guardian Angel of Chicago, 1696-1699."

Letters to Unsuccessful Men

By the Author of Letters from a Self-Made Merchant to his Son

who can raise a million dollars at an hour's notice, but who can't raise a boy.

HIS SON, JACK

JONAS' BROTHER, WILLIAM who owns a bunch of cows on a mountain range, where they can't graze an hour in any direction without stepping on the mortgage.

Jonas writes to Brother William that in spite of the fact that Jack has been given everything that money can buy he has made a mess of his life.

Here follow some extracts from Brother Bill's letter in reply:

"Jack is your problem and you're welcome to it. You could solve it, but you won't, because Jack isn't wheat, or steel, or stocks, but just flesh and blood."

"If he were a million-dollar deal gone wrong, no subordinate could touch him. But when your son starts for hell in a canter, you send a hired man after him to beat him back with a club."

"Have you looked up the men who have taught Jack as carefully as those that you have hired to run your plants?"

"You expected him to associate with idlers and not be idle; to make friends among the foolish and not be a fool. That is a pretty big contract for one boy to fill, even with a father working overtime to help him."

"You and your special breed of business men are all alike. You begin in your corner groceries sanding the sugar for pennies; and you finish in Wall Street sanding the sugar for millions."

Emerson Hough, who wrote "The Mississippi Bubble," has paid his first visit to New England. My Discovery of New England is a delicious jeu d'esprit. A former Turkish subject tells refreshingly the True Truth about Harem Life.

YALE ANGERED BY CRIMSON DEEDS.

OFFICIALS CAUSE OF ROW.

Eli Accepts Harvard's Ultimatum Rather than Disappoint the Public.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 21.—[Special.]—Yale has accepted the humiliation of having a full set of officials for its big football game rammed down its throat by Harvard in the shape of an ultimatum that if Yale did not accept the list by a certain hour no game would be played on Saturday.

Such an experience has not been shared by any other university. The fact Yale chose to smother its own feelings rather than disappoint the public, which had planned to come to the game does not indicate the chagrin felt here.

One Yale football player tonight said that, from the feeling shown here over Harvard's ultimatum, he believed the Yale-Harvard game next Saturday would be the last between those universities for some time, if all athletic relations were not severed. He deplored the incident, but said such dictation to one university by another was unprecedented.

The stand was taken by Harvard at the conference in Springfield Monday night to pick officials for the game. Harvard submitted a list for Yale to accept. Hinckey and Rockwell balked, and offered Harvard a compromise list of more than a dozen names from which Harvard might pick three.

Harvard Declines Wrenn's Name.

Head Coach Reed of Harvard refused to do anything but play under the list they poked at Yale. Yale swallowed three of the four names, including Hackett of West Point for referee, Hall of Dartmouth for umpire, and Prof. Ayerault of Groton for head linesman.

Yale gagged at the name of Bill Edwards of Princeton and proposed to substitute the name of Evarts Wrenn of Chicago, a Harvard graduate, although the rules forbid a graduate of either college acting as an official. Harvard refused even this proposition. When the conference closed Harvard notified the Yale delegates they must accept its list by 1 o'clock today or there would be no game.

Head Coach Rockwell of Yale flatly denied that Yale insisted on the name of Paul Dashiell being accepted by Harvard as an umpire. "Dashiell's name was not mentioned during the conference," said he.

The Yale authorities tonight said: "If the tickets for the game had not been sold when Harvard gave her orders, I don't think there would be any game on Saturday."

Last Hard Work at Yale.

The Yale varsity had its hands full to beat the freshmen by a single touchdown in the last hard practice of the season. In the twenty minutes' practice the freshmen had the ball twice on the varsity's ten yard line, after holding the varsity on downs at the start of practice. The freshmen lost the ball on a forward pass the first time and were driven back on a penalty the second time. The varsity then took the ball at its twenty-five yard line and rushed it steadily down the field for the only score of the day.

The varsity backfield was shaken up, Bomar, Werneker, Dines, and Veeder playing. Knox, Morse, and Roome were on the side lines. Knox's shoulder was examined today, and he was notified the chances were slight of his playing. Bomar's stock has risen immensely for two days. Knox's position lies between him, Linn, and Roome.

Light rains have threatened to transform into deep mud the Yale gridiron, but it has been saved by a thick covering of straw.

All Confident at Harvard.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 21.—[Special.]—With rain falling in torrents 1,200 enthusiastic Harvard students marched to the Soldiers' field stadium today and gave the crimson varsity eleven royal encouragement preparatory to its departure for New Haven tomorrow morning.

It was the closing scene in the football campaign of 1906 at Cambridge, and Capt. Foster's men trotted out of the stadium at 5 o'clock with unlimited confidence in their ability to beat Yale, and with the best wishes and cheers of the entire student body.

There is absolutely no thought given to possible defeat. All Harvard wants a victory and the eleven will put forth every effort to live up to the confidence of the Harvard men in general. No kick will be coming should Yale turn the trick as everybody is satisfied with Coach Reid's work.

Another Shift at End.

In the final practice Coach Reid took the entire squad to the stadium and practiced for an hour on signals. Four notables were missing from the lineup—Capt. Foster, Starr, MacDonald, and Kersberg—but they were on hand to perfect themselves in the new signals to be used for the first time on Saturday.

Another shift at left end was made when the coaches thought it best to use MacDonald on Saturday instead of Orr, as the latter's foot is bothering him, and Coach Reid does not want to take any risks. Kersberg, Burr, Capt. Foster, and MacDonald are in prime shape, and will be identified with Harvard's lineup when the game opens.

Tomorrow morning the varsity squad will leave the Back Bay station at 8:50 in a special car attached to the Colonial express. The squad will be quartered at the Pequot clubhouse, Morris Cove, just outside of New Haven, and it will remain there until time for departure to Yale field on Saturday.

ILLINOIS MEN DISAPPOINTED.

McCornack's Elimination from Coaching Problem May Mean Eastern Man—Wind Handicaps Practice.

Urbana, Ill., Nov. 21.—[Special.]—Illinois rooters who had sprung the name of Walter McCornack as a prospective coach in case the graduate system was abandoned, were greatly disappointed at the refusal of the Chicagoan to allow his name to be considered. McCornack was the most prominent coach mentioned. If a change is made here the man who comes will have to have an established reputation and there is talk that the east will be scoured for a coach.

Illinois practiced tonight in a blustering wind for the final game of the season with Purdue on Saturday and the Illini did not perform any too well, in fact there is not much confidence in the orange and blue camp. The rooters will be grateful if the Illini finally win a game on Saturday. Until the Chicago game the Purdue contest had been counted as practically certain, but now it is expected to be nip and tuck.

There is talk that Capt. Carrithers, desperate at the situation, will make an effort to play at Lafayette, but there is hardly any truth in the story. The coaches hope to get Hodge in the back field, however. The backs are lamentably slow and need him.

BADGER CROSS COUNTRY TEAM.

Men Selected to Compete Here on Saturday—Move for Chicago-Wisconsin Game in 1907.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 21.—[Special.]—The cross country team which will represent Wisconsin at Chicago next Saturday is made up of Cooper, Hubbard, Blankenagle, Bertles, and Drew. Athletic Director Hutchins will accompany the team.

The Wisconsin athletic management takes a disinterested view of the report that Michigan will withdraw from western contests and in future enter the eastern arena. If the Wolverines abandon their western schedules, the Wisconsin situation, as far as "Big Nine" games are concerned, will be simplified greatly.

Advances have been made to secure a game with Chicago next year, and the athletic director has postponed negotiations with Michigan and Minnesota because it was not decided which one of these institutions the Badgers wished to take on. Wisconsin will not play more than two big games, and, with Michigan out, Minnesota and Chicago will be played.

St. Ignatius, 19; Hull House, 2.

The St. Ignatius indoor baseball team registered a decisive defeat over the Hull house team at Hull house yesterday by a score of 19 to 2. Roberts, the St. Ignatius pitcher, struck out nineteen batsmen and allowed only one hit. Score:

St. Ignatius	3	2	5	2	2	3	2—19	18	2
Hull house	0	0	1	0	0	1	0—2	1	3

SECRETS BARED BY WIND.

RENT IN MARSHALL FIELD FENCE BOTHERS COACH STAGG.

Maroon Teams Seek Seclusion of Women's Athletic Field for Practice to Avoid Possible Spies from Nebraska After Big Gate Is Blown Down—Groundkeeper Has a Narrow Escape from Injury—Speik Refutes McCarthy's Charges.

Director Stagg hied his maroons off to the women's athletic field yesterday in order to conceal the manipulations of his new plays. The big gate at Marshall field was blown down by the heavy wind, nearly crushing Groundkeeper James Tuohey, and although a guard was placed at the break, the maroon's chieftain was unwilling to take chances of giving away his hand either to Nebraskan emissaries or to agents of Wightman.

On the stamping ground of the feminine athlete the maroons reeled off the new plays with a high polish and made their tutor happy. The work of the 'varsity was fast and snappy and the forward passes up to the standard desired. The work, as on the preceding day, was light.

Much time was devoted to the maroon defense, which has been allowed to take care of itself for a week. The freshmen, using what Assistant Coach Fred Speik declared were Nebraska plays, went through their paces slowly, while the 'varsity met the attack in the usual stationary harmless way prior to a big game.

Regulars Treated Gently.

Danger of injury was guarded against and not a regular was allowed to rough it. The practice was mostly theoretical and the Cornhuskers may expect to see most of their tricks nipped in the bud if the maroons do as well on Saturday as they did yesterday.

Assistant Coach Speik, after reviewing the numerous charges reported to have been made by Dr. Charles McCarthy, who was one of the umpires in the Chicago-Illinois game, that Chicago's plays were borrowed from Nebraska, made the following reply:

"Mr. Stagg never has used any play or plays which are Nebraska's. He has enough brains of his own to formulate a good offense. To say he went to Minneapolis to see the Minnesota-Nebraska game and gained an inspiration which resulted in the plays shown on Marshall field last Saturday is the height of folly.

"Chicago did not use a single play against Illinois which it had not tried out in practice before Mr. Stagg saw Nebraska play at Minneapolis. As a matter of fact, the Chicago plays are unlike the Nebraska plays. Many of the latter were employed by Chicago two years ago, and this may have given rise to the statements which Dr. McCarthy is said to have made."

Date of Conference Meeting.

The date for the annual conference meeting to discuss athletic affairs of the "big nine" has been set for Dec. 1. Notice was received yesterday from President Page of Minnesota. The meeting will be held at the Annex.

Judgment undoubtedly will be passed on the new game of football and a decision reached on the new rules by the conference representatives, but nothing definite may be expected until the professors of the various universities get together later for a talkfest.

It is believed at the Midway, however, a set of recommendations will be made to the professors by the athletic representatives on Dec. 1. Just what steps will be taken is a matter of conjecture. The possibility of restoring the training table and the training quarters seems out of the question.

A longer schedule and a definite date for the commencement of practice in the fall for all the schools probably will be urged by Chicago. It is believed both these suggestions will be accepted. The possibility of a renewal of games on Thanksgiving day and the repeal of the freshman rule seems small.

CLARK GRIFFITH IN CHICAGO.

Manager of Highlanders Says His Team Will Win Next Year—Johnson Goes Hunting.

Manager Clark Griffith of the New York Highlanders reached Chicago yesterday on his way to winter quarters on his Montana ranch, and stopped off to visit friends here. Griffith has recovered from the shock of losing the American league pennant by a nose for the second time in three years and looks to be in much better health than when he was last in town with his team, making their final desperate fight with the White Sox.

"With the new material we have picked up we'll make them all take their medicine next season," said the Highlander, "and you can say that as strongly as you please, for I think we will have the best club in the business and in every department. Things can't break badly for us all the time. I never had any doubt how the world's series was coming out after the way the White Sox came back at the finish following the trimming we gave them here the last time."

President Johnson of the American league left last night for a week's deer hunting trip in Michigan, and Manager Griffith gave him a lot of advice about the best way to hang up a deer in the woods, based on alleged experiences with venison on the hoof in Montana.

Additional exhibition games have been booked for the Chicago Nationals by President Murphy, who is working to complete the spring training plans as soon as possible. Chance's men will play at Nashville on March 25, 26, and 27, and in Louisville on March 28 and 29.

President Rourke of the Omaha Western league club was in town and sought to secure the Nationals for a Sunday date in his town. No definite answer could be given him, as in order to get to Omaha it will be necessary to split up the team for the latter part of the trip. A plan is being worked out to divide the club at Memphis, sending one for a trip west of the Mississippi and keeping the other on this side of the big stream.

Drafts Pitcher for Toledo.

Toledo, O., Nov. 21.—[Special.]—Manager Armour today secured by draft Harry Lang, the crack pitcher of the New London (Conn.) team, for the Toledo club next season.

Atlanta Club Gets New Player.

Memphis, Tenn., Nov. 21.—[Special.]—Catcher Dan O'Leary of the Wichita Western league team last season was signed today by Manager Smith for the Atlanta Southern league club.

OAK PARK LOSES STAR HALF.

Brooks Sprains Ankle and Chances of Team Against Hyde Park High School Look Darker.

Oak Park's football chances against Hyde Park were darkened yesterday when Brooks, the left half, sprained an ankle while playing with an independent eleven. The back field of the suburban team before the injury was considered its weak spot. The lineup last night was shifted to try out different men for Brooks' place. Rogers, right end, is the most likely candidate for the position in the scrimmage.

Coach Omer gave the scrubs the ball and instructed the first team in blocking feats. He is building a defense to try to keep Hyde Park from getting within kicking distance of the goal, as he is afraid of Capt. Wilson's drop kicks.

Hyde Park worked out at Jackson park until dark. The south side boys are determined to win the last two games of the season, and the scrubs were called out and lined up against the regulars. The first team was able to score three touchdowns, and Wilson dropped a goal from the twenty-five yard line. Wilson had an hour's work at drop kicking.

The chance of a contest between North Division and Oak Park this season ended yesterday, when Manager Schillo of the North Division school said he would not consider the matter.

Austin, 39; Hoyne M. T., 3.

Austin [39].		Hoyne M. T. [3].
Erickson	Right forward	Ermeling
McWhorten	Center	Robinson
Grot	Right guard	Stenhouse

CLAIM ELECTION ILLEGAL

Officials Expect to Carry Out Schedule; Work on New Track Soon to Begin.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 21.—[Special.]—Unless the courts are more expeditious than usual the coming race meeting at Ascot park will come off on the scheduled dates, and the local authorities, if the plans of the racing men do not fail, will be powerless to interfere.

The city council yesterday certified to the result of the special election on the annexation of Ascot park and instructed the city clerk to prepare a certificate for filing with the secretary of state. If the certificate reaches Sacramento annexation will have been accomplished, but the Ascot park attorney has commenced suit to invalidate the election on the grounds that the envelope containing the returns from the Ascot park precinct was open when brought in for the official count.

Secure an Injunction.

Late this afternoon an application for a restraining order was presented to Judge Conrey, and that official issued an injunction restraining the city clerk from filing the official notice of annexation. The order is returnable on Friday, Nov. 30.

There are two principal grounds upon which it is claimed the annexation is illegal. One is that the territory annexed is agricultural and urban, and the proceedings taken by the city council is contrary to the state laws. The other ground is that reasonable notice of the election was not given. The law states thirty days' notice of an election must be given, whereas but twenty-nine days' notice was given.

Ready to Build New Track.

At the meeting of the directors of the Baldwin Racing association last night at Arrowhead Springs, where "Lucky" Baldwin has been rusticating for several weeks, the aged promoter and sportsman gave General Manager Creveling of the association instructions to have the dirt flying on the Arcadia racing plant and gigantic project next Monday.

The track will be a circular, regulation track, one mile around, and wider than most other courses. There also will be another track inside the main course seven-eighths of a mile in length, and inside of this will be the steeplechase course.

The track will be completed by March 17 surely and racing will start on that date if possible.

Nearly $450,000 worth of stock has been disposed of and the remaining $50,000 will be sold in small blocks to Los Angeles people who are interested in the venture. "Lucky" Baldwin owns more stock than any other individual, but still he has not a controlling interest.

LOGISTILLA WINS BY A HEAD.

Defeats Dusty Miller in a Stirring Finish at Oakland Track—Dolinda First in Race.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 21—[Special.]—In a stirring finish Logistilla beat Dusty Miller by a head in the $1,000 handicap at Emeryville today. Dusty Miller cut out the pace, but Logistilla, well ridden, made a whirlwind finish, and won in the last couple of strides. Dusty Miller is wonderfully improved over last year. The mile was run in the fast time of 1:38 4-5.

Jockey Ross made his appearance this afternoon, and was generously applauded when he won with Dolinda.

WEIGHTS FOR THE INAUGURAL.

Crowds Arriving at New Orleans for Opening of Winter Racing Season on Saturday.

New Orleans, La., Nov. 21.—[Special.]—Trains, belated by up-country floods, which have been arriving in the last two or three days, have brought in crowds from northern and eastern points to an extent which makes it looks as if the winter racing season, which begins here with the opening of the Fair grounds track on Saturday, will be the best ever known in this section.

Weights were announced today for the Inaugural handicap, the feature of Saturday's racing. The event is a sprinting affair at six furlongs, with $1,500 added, and it will be worth about $2,000 to the winner. James McCormick's Monet is given the post of honor with 122 pounds. BOUND TO COME, SAYS WINN.

A. T. A. President Looks for Consolidation of Two Rival Western Turf Bodies Ultimately.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 21.—[Special.]—While saying he could not state when the two big turf bodies were going to amalgamate, President Matt J. Winn of the American Turf association declared today that things looked harmonious. "The consolidation of the two governing bodies is sure to come, sooner or later," said he. "Such a matter takes time, because there are so many different and valuable interests involved. How to form the new body with so many interests at stake is the question, but I feel sure it will be brought about in time. Each side is getting better acquainted with the other and the best of feeling prevails all around. This thing can't be done in a minute, but it is bound to come." Further than this President Winn would not discuss the situation.

BALDWIN TRIMS BENNY YANGER.

BOUT GOES 15 ROUNDS.

Contest Hard Fought, Although Slow at Times—Winner Shows the Most Cleverness.

Chelsea, Mass., Nov. 21.—[Special.]—Benny Yanger of Chicago went down to defeat tonight at the Lincoln A. C. of this city. After fifteen rounds of hard fighting Referee Jack Sheehan awarded the decision to Matty Baldwin of Charlestown. The decision appeared to be popular.

Yanger himself acknowledged his defeat to Baldwin and accompanied it by a hearty handshake and congratulations.

Both men weighed in at 130 pounds and appeared to be fit for the battle. Baldwin, if anything, appeared to be the stronger. In Yanger's corner were Billy Rhodes of Kansas City, Jack Curley, his manager, and Jack McCloskey of Boston. Baldwin was seconded by George Dixon and Billy Gardner.

Both men started cautiously and in the first round Baldwin appeared to have slightly the better of it. The second and third rounds were slow and uninteresting, a case of hit and clinch, Yanger having a shade the better of the argument. Baldwin by that time had felt out Yanger and he started in to do the leading. His jabs to the face and swings to the body and head worried the Chicago man, who was steadily trying to bring over his right for a knockout.

Yanger played considerable havoc with Baldwin's stomach, and because many of the blows landed low he was cautioned by the referee to be careful, although it was plain he was not attempting to foul.

In every clinch Baldwin shot in hard right short arm blows to Yanger's kidneys and soon had them sore. The kidney blows probably helped to slow down the Chicago man. As the bout proceeded the admirers of Yanger, and there were many of them, were forced to acknowledge that he had gone back and that he was not the great little fighter of old. He was cautious, took too much time to measure his man, and when he did let go Baldwin was either not there or easily blocked the blows.

His punches lacked the steam he had been noted for and only in the ninth round did he show any of his ability to punish an opponent. A hard left swing to the stomach weakened Baldwin and Yanger went after his man with right and left swings, but he was too cautious and failed to score decisively.

OFFER TO HELP HARRY LEWIS.

Jeffries, Neil, and Britt Willing to Go on Bond of Fighter Charged with Murder.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Nov. 21.—[Special.]—Telegrams from Jim Jeffries, Frankie Neil, and Jimmy Britt were received by Harry Lewis, the pugilist charged with the murder of Mike Ward, tonight, in which each offered to go on his bond. Judge Stuart in the Superior court today fixed the bail at $10,000. Lewis had been unable to furnish this amount at 10 o'clock tonight.

Langford Beats Jackson.

Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 21.—[Special.]—"Young" Peter Jackson was no match for Sam Langford in tonight's fight. The latter had the better of every round and was awarded the decision in the fifteenth round. In the eighth round Jackson was knocked down with a right uppercut to the jaw and was groggy. Jackson was cautioned for foul work in the ninth round, having butted Langford in the stomach.

Herman Goes to Nevada.

"Kid" Herman, accompanied by his manager, Nate Lewis, and his trainer, Adam Ryan, left at 8 o'clock last night for Tonopah, Nev., where the "Kid" will prepare for his fight with Joe Gans, which takes place at that town on Jan. 1. A large number of Herman's admirers were at the depot to wish him luck. The "Kid" was chock full of confidence, and told his friends not to be surprised if he returned to Chicago lugging the lightweight championship honors.

BOGUS NOTE LAW INVOKED

STEEL BALL CO. CASE PROSECUTED UNDER SPECIAL STATUTE.

State's Attorney Healy Relies on Little Used Section of Criminal Code Providing Maximum Penalty of 20 Years for Uttering Paper Bearing Signatures of Parties Having No Existence—Stensland and Hering Before Grand Jury.

A hitherto little used section of the criminal code, providing for a greater punishment for the passing of fictitious paper than is provided for the crime of forgery, has been invoked by State's Attorney Healy in an effort to secure the indictment of officials of the Steel Ball company by the November grand jury. The company secured loans aggregating between $205,000 and $260,000 from the Milwaukee Avenue State bank.

Paul O. Stensland, former president of the bank, and Henry W. Hering, the convicted cashier, told the grand jury yesterday of the paper given in return for the loans to the Steel Ball company, of which William D. Tilden is president and C. L. Graham vice president.

Dig Up Little Known Section.

It was learned that the section of the law under consideration by the state's attorney is Section 107, Chapter 38, page 694, of the 1905 Revised Statutes. It provides a maximum penalty of twenty years, while the maximum penalty for forgery is fourteen years.

The section reads as follows:

> Whoever shall make, pass, utter, or publish, with an intention to defraud any other person, or with like intention shall attempt to pass, utter, or publish, or shall have in his possession with like intent to pass, utter, or publish, any fictitious bill, note, or check purporting to be the bill, note, or check, or other instrument of writing, for the payment of money or property of some bank, corporation, copartnership, or individual, when in fact there shall be no such bank, corporation, copartnership, or individual in existence, the said bill, note, check, or instrument of writing for the payment of money or property to be fictitious, shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not less than one nor more than twenty years.

Forced to It, Stensland Testifies.

The testimony of P. O. Stensland was to the effect that to keep the bank from falling he was forced to make loans to save the Steel Ball company from going to the wall, according to reports outside the grand jury room.

The case of Hagbarth Gregersen, who admitted embezzling money from the Milwaukee Avenue bank, is scheduled to be heard before Judge Kavanagh today. The state's attorney expects Gregersen to plead guilty.

CASHIER FOUND SHOT IN OFFICE

Employe of C., H. & D. Railroad at Indianapolis Killed—Suspect Under Arrest.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 21.—[Special.]—Wiley Armstrong, assistant cashier at the freighthouse of the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton railroad in this city, was shot and killed in his office at noon today. He was alone in charge at the time. Near the door was found a revolver with one chamber unexploded in the pistol.

Half an hour later Earl Wilson, known to the police as an all around crook, was arrested in the vicinity of the freighthouse after a hard fight. In his pocket were found several cartridges that fitted the revolver and were of the same pattern as those that remained unexploded in the pistol.

Officers tonight are not satisfied that a crime has been committed, but Wilson is being held pending further investigation.

MAYWOOD WANTS CLEAN CARS.

Women Pass Resolutions Asking for "Comfort" Ordinance in Village and Demand Its Enforcement.

The Maywood Woman's club passed resolutions yesterday condemning the traction conditions in that suburb at a meeting held at the residence of Mrs. Grace M. Yeager.

The resolutions set out that whereas the cars running through Maywood are dirty, cold, and unfit for the use of women and children; and that the traffic managers have thus far refused to give any relief either as to tracks or cars, it is the determination that the village board of Maywood pass a "comfort" ordinance, now in effect in Chicago, and insist that the provisions are carried out.

Each of the village board members was given a copy of the resolutions and a committee appointed to ask for action at the next meeting of the board.

The special offer we made yesterday of 350 fine $40 and $45 overcoats at $30 necessarily brought a splendid trade. Probably a third of the number was disposed of. And every buyer secured a bargain.

These garments at such a price so early in the season created talk. The offer is unusual. The only reason we can make it is that these garments were the season-end short lots of two big makers. They sold them to us at a loss to clean up.

The lot contains the smart new silver grays, plain blacks, oxfords and blues, made of fine fabrics and tailored in a high class manner. No other store will offer the same grades for less than $40 or $45.

Our special price $30.

WHEAT TREND IS LOWER.

Liverpool Fails to Give Full Response to Recent Firmness Here—Northwestern Situation Plays Strongly for Bulls—Bearish Sentiment More Prevalent—Not Much Change in the Coarser Cereals—Provisions Again Display Firmness.

The wheat market yesterday felt continued pressure from December longs. There was a bare suggestion of strength at the start, but it was not long before the longs apparently saw their way clear to chip off further clips from the old bearish block. Early strength was based largely on light receipts northwest. Duluth and Minneapolis again showing arrivals of grain materially under those of the corresponding day last year—510 cars, against 984 cars a year ago. The northwestern situation provided the bulk of bullish argument. Sentiment on the trading floor showed but little change. Throughout, however, bearish sentiment prevailed, despite the fact that transactions in the aggregate were narrowly confined.

Final quotations for wheat showed declines of ⅛@⅜c for December and ¼c for May.

Liverpool Not Fully Responsive.

Liverpool early failed to give full response to the upturn here the day before, prices there at the close being ⅛@¼d lower. The foreign weakness was largely responsible for further selling by local interests in the nearby option. The pressure of their selling was emphasized largely by continued liquidating of the December by scattered interests, including a number of the elevators, which recently have put weight on the market. A surprising feature, however, was the relative strength northwest, where important shorts were reported prominent on the covering side. Minneapolis throughout was stronger than Chicago, not only in the list of futures, but at the cash tables. The cash demand was strong, No. 1 northern in some instances being 4½@5c higher over the December. Millers in the southwest, principally at Omaha and Kansas City, were brisk bidders for high grade milling wheat.

Minneapolis Stocks Are Light.

Stocks of wheat at Minneapolis again showed a decrease compared to a good increase last year. Receipts at primary points were 862,000 bu compared to 1,496,000 bu last year. The official Argentine report made the area of wheat acreage about the same as last year at this time when a crop of 135,000,000 bu was suggested. There were numerous Argentine cables yesterday, some of a conflicting character. The general feeling, however, was that conditions as a whole were propitious. Seaboard clearances, wheat and flour, were considered light at the equivalent of 313,000 bu. Local cash receipts were light, although all suggestions of weakness found a quite active inquiry.

Corn Rules Firmer.

Unsettled weather conditions were the biggest factor in the hand of the corn bulls. The market throughout ranged within narrow limits. Prices at the close reflected the support of scattered shorts and of certain longs, showing ¼@⅜c higher for December and practically unchanged for the other options. The fact that weather conditions are not favorable to brisk movement from the country was considered from two angles—farmers are too busy with husking operations to ship freely, and shipments are being curtailed by inclement weather. Local receipts were 124 cars, of which 20 graded contract, against an estimate of 145. Liverpool closed unchanged. Clearances at the seaboard were 129,000 bu. New export business was light. Final prices for corn were 42¼@⅜c for December, 43½c for May, and 44⅛c for July.

Oats in Narrow Limits.

Throughout the session oats ranged within narrow limits and were devoid of notable features. The undertone was slightly stronger, chiefly on the strength of purchases of the May by northwestern people. Selling was scattered, not much coming from any one source. Local receipts were 118 cars, of which 21 graded standard, compared to an estimate of 122 cars. Business at the sample tables was light, scarcely enough being done to establish market quotations. Final quotations were 33⅝c for December, 35⅛@35¼c for May, and 33⅛c for July, gains of 1-16@⅛c.

Provisions Again Higher.

As in former sessions, provisions found their greatest support from continued light receipt of hogs at western points. In view of the light receipts offerings in the pits were scanty. Final quotations showed 15@17½c higher for pork, 5c up for the active futures in lard, and 2½@5c higher for ribs. Receipts at the principal western points were 67,700 hogs, compared to 93,100 last year. Shipments of meats hence were 3,524,000 lbs, compared to 3,120,000 lbs last year. Shipments of lard from Chicago were 1,878,000 lbs, compared to 1,349,000 lbs last year. Sentiment all over the floor was more bullish, largely because of the failure of the hog movement to reach the predicted early bearish estimate. There was no small degree of new investment buying, and this support, combined with buying by scattered packers and spurts of covering by scattered shorts, served as an additional stimulant to the general market.

Rye Dull and Firm.

Rye was dull and firm with light offerings. Receipts were 3 cars. No. 2 free on board sold at 68c; No. 4, 60c. December was 63c bid; May, 65c bid.

Barley was more active on the call. No. 3 and No. 4 sold at ½c advance. Feed was quoted 42@44c; malting, 44@55c; screenings, 35@43c. Receipts were 30 cars.

Flaxseed was 1½c higher nominally, but no business was transacted. No. 1 northwestern was quoted $1.21; No. 1, $1.13; November, $1.13. Receipts were 4 cars here, 47 cars at Minneapolis, and 150 cars at Duluth.

Timothy seed was firm, with offerings scarce. March was advanced 5c in the bid price. Cash lots were quoted $3.00@4.10; November, $4.25; December, $4.30 bid, and March $4.40 bid.

Clover seed was unchanged at $13.25 for contract and $8.00@12.85 for cash seed.

INTERESTING TRADE GOSSIP ON 'CHANGE.

Premiums for cash No. 1 northern at Minneapolis were the largest of any time so far this crop year yesterday. Millers were scrambling for all of the scanty offerings and paid as high as 5c over December for spot wheat—No. 1 northern—and 5½c over for No. 1 hard. The bulk of the receipts of No. 1 northern sold at 4½@5c over. Dealers at the northwestern market who have sold wheat to arrive are having considerable difficulty in filling sales, and heavy losses are being faced. Well posted elevator men say there is but little prospect in view for any material increase in the arrivals for some time to come, if at all. Duluth receipts have been larger relatively than those at Minneapolis, but even there the stocks are all practically sold and will be loaded out before the close of navigation, a record breaking final movement being predicted. In the local market there was but little business done. It was understood that December price in store was bid for a round lot of No. 2 red. This indicated that the buyer was willing to concede the storage for the intervening ten days prior to delivery day. There was no inspection worth mentioning on any of the roads yesterday on account of the rain. Cash corn and oats were unchanged, with moderate sales of each. Local sales were 45,000 bu wheat, including 25,000 bu No. 2 red at December price; 45,000 bu corn, 140,000 bu oats, and 15,000 bu rye. The seaboard reported export sales of 48,000 bu wheat, 32,000 bu corn, and 80,000 bu oats.

Members of the board are far from being of one mind relative to the proposed commission rule, which was posted for ballot yesterday. The principal cause of disagreement is in regard to the brokerage fees. The proposed new rule places the commission charges on practically the same basis as were in effect before the present rule went into effect, that is, ⅛c per bu on wheat, corn, and oats to outsiders, and 1-16c to members, but reduces the old brokerage fee from 62½c to 50c. Many of the smaller traders who earn their living as active traders in the pits claim that this is an injustice to them. They maintain if the rule is restored to the old basis that the old brokerage fee should be included. It is expected that a meeting of the members will be held shortly to discuss this and other features of the proposition, with a view to adopting any amendments necessary before the formal ballot, which will be taken in ten days. In the meantime it is likely that considerable opposition will develop to the proposed change, there being a respectable sized element who are satisfied with the higher commission, and who feel that conditions since the present rule went into effect have not been propitious for a fair trial of the rule. Commission men feel that on the old brokerage basis the trader gets too large a percentage of the commission.

Discussion of board of trade politics is dividing the attention of the traders with the proposed change in the commission rule. Friends of Walter Fitch, the present head of the association, say positively that he will not run for another term as president. This leaves the field open, but the only member who so far has been prominently mentioned for the position is John B. Adams, who was the opposition candidate to President Fitch a year ago. The big fight will probably be centered on the directory, however, and it is certain that the campaign against the elevator interests will be waged vigorously, and members will no doubt be nominated for directors who are not affiliated with the warehouse element. Circulars attacking the so-called elevator combine, quoting the words of a former president, have been circulated and have created considerable comment.

The wheat trade furnished few features of interest yesterday. There was a little scattered liquidation by holders of December and some changing of December to May at 5¼c difference by Shearson-Hammill. Wrenn bought a little May early, and Updike continued on the buying side to moderate extent. Logan-Bryan and J. Rosenbaum Grain bought December corn, and Updike and Bartlett-Frazier sold May. Raymond and Buckley sold oats; buying was scattered. January lard was taken by Raymond, and A. S. White bought ribs. Schwartz was about the best seller, the trade crediting it to John Cudahy.

The Erie Basin stores at Brooklyn, N. Y., which have at the present time 492,000 bu No. 2 red and 151,000 bu other wheat, have notified the produce exchange that their rates of storage after Dec. 1 will be ⅜c per bu every ten days instead of ¼c, as now. The inference is that it costs too much to handle the wheat and that the increase was a necessary one.

C. C. Dalrymple, the big wheat farmer of North Dakota, was in Minneapolis yesterday, and said that he did believe there was 40 per cent of the crop of North Dakota in the farmers' hands at the present time. Other estimates made by elevator concerns operating in northern Dakota claim that 75 per cent of the wheat has been marketed.

Minneapolis and Duluth had 510 cars yesterday, compared to 984 the corresponding day last year. Winnipeg received 85 cars, against 418 a year ago. The total at the three points was 595, against 1,402 cars a year ago. Total primary receipts in this country were 862,000 bu, against 1,499,000 a year ago.

W. H. Martin has been suspended from the board of trade by the directors because of his failure to meet his obligations to other members. Martin will be remembered as having run a spectacular deal in corn some years ago. For some years he has been in New York.

Broomhall cabled that the Adelaide Register, a leading paper of South Wales, estimated the wheat crop of that state at 19,700,000 bu, compared to 20,143,000 bu as officially estimated last year, and 12,023,000 bu in 1904.

One of the largest packers here believes that there has been a saving already this year of 5 to 6 per cent in the amount of corn fed, owing to the exceptionally mild weather and good pasturage.

Estimated receipts for today are: Wheat, 39 cars; corn, 147 cars; oats, 139 cars; barley, 40 cars; hogs, 27,000.

Sales on the call were: Corn—5,000 bu No. 3 yellow, January shipment, at 41¼c, Missouri river billing.

William J. Thayer has applied for membership on the board of trade.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK MARKET.

Notwithstanding the rain of yesterday the live stock market was firm from start to close. Choice steers were in demand and the buying was brisk between showers. Prices were steady and the prime stuff brought $7.00. In one or two cases even this figure was eclipsed. Hogs sold readily at good prices. Advances of from 5c to 10c over the levels of the previous day were made in the large majority of the sales. The trade in sheep was fair, but choice offerings were not plentiful. The receipts were: Cattle, 22,000; hogs, 27,000; sheep, 25,000.

CONSIDERATION FOR 20 YEAR LEASE IN JACKSON BOULEVARD.

Mills Novelty Company Will Occupy Eight Story Structure on Jan. 1—David M. Cummings Applies for Registration of 500 Lots in Iron Workers' Addition to South Chicago—Authorization of Increase in Pullman Stock Filed.

The Mills Novelty company has rented from Isaac F. Rubel and A. E. Wiesbaum the 8 story building at the northeast corner of West Jackson boulevard and Green street for twenty years at an aggregate rent of $666,000, or $33,300 a year. The building fronts 126 feet on Jackson boulevard and 196 on Green street. The new tenants will move in Jan. 1.

David M. Cummings has made application for the registration of title to 500 lots in Iron Workers' addition to South Chicago under the Torrens system. The lots are between One Hundred and Sixth street and One Hundred and Ninth street and Avenue I and Avenue M. The approximate value is given at $150,000. The advantages of the Torrens system of land title registration are pretty forcibly illustrated in this instance. The entire cost of registration is $174, a saving of 90 per cent over the old system.

Typewriter Company's Rent.

The rent which the Oliver Typewriter company will pay to Lyman, Lowell & Lyman for the five story building to be erected by the latter and occupied by the former was partly disclosed yesterday when the lease was filed for record. The land is valued at $180,000 and the rent is to be 5 per cent on this amount and the cost of the building, as certified by Holabird & Roche. The land is 110x38.11 feet.

Two large tracts of land at South Chicago have been conveyed by the Chicago Title and Trust company, receiver, to Louis Rathje. The land includes the northeast corner of Avenue J and One Hundred and Fourth street, 575x125 feet, and the northwest corner of Avenue J and One Hundred and Fifth street, 250x125 feet. The consideration was $5,000.

Two Leases with Option to Buy.

The Marshall and Huschart Machinery company, now at 62-64 South Canal street, has leased two pieces of west side property. From John M. Smyth it has leased 80-84 South Jefferson street, 80x79½, for ninety-nine years at an annual rent of $2,400, with an option to purchase within ten years at a valuation of $45,000, and from J. J. Sherman, 68 to 72 West Madison street, 53½x189 feet, for a like period at a rent of $2,500 yearly.

IN THE BOSTON MONEY MARKET.

BOSTON, Mass., Nov. 21.—[Special.]—Copper shares were firm, though dull, in today's trading. Low priced stocks continued the center of interest. Shannon and Tecumseh made fractional gains on heavy trading. Arcadian was weak all day, though buying had been good. Calumet and Arizona rose to 160, a new high record. Industrials and railroads were strong. Call loans, 6@7 per cent. Time loans, collateral, 6@7 per cent; time loans, mercantile paper, 6@6½ per cent. Clearing house loans, 6 per cent.

IN FOREIGN MONEY MARKET.

LONDON, Nov. 21.—The demand for money in the market today was fairly good. Supplies were limited. Rates were higher. Discounts were affected by the South African gold requirements.

The stock exchange was affected by dear money fears. Quotations in most instances declined on realizations, but at the close prices were steadier.

Foreigners were dull. Americans opened easy in response to the irregular tone of Wall street at the close last night, but about noon the parity level was exceeded and the market ruled steady. Canadian Pacific, Union Pacific, and Southern Pacific led the recovery. The improvement was not maintained during the afternoon owing to moderate New York selling, but a slight hardening of prices came near the close, which was steady, though at a lower level.

PARIS, Nov. 21.—Prices on the bourse today were unsteady. Russian imperial 4s closed at 75.50 and Russian bonds of 1904 at 492.

The Value of Charcoal

Few People Know How Useful it is in Preserving Health and Beauty.

Costs Nothing to Try.

Nearly everybody knows that charcoal is the safest and most efficient disinfectant and purifier in nature, but few realize its value when taken into the human system for the same cleansing purpose.

Charcoal is a remedy that the more you take of it the better; it is not a drug at all, but simply absorbs the gases and impurities always present in the stomach and intestines and carries them out of the system.

Charcoal sweetens the breath after smoking, drinking, or after eating onions and other odorous vegetables.

Charcoal effectually clears and improves the complexion, it whitens the teeth and further acts as a natural and eminently safe cathartic.

It absorbs the injurious gases which collect in the stomach and bowels; it disinfects the mouth and throat from the poison of catarrh.

All druggists sell charcoal in one form or another, but probably the best charcoal and the most for the money is in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges; they are composed of the finest powdered Willow charcoal, and other harmless antiseptics in tablet form or rather in the form of large, pleasant tasting lozenges, the charcoal being mixed with honey.

The daily use of these lozenges will soon tell in a much improved condition of the general health, better complexion, sweeter breath, and purer blood, and the beauty of it is, that no possible harm can result from their continued use, but, on the contrary, great benefit.

A Buffalo physician, in speaking of the benefits of charcoal, says: "I advise Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges to all patients suffering from gas in the stomach and bowels, and to clear the complexion and purify the breath, mouth, and throat; I also believe the liver is greatly benefited by the daily use of them; they cost but twenty-five cents a box at drug stores, and although in some sense a patent preparation, yet I believe I get more and better charcoal in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges than in any of the ordinary charcoal tablets."

Constipation and Its Causes

A Well-Known Remedy

Constipation is one of man's worst enemies, and half of the bodily ills we suffer are from a result thereof. Nature meant that the bowels should be kept free. Of course, we ourselves are to a large extent responsible for our troubles by failure to observe nature's laws. Our habits are irregular, we eat improper food with undue haste, and when we find our bowels irregular, have resort to powerful drugs and medicines, which are so drastic in their action that, although they may purge at first, they damage the tender lining of the stomach and bowels so as to leave a worse condition than before. And why take such injurious and expensive drugs when we can obtain from any druggist, much cheaper, a bottle of Nature's own remedy—the famous Mineral Laxative Water—HUNYADI JANOS—bottled at the springs in Hungary; in use nearly half a century? One dose, ½ a tumblerful, drunk on arising in the morning (slightly warmed for best results), will bring relief within an hour—gentle, natural and thorough—without any griping or purging or other bad effects. A whole bottle costs but a trifle. Keep one always on hand. At all druggists.

MONEY TO BECOME EASIER

LOCAL RATES NOT YET LOWER, BUT SIGNS POINT THAT WAY.

Interior Demand for Currency Slackens—North Shore Electric Reports Increased Earnings for Year—Official of Sears, Roebuck & Co. Predicts an Early Dividend on Common Stock—Chicago Edison Dealt In at 143—Quiet in the Bond Department.

While local interest rates are not quotably lower, the situation continues to shape itself toward ease. The outflow of currency is not in such volume as during the month of October. The interior demand has slackened. In consequence New York exchange at Chicago is at a premium and the local banks accustomed to lend in Wall street are using that avenue largely for employment of surplus funds. Should rates grow easier there the situation here would change. So long, however, as call funds range from 6 to 10 per cent in Wall street, the local banks will be able to hold pretty firmly to the 6 per cent minimum which they have in a way established.

North Shore Electric.

The annual report of the North Shore Electric company for the fiscal year ended Sept. 30, 1906, shows net earnings from operation of $188,306, compared with $131,676 for the previous fiscal year. Interest charges for 1906 were $95,392, leaving a surplus for the year of $92,914, an amount almost sufficient to pay a second time the interest on the outstanding bond issue.

The North Shore Electric owns and operates seven modern generating plants located at Waukegan, Highland Park, Evanston, Maywood, Blue Island, Harvey, and Chicago Heights. It is not improbable that in the event of the Chicago Edison-Subway deal going through the plants of the North Shore Electric will be later taken into consideration. They serve the territory immediately outside the field of the Chicago Edison company, and logically belong under the same management. The statement of earnings and balance sheet for the fiscal year ended Sept. 30 follows:

Copper Production.

The production of copper in the United States in 1905, according to the bulletin just issued by the geological survey, exceeded 901,000,000 pounds. During the same year there was an extraordinary home consumption; an export trade nearly up to the record, and remunerative prices. The three leading regions of production are Butte, Mont., Arizona, and the Lake Superior region. In Idaho and Utah there was a marked increase, while in California and Tennessee there was a decrease. The following table shows the production in pounds by states or sections in 1904 and 1905:

Edison-Subway Deal.

According to the Dow-Jones News agency, Subway interests have altered their plan of offering for stock of the Chicago Edison company a guarantee of 9 per cent in dividends. The same result, however, is sought to be accomplished through offering 200 for Chicago Edison stock in 4½ per cent bonds. This would be equivalent to 9 per cent on the present capital stock issue. To give 200 per cent in 4½ per cent bonds is equivalent to guaranteeing that the Chicago Edison company will earn that much on the present capital. Members of the city council objected to the idea of paying 9 per cent on the theory that the city might conclude that rate to be too high. The prospective offers therefore of 200 in 4½ per cent bonds is not relieved from the uncertainty which may attend a possible reduction in profits of the Chicago Edison company. There is being offered in a different form something that the city council committee questioned. This is said, however, on the theory that the News agency's statement is correct. It is probably erroneous as to the amount a share to be offered.

It was also announced that a blanket mortgage of $100,000,000 was in contemplation to be spread over not only the Edison, if acquired, but all other Subway holdings.

Dividends Declared.

The General Chemical company has declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1½ per cent on its preferred stock, payable Jan. 2. Books close Dec. 22, reopen Jan. 3.

General Financial News.

Since last Friday the New York subtreasury has lost $184,000 to the banks.

It is announced in Wall street that it would be easy to attach too much importance to the reports concerning the purchase of the Mexican Central by the Mexican government. Even if it were true that such action is contemplated, it is asserted it could hardly be considered a bull argument for the minority shareholders.

All question as to whether F. Augustus Heinze intends to acquire the Ohio Copper company in the interests of the United Copper company has been settled since he has made the second payment on the purchase of 667,000 shares. Final payment is due one month hence.

Announcement is made that the Canadian Northern railroad company intends to enter Ontario as a competitor of the Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific. It proposes also to open up new districts and practically gridiron the province with it is system.

Chicago Telephone.

Directors of the Chicago Telephone company will meet two weeks hence and it is announced the usual dividend of 2½ per cent will be declared. The management will adhere to the policy of paying the current dividend rate until its earnings have been changed by either a new franchise or the absence of one with the city.

Sears-Roebuck Earnings.

An official of Sears-Roebuck & Co. is quoted as saying:

"Gross earnings this year will be considerably more than $54,000,000, and the increase over last year will be more than 33 1-3 per cent. Profits have not increased in such a ratio during the year, but they are entirely satisfactory. Enough will be earned over and above dividends on the preferred stock to provide a surplus that will permit a payment of dividends on the common stock within a few months."

People's Gas.

There was some talk locally of an increased dividend rate on the People's Gas stock to 6 per cent.

It is understood from first hand that no increase in the dividend rate of the company is contemplated. It pays 5 per cent, is earning 6½, and has therefore at present a margin of but 1½ points over dividend requirements. The authoritative statement is that the company hopes to increase its surplus during the remaining four years of the 85 cent gas contract with the city.

Chicago Stocks.

In the local stock market there was further selling of United Boxboard issues, but the price held extremely well, varying but ¼ throughout the session. Total sales were 4,885 shares.

In the bond department business was quiet. The only transactions were in Swift & Co. 5s at 102. Swift & Co. stock, it may be added, was moderately active, and the price was lower, closing at 112½.

MONEY HIGH; STOCKS DROP

ADVANCE IN CALL LOAN RATE TO 10 PER CENT WEAKENING.

[BY A SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—[Special.]—The variance of the money market today resulted in fluctuations on the New York stock exchange. The rate for call loans went to 10 per cent in the first hour and stocks responded with a downward movement. After that the market was spotty.

The action of the money market was puzzling. The rise of the two previous days was in spite of factors supposed to be working for the replenishment of loanable funds. Today's easing seemed inconsistent with the cessation of some of yesterday's favoring influences.

The recent upward course of New York exchange at Chicago was reversed today. Exchange was quoted there at 10c premium, compared with 20c yesterday.

Foreign money markets were disturbed by a new demand for gold from Brazil, but the $3,500,000 withdrawn was partly compensated for by the gold secured in the London market and by more than $1,000,000 received from Paris.

Illinois Central relapsed from yesterday's violent advance. St. Paul, United States Steel, Amalgamated Copper, and some other prominent favorites were backward.

Money on call strong, 4@10 per cent; ruling rate, 8 per cent; closing bid, 4 per cent; offered at 4. Time loans, strong; sixty days, 7½ per cent; ninety days, 7@7½ per cent; six months, 6@6½ per cent. Prime mercantile paper, 6@6½ per cent. Sterling exchange steady, with actual business in bankers' bills at 485.70@485.75 for demand, and at 480.50@480.55 for sixty day bills. Posted rates, 481½@486½. Commercial bills, 480@480¼. Bar silver, 71¼. Mexican dollars, 55¼. Government bonds easy; railroad bonds irregular.

THE WINNE MORTGAGE CO.
OF WICHITA, KANSAS.
PAID UP CAPITAL, $250,000.00.
Offers at Par and Accrued Interest, Payable on Demand,
5% SERIES "D"
LAND CREDIT BONDS
Denominations, $50, $100, $200, $250, $300, $500, $1,000, $2,500, $5,000 and $10,000.
This Bond, plus accrued interest, will be cashed at any time upon presentation.

¶These bonds are the direct obligations of the Company, to the payment of which its capital and credit are pledged, and are secured by deposit with the Land Credit Trust Co. of Wichita, Kansas, Trustee, of first mortgages on improved farms worth from two and one-half to twenty times the amount loaned thereon of equal amount. Behind every dollar of the bond is a dollar of first mortgage, and behind this $250,000.00 paid up capital.

¶The mortgage investments of the company are all made upon improved farms in the section of Kansas and Oklahoma contiguous to its Home Office, where there is sufficient rainfall to produce crops, and where the officers and examiners have acquired by experience a personal knowledge of the value of the land. No mortgage loan is made without a personal examination of the security offered, by a salaried examiner, who has no interest whatever in the outcome of the loan.

¶The business of this company was established in 1889. Since that time up to Oct. 1st, 1906, it has negotiated $5,348,751.14 in Farm Loans. No investor ever lost a dollar, either principal or interest, nor do they hold a foot of land acquired in foreclosure.

¶Any holder of a Land Credit Bond can inspect the securities deposited with the Trustee at any time and see that for every dollar of bonds there is a dollar of first farm mortgage behind it, besides a paid up capital of $250,000.

¶We will help you make your idle money work. You can have your money back any time you want it. Come in and see us or write us and we will write you.

THE one great question that interests nearly every man and every woman is the question of providing for a comfortable old age.

Saving money is the first requisite, but the great problem is to put this money to work so it will earn the maximum interest—and be safe.

Putting money in a savings bank and allowing it to idle away its time and earn 3% per annum is one road to riches, but a man must put away an immense sum and live a great many years before the interest would enable him to live on it without working.

6% mortgages are all right, but they are only twice as good as the 3% savings bank, and neither of them will make a man rich very fast.

We are offering an investment that should pay from 75 to 150%, provided the man buys our stock at its present price, which is 25c per share, par value of shares $1.00, non-forfeitable and non-assessable.

In making a statement of this kind we are fully aware that we are apt to be classed with the "get-rich-quick" schemers who make rash promises to those who are asked to buy their stocks, but we don't belong in that class. Will you investigate this proposition?

A Dollar Book at 25c

A Sale of 6,000 Copies of "Zauberlinda"

This is the book, "Zauberlinda," which we may truthfully say enjoyed a most extraordinary sale last December—over 14,000 copies in less than six weeks' time. This is a remarkable number of copies of one book to be sold in so short a period. It is easily understood, however, when we tell you that the book cannot be made to sell at a profit for less than a dollar a copy. At the time of our great sale last year we told you in detail how this large number of copies of "Zauberlinda" came to us at a figure that enables us to sell them at one-quarter of their real value. For this sale we have only 6,000 copies, all that are left of the original lot. This is less than half the number that were sold last year and in all probability they will be quickly disposed of at our sale price of, each, 25c.

What the Book Is — Zauberlinda, the Wise Witch, by Eva Katherine Gibson, is a fairy tale of the Black Hills of Dakota. The author, in the course of her book, reveals the wonders of nature, and very entertainingly introduces her readers, both young and old, to many of the creatures of the out-door world. We print here the author's introduction, which we think is the best description we can give of the book:

> "This Fairy Tale, the scenes of which are laid in the Northwest, is an attempt to unite the rich Legend of Older Lands with the Fact and Fancy of the New World. An opportunity for this has been offered by the Mystery and Romances associated with the Black Hills in the imagination of the Dakota Indians. It is hoped that the story may stimulate an interest in the Wonders of Nature, and engender love and sympathy for those of Her creatures who cannot speak for themselves. If the reader finds in this narrative of Annie's Wanderings the pleasure found by the author in recording them, the story will have fulfilled its purpose. We believe the book may safely be placed in the hands of all children between the ages 7 and 97."

The book is beautifully printed in large, easily read type on an excellent quality of book paper. It is most profusely illustrated throughout by Miss Mabel Tibbets, whose full-page pictures and illustrations in varying tints, running through and around every page in the book, produce a very pretty setting for this charming story. The book is a small quarto in size, 8½x6¾ inches, bound in cloth, with orange colored edges.

"Zauberlinda" will make a splendid gift book for Sunday School classes and schools. There is no restriction on the quantity we will sell to one person; you may buy one copy of one hundred, but the price will be the same in any quantity, namely, each, 25c.

Mandel Brothers

DAY after day the sales increase, and scores of new models arrive to take the place of those which are vanishing so rapidly. Never such selling and such intense enthusiasm! We seem scarcely able to keep pace with the truly remarkable demand, despite the fact that our very extensive buying and selling organizations are both straining every nerve. Second floor.

Today we illustrate four particularly charming models—each a marked example of the highest art in coat creation. But each is simply a hint of the many other exquisite ideas in both the loose and fitted models. In addition, we show many novel creations in white and evening colors, beautifully trimmed and handsomely lined. Four thousand charming coats, every one a $35 and $40 value.
